IMPERTINENT QUESTION NO. 8

Does almost one inch of rainfall in a few hours in early August sound much like a "semi arid" country?

According to reports received from other towns on the west side of the county there seems to be a probability that the plan of sending representatives from this territory to appear before the board of tax equalization in October will be put in operation. This year there has been not a little complaint to the effect that the west side is being forced to bear an unjust portion of the county taxes. In an effort to remedy this alleged partiality it is proposed that the west siders get together and place their contentions before the board. The idea is an excellent one. It cannot but result in a better understanding all around of the county's tax situation—a matter which at present seems to be somewhat unsatisfactory.

An honest man is said to be one whose misdeeds are not discovered; a fact which almost-ex Representative Lafferty probably knows, to his sorrow. The trouble with Lafferty is that he was caught red handed, apparently both in deed and subsequent unsuccessful attempt to lie out of the consequences. While doubtless many as bad as the Oregon congressman will remain in Washington, undiscovered in their backsliding, the fact remains that Lafferty's political career seems to have reached a dismal finish.

The Portland Oregonian, with considerable ingenuity, is endeavoring to tie a tin can to the political tail of Woodrow Wilson, to scare off votes. The can in question is that historic campaign remnant, Nebraska's Peerless One. But Bryan is too dead an issue to be able to keep near enough to a live and ably enterprising gentleman of Wilson's calibre and ability to be in a position to damage his presidential chances, despite mental sweating of such Taftonian organs as the Portland paper.

The big rain Monday, as usual, turned the south end of Wall Street into a duck pond. During several winter months it will remain more or less submerged, in all probability, just as it did last year, while folks who live in the Deschutes district and in Park Addition either have to take out licenses as deep sea pilots or make long detours to get home. Might it not be well to arrange to drain this pond site off, down California Street?

Before the useless and wasteful task of raising the battleship Maine is entirely completed and all bills are paid doubtless the tax payers of this patriotic land will wish to substitute the phrase "Forget the Maine" for the newspaper battle cry of Spanish War times.

FORMER EDITOR LIKES BEND.
George R. Stephens of Oklahoma City, formerly a newspaper publisher of the Middle West, arrived in Bend last week to look over investment opportunities. He has traveled extensively the last two years, having been in every State in the Union except two. He said he was very favorably impressed with Bend and would probably purchase both business and residence property here.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Smith and their son Lawrence returned Saturday from a long auto trip, having visited Willamette Valley points and Portland. Mrs. Smith went to Bellingham on a visit, while Mr. Smith spent Golden Potlatch week at Seattle.

Hope.

Hope is anticipation. It is an inherent feeling in mankind and a divine provision for the sustentation of interest in life. Hope is a chord which strikes pleasant desires for the future; it is every one's sunshine, the rainbow in the storm, the silver lining to the present cloud, a star set in the firmament of our lives, to brighten, lighten and cheer the way and differs in magnitude and brightness according to occasion. Hope is an antidote of misery, a cordial for the desponding and a chain with many links.—Nellie E. Mate.

Patience.

There's no music in a "rest," that I know of, but there's the jinking of music in it. And people are always missing that part of the life melody, always talking of perseverance and courage and fortitude, but patience is the finest and worthiest part of fortitude, and the rarest too.—Ruskin.

Doing It Right.

"But, my dear, if I buy you this gown it will put me $50 in debt." "Only $50? If you are going to debt why not go in like a gentleman and make it a hundred?"—Fliegende Blatt.

The White Woman's Burden.
Of course men have a lot of small worries, but they don't have to carry a chamois skin and a little scratch around with them wherever they go.—Galveston News.

I've never any pity for conceited people, because they carry their comfort about with them.—George Eliot.

The firm of Young and Clark has been disbanded, F. B. Clark buying out George S. Young. Mr. Clark goes to Prineville. Mr. Young will remain in the same office, on Oregon Street, where he will conduct the business of civil and mining engineer and surveyor.

J. B. Wimer of Tumalo, as agent for the Oregon, Washington & Idaho Finance Co., was fined $50 in Justice Orcutt's court last Wednesday for failing to maintain fish screens in the company's irrigation canals. The complaint of no fish ladders at the dam was dismissed.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

PARTS WELL TAKEN

(Prineville Journal)

"Among the Breakers" by Bend local talent last Thursday evening did not draw as good a house as the play deserved. It was a good show from start to finish. Every part was well taken and two or three in the cast would rank well as professionals. At any other time but August, when so many are out of town, the play would pack a house.

PLEASED REDMOND PEOPLE

(Redmond Spokesman)

The two plays presented here last week by the Bend Dramatic Co. drew good houses and were well received by the people. Friday evening "Among the Breakers" was played and won such favorable comment that the company decided to remain over and give another production Saturday night. All the characters in the above play were well sustained and to particularize and elaborate any individual in the cast would be an injustice. "Down in Dixie" was presented Saturday night and was as ably handled as the play of the previous evening, and the audience was well pleased.

CREDITABLE PERFORMANCE.

(Prineville Review)

"Among the Breakers," a two-act comedy drama given by a Bend company last Thursday evening, was a very creditable performance and the only regrettable feature about the affair was the phenomenally small house. This unpleasant feature was due to a number of causes, chief of which was the absence of many young men engaged in haying, and putting the seat prices too high.
