

IT'S GETTING COLD

These cold nights and frosty mornings make us all think that winter is coming, and this reminds us that it is time to get ready for it. In every department we are prepared to make YOU comfortable. And that YOU means every man, woman and child in Crook County if necessary.

THE MEN WANT mackinaws, sheep lined coats, heavy underwear, wool sox, heavy shoes, and rubbers---We have them.

THE LADIES WANT winter coats, sweaters, knit aviation caps, heavy underwear, cashmere hose, warm gloves---We have them.

THE CHILDREN WANT sweaters, caps, heavy underwear, warm stockings, good stout shoes and mittens---We have them

YOU WANT IN YOUR HOME some good warm blankets and comforters, and you can buy these ready made or you can buy the material and make them yourself.

Every department is complete and ready to supply your every need, to make you comfortable.

Piano Contest.

Our Piano Contest is getting interesting. Every cash purchase of 10c entitles you to one vote. And from the way all are insisting upon getting their votes with every purchase, we know that the contest is going to be close. The votes are counted every Saturday evening and the result posted on the bulletin board in our store. The committee in charge of the votes, consisting of Mr. Hoffman of The Bulletin, Mr. Coble, attorney at law, and Mr. Cline, acting pastor of the Baptist church, request you to deposit your votes each week and not hold them. If the votes are held they will be absolutely swamped at the last, and casting the votes early will make absolutely no difference in the result.

PERFECT STEEL BALLS.

They Have Never Yet Been Made, Even in the Laboratory.

One of the needs of the day is a perfectly spherical steel ball, and yet it has never been made even in the laboratory, much less in the shop for commercial uses. When we consider the importance of ball bearings for automobiles, motorcycles and other machinery the imperfections in steel balls must appeal to all as of the greatest moment. Of course we make pretty good steel balls, which could not have been manufactured a few years ago. So far as the eye can discern, they are perfectly spherical, too, and ordinary measuring instruments will not be able to detect any difference in them, but nevertheless they are not perfectly spherical.

A steel ball for automobile bearings must be perfect within .0001 inch, and they are made even more perfect than this, but mathematical perfection in this respect seems to be almost as illusive as squaring the circle or discovering the perpetual motion machine.

When the steel ball was first used in the bearings of bicycles it was a very imperfect sphere. It was not called upon to bear any great load, and the velocity was not great. At the best the load on it was not more than 200 pounds, and at the rate of sixty miles an hour the revolutions were not more than 720 per minute. Compare that with the load and velocity of the modern ball bearings of automobiles. Frequently the load approximates a thousand pounds and the velocity is anywhere from 800 to 1,200 revolutions. The small steel balls must take the maximum load of the car and pass it on to others without binding or catching. A slight imperfection in any one ball would cause trouble. In fact, it is impossible to use balls with any appreciable variation in size from one another, and the more nearly round they are the better the results.

Steel balls are not only made more perfect in shape than ever before, but they are harder and tougher. As there is a tendency to flake, only special steels can be used in their manufacture, and these tough, hard steels are all the more difficult to work with to secure perfect roundness. The chrome steel, of which most balls for bearings are made, is one of the most difficult of steels to cut or shape, and the work of handling it has developed special tools and machines made of even harder material.

While we have not yet made the perfectly spherical steel ball and perhaps may never succeed, the point of perfection reached is little short of wonderful. The approximately perfect steel ball is a matter of vital importance wherever machines and machinery are made and used. The application of the ball bearing system is extended to new lines of industrial use each year, and builders of all kinds of apparatus are taking advantage of the perfection reached by the manufacturers of these little spheres of tough steel.--Harper's Weekly.
