CENTRAL OREGON MAILS.

Mail service in Central Oregon has long been the acme of irregularity and uncertainty, but it seems to be getting even worse. Where the trouble is or who is to blame, it would probably take several Sherlock Holmeses to determine. Uncle Sam has ever been stone deaf to any entreaties for improvements, and the long-suffering public must continue to bear all sorts of unnecessary delays, some of these often causing loss of money.

To illustrate in regard to the dispatch of mails: A few days ago we received a letter from the Harney County News saying copies of The Bulletin of August 23 and 30 reached there the evening of September 6. These papers were mailed here at 6 o'clock on the 23rd and 30th, respectively, going to Prineville and from there by stage. Editor Davey wrote to send them out to the main line and around by Baker.

Again: On Saturday, the 16th, copies of the Lakeview Examiner of September 7 were put in the boxes of subscribers at Bend.

Two weeks for mail to go from Bend to Burns, nine days for mail to come from Lakeview to Bend. That's going some. But what's the use of "kick"? An inquiry or a protest to the Postoffice Department would be replied to about January 15, 1912, and then would probably say: "Matter has been referred to proper authorities for investigation," a polite way of saying: "Tell with the Central Oregon people."

That's the way our dearly beloved Government does business in the Postoffice Department.

FARMERS SHOULD ATTEND.

In addition to the address which D. O. Lively of Portland and an O. A. C. professor will deliver here on the 30th to farmers, Phil Bates, publisher of the Pacific Northwest, will speak on good roads. Mr. Bates is a great mixer and strenuous worker, and his address has aroused much enthusiasm wherever delivered.

What each of the three speakers will have to say will be of special interest and help to the farmers of Bend and they should all take advantage of the opportunity to learn more about hog raising, the dairy business and making of good roads. The lectures will be free and given at a convenient time and the farmers are urged to be on hand to hear them.

A new state manual of the course of study for the elementary schools of Oregon has just been issued by Supt. Alderman of the State Educational Department. A number of improvements have been made in the old state course. "An even distribution of the work among the eight grades is the special aim of this course," says Mr. Alderman, "so that each grade can easily complete its assignment in one year. The effort has also been made to preserve harmony in each subject by grades, so that there will be no break between the fourth and fifth grades, nor between the sixth and seventh grades, the two places where omissions are most likely to occur."

The State Medical Board has started a crusade against practitioners without license. Eleven "doctors" were arrested in Portland at the first spreading of the net.

Some of the newspapers of Central Oregon are continually trying to cast slurs at Bend, jealous no doubt that it is progressing so much faster than their own towns. Take off those green glasses, brethren of the quill, come to Bend on Railroad Day and you'll see what a lively little city we have here on the banks of the Deschutes.

Things seem to have become quite topsy turvy at Klamath Falls, or the newspapers there have sprung a new advertising scheme. Witness the following names and dates of two of the town's newspapers: "Express Morning, Thursday, September 8, 1911," and "Chronicle County Klamath, Thursday, September 7, 1911."

Heard Here and There

Senator Bourne announces he has the appointment of a principal and three alternates to the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Examinations will be held at Portland October 14.

The Oregon State Editorial Association will meet in annual session in Portland Sept. 21-23.

In August the United States Geological Survey passed upon and recommended for designation 23,142 acres under the enlarged homestead act. This makes a total of 190,394,927 acres of land in the public-land States which have been declared enterable under this act in 320-acre tracts.

Senator Bourne has endorsed the candidacy of Senator La Follette for the Republican nomination as against President Taft.

Tillman Reuter of Madras and J. H. Gray of Prineville will be the official representatives of Crook county at the Dry Farming Congress at Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 16-19.

J. W. Ferguson has been appointed State Insurance Commissioner to succeed Sam Krozer, who has become Deputy Secretary of State.

President Taft left Boston Friday on a 13,000-mile trip to the Pacific Coast. He will travel through 24 States.

Facilities for physical training for both men and women at the O. A. C. will be greatly increased this year by remodeling of the gymnasium building.

Experiments conducted by Editor Turner of the Madras Pioneer this year prove the theory that milo maize, as a substitute for corn, can be grown successfully on dry land without irrigation and give good returns for the investment.

POWELL BUTTE ITEMS.
POWELL BUTTE, Sept. 18—Miss Gladys Bayn has returned from Portland where she has been attending college for the past year. She was accompanied by Miss Lucy Davis, who will visit here for a short time.

The Powell Butte school commenced last week in charge of Mrs. Mary Charlton. There were 19 pupils enrolled.

A party of young people enjoyed a straw ride around the Buttes Sunday afternoon. They took cameras along and got some pictures of the stair flume and other interesting places.

Where Is Bend, Oregon?

That is the question you hear on the streets of EVERY CITY and TOWN of the North-West today.

Bend is in Central Oregon

That vast area which for the last FIFTY YEARS has been awaiting the coming of Railways, and which the Hill and Harriman Railroad systems SPIED OUT FIVE YEARS AGO. And since then they have spent over

TWENTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

Constructing Railroads up the Deschutes Valley to reach BEND.

BEND is the geographical center of a farming area larger than any three New England states, rich in resources of timber, farming lands, water power, grazing lands and climatic conditions which, if supplied with railway facilities, would attract the people, develop the resources and pay big dividends on the millions invested.

The railroads are now almost completed. The first passenger train will reach BEND by October 15th or sooner.

ALL AROUND BEND

Hill saw the Wheat Fields of Minnesota. Hill saw the Pine Forests of Michigan. Hill saw the Water Power of Niagara. Hill saw the Irrigated Lands of Washington. And, with the Harriman System, has built two railways from the Columbia River up the Deschutes Valley to reach Bend. Other shrewd investors saw the possibilities of Bend and have invested heavily there. 'Twas ever thus and always will be. When railroads penetrate a new section of the country, real estate values go steadily upwards and fortunes are made from insignificant investments.

BUY NOW IN BEND.

In a few years you can retire and live on the income from your small investment. It does not require much money to buy NOW, as we are selling close-in residence and business lots, 50x140, on 80-foot streets, within four blocks of the union depot site, at an average price of only

$25 CASH $200 $10 Per Month

Seattle, Portland, Spokane, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Denver, and scores of other large cities furnished just such a precedent as will be repeated in Bend within five years or less. Now if you think it would be safe to follow the lead of Hill and Harriman, two years after they have blazed the trail—after they have spent over twenty million dollars in the Bend Country—by putting a small amount into real estate in a town that has a better prospect today than any town in the United States had at the arrival of its first railroad, come to our office in Bend and put your judgment into action. Free maps and photographs of Bend and Central Oregon upon request. We furnish free a certified abstract to each purchaser.
