Who is Going to Win that $500 Piano and Piano Player,---FREE?

We have given out over 5,000 votes already. But only a very small percentage of these votes have been cast. We want the ladies to come out and declare themselves. To get them to do this we will make the following offer:

Any lady who will bring us the names of seven other ladies whom she has asked to assist her in securing the piano will be given free 500 votes. No lady will be given more than 500 votes free under any circumstance.

And these free votes are given simply to get the ladies to enter the contest early and not hold their votes until the last.

If you haven't seen this beautiful piano step into Thompson's where it is on exhibition. Mr. Thompson will be glad to tell you all about it.

Every 10c cash purchase either at our store or at Thompson's entitles you to one vote.

Be sure to get your votes with every cash purchase.

Votes may be deposited either at our store or at Thompson's.

proved a great success. More than 200 tickets were sold, and a big house enjoyed the excellent program provided by the up-to-date place of entertainment.

Thursday Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Baird returned from a week's auto trip to Portland. Together with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Masters and E. C. Baird they crossed the Cascades by the Santiam route, thence going to Salem and Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Scott left last week. Mr. Scott's work as resident engineer of the Oregon Trunk being completed. The final engineering, accompanying the laying of rails, will be conducted by the maintenance department of the railroad.

G. P. Brookings, Mrs. Horace Brookings and Miss Alice Brookings of Rolyat were Bend visitors last week. They left home Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock and arrived here in time for dinner Wednesday, making a fast drive in a spring wagon.

W. H. Hawley of Seattle has bought two lots in Riverside Addition and will erect a bungalow on them, making his home here. Ray Monesmith of Wenatchee, Wash., has also bought a lot in Riverside. Both sales were made by the Eastes & Bean Realty Co.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hill, after spending several days here last week, have gone to La Pine, near which they will make their home. Mr. Hill has been office assistant to Manager C. C. Chapman of the Portland Commercial Club, but was obliged to give up the position on account of ill health.

Through an oversight mention of H. E. Allen's lawn was omitted from the article concerning Bend's lawns published last week. Mr. Allen has one of the most beautiful and best kept lawns in town. S. J. Spencer is another citizen who has given much attention to his lawn and secured good results.

Theo Magnus, P. H. Blossom, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nanney, Miss Rachel Hallingby, Mrs. J. W. Taggart and Mrs. Myrtle Bradford left Monday by auto for Crater Lake. The party, except Mrs. Taggart, Mr. Blossom and Mr. and Mrs. Nanney, will go on to Medford and Portland, the others returning to Bend today or tomorrow.

A party of Portland people who have been making a tour of Southern Oregon were guests Saturday night at Hotel Bend, leaving for home early Sunday by the Santiam route, in their auto. Those on the trip were C. S. Jackson, publisher of the Oregon Journal, and wife, F. C. and P. L. Jackson, Misses Myrtle Lamar and Helen Whitney and Charles Hoyt and wife.

STAYS BY HOMESTEAD

Enthusiastic Hampton Man Brings Samples Far on Foot.

Victor Schreder, the Hampton country homesteader who has had much success with his new ranch, came to Bend Saturday on his way to Tacoma and Walla Walla, where he intends to close up his affairs before returning to this section permanently.

Indicating his interest in properly exploiting the homestead country Mr. Schreder, who walked in from Millican, brought with him splendid samples of oats, rye and wheat, all raised on his dry land acreage, which this season was put under cultivation for the first time. The specimens were left with the Bend Commercial Club.

WARNING TO HUNTERS

Season Will Be Declared Closed Following Carelessness With Fire

From the office of the State Forester at Salem a warning to hunters has been issued that the Governor will declare the hunting season closed if hunters are careless with fire. The forest fire law which went into effect Feb. 24 gives the state executive power to declare a closed season for the hunting of birds or wild animals of any kind.

Sportsmen, learning this, will doubtless be more careful than ever with camp fires and in dropping matches or lighted cigarettes and cigars in the forests.

NEARLY LOST HORSE.

With a halter rope tied to its head and one front foot, a horse belonging to C. H. Dusenbery was nearly drowned in the Deschutes at Robinson's bridge a few days ago.

Six times the animal swam across the stream, finally being swept against some driftwood. From this position he was rescued by Clyde Helsley, who was fishing with Mr. Dusenbery. He swam to the horse, cut the rope and the exhausted animal got safely out of the cold water.

GETS WINTER GOODS.

Last week the R. M. Smith Clothing Company received a big shipment of winter clothing, which, added to their present large stock of summer and fall wear, will make their store one of the most fully equipped in Central Oregon. Mr. Smith says he will have a very extensive assortment of winter goods this year, when all his shipments have been received.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Beginning Aug. 20th, a series of evangelistic meetings will be held in the Bend Baptist church, Rev. J. M. Hupp of Kettle Falls, Wash., conducting them. Mr. Hupp is not a professional revivalist but an earnest, consecrated pastor who gives a part of his time to this special work because the success which has attended his efforts has created a demand for his services among those who know him. We invite the co-operation of all Christians in this campaign.

C. M. CLINE, Acting Pastor.
