The Proof of the Pudding
Is in the Eating

CLAIMS are easily made; but not always easily proven. We would not make the claims we do for the high quality of our stock if we were not convinced of their truth, and if we didn't have so many compliments from customers on the superiority of our trees, and the most excellent manner in which they were packed, enabling them to arrive at destination in prime condition. This last item good packing is easily overlooked by many, but is one of importance, and is one of the many instances where our attention to detail keeps up the high standard of our trees. Have you seen our 74 page catalog? It's beauty. Better send for it.

MORE TROUT FRY

STATE WILL RELEASE
625,000.

Black Spotted Fish Will Be Used for Restocking of Several Streams—All River Tributaries Will Be Closed for a Few Years.

Six hundred and twenty-five thousand black spotted trout are being held at the Bonneville hatchery, all of which will be released in the various waters of the state as soon as the special tanks that are being constructed are completed and the little fish are old enough to take care of themselves. These trout eggs were secured from the Yellowstone country, where they were taken by the Government.

This release of trout is especially designated to assist in the re-stocking of several of the streams of the State. Under authority of the State Fish and Game Commission, Warden Finley has been instructed to designate the waters into which the trout will be liberated. Under the state law, any stream may be closed by the commission for a period, for the purpose of re-stocking or protecting fish.

To entail as little hardship as possible upon the anglers of the state, the State Game Warden believes that some of the upper small tributaries of the rivers of the state would be the best grounds for the trout. These tributaries will then be closed for two or three years, and at the expiration of that time opened again, when the fishing in the main streams will be unexcelled. It is believed that in that time, the trout will be able to propagate and mature sufficiently to amply re-stock the main river.

It will be the policy of the warden to make the distribution as wide as possible, closing small tributaries in all parts of the State. A year hence, the same plan will be followed, so that after three years, many new streams will be opened for fishermen every year.

DROWNED IN RIVER

Arnold Murk of Laidlaw Loses Life in Washington.

Arnold Murk, son of Frank Murk of Laidlaw, lost his life in the Lewis River, in Washington, last Thursday when the skiff in which he and twelve other members of a log-driving crew was overturned in the turbulent stream. Six others went down with him. Gilbert and Justus Mark, brothers of Arnold, were also in the craft but escaped.

As soon as informed of the accident, Frank Murk left for the scene to recover the body of his son if possible. Arnold was reared in Central Oregon and leaves many friends in this section.
