ICE FACTORY AND CREAMERY

PLANT TO BE LOCATED ON O. T. SPUR

Madras Man Will Put in Ice Making Machinery and S. R. Cooper of Prineville the Creamery—Cold Storage by Wenandy Company

A creamery for Bend, which has been talked of for some time, now seems a certainty. S. R. Cooper, proprietor of the Pioneer Creamery at Prineville, will establish it, in connection with a cold storage and ice making plant which will be put in by H. Kersten of Madras.

The building will be 60x84 feet in dimensions and erected on the southeast corner of lot 29 of the Lytle Acre Tracts, which was donated by The Bend Co. This is on the railroad spur running to the flour mill, just a short distance from where it leaves the main line. In order to get the creamery here, The Bend Co. also voted to furnish current at half price for one 20-horsepower motor, one 5-horsepower motor and one 3-horsepower motor to be used in the plant.

The ice making plant will turn out enough ice to supply not only the local trade but also the needs of the towns on the railroad between here and Madras.

Arrangements were completed Monday evening by Mr. Kersten, and work will be started in a short time on the building. Orders for the lumber have already been given the Bend Co.

The Wenandy Livery Co. will also engage in the cold storage business. A building 40x60 feet will be erected on the spur just east of the new residence of Rene West, Mr. Wenandy stated yesterday. The company has on hand more than 600 tons of fine ice cut from the Deschutes river this winter which will be used in this business.

Cows for the Farmers.
In connection with the establishing of the creamery here, the First National Bank will bring in two carloads of Holstein cows which will be placed with the farmers on time. Only those who agree to patronize the creamery will be sold cows, this being for the purpose of encouraging the new industry and making it a success. The cows will be made to pay for themselves, half the sum derived from the sale of milk being turned over to the bank as payment on the cattle.

Want Farmers' Institute
An effort is being made to get a farmers' institute here some time during the next month. S. A. Armitstead of Portland, who is interested

BEND-GROWN POTATOES

There is no reason why Bend should not be known as a potato section, as well as any other section of the United States. There is something about the quality of the potatoes grown there that is very delicious.

—Dr. James Withycombe, Director Oregon Experiment Station.

In seeing this become a dairy country, took the matter up with Prof. Kent of the O. A. C. while in Corvallis recently and writes that an institute can probably be arranged for. Mr. Armitstead was influential in getting Mr. Cooper to choose Bend as a creamery location.

INTERESTING CLUB MEETING TOMORROW

Subject of Irrigation Will Be Discussed by Local Business Men and Redmond Visitor.

There will be a meeting of the Commercial Club tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, at which there will be much doing. Everyone is urged to attend, whether a member or not.

The president will fully outline the policy of the club for the year, the secretary will give a report on the finances of the organization, and a director will be chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the inability of Hugh O'Kane to serve on account of business duties not allowing him to get off for board meetings.

The chief subject of discussion of the evening will be irrigation and the irrigation congress which will be held in Portland on the 19th, 20th and 21st. J. W. Brewer of Redmond, vice president of the Central Oregon Development League, will speak on this subject. Others on the program as arranged today are Vernon A. Forbes, A. O. Hunter, P. H. Dencer and J. S. Rhodes, assistant manager of the Bend Park Co. office in Portland, whose subject will be "Interest in Bend on the Outside."

POLITICAL CAUCUS

Nomination of Candidates for County Offices Discussed.

A political caucus attended by Republican voters of Bend, Redmond, Metolius, Madras, Laidlaw and other towns, was held at the Pilot Butte Inn Saturday night. The purpose of the meeting, which was quietly called, was to discuss the political situation in respect to candidates for county offices. It was decided that the voters of the various precincts get together and express their preference for men, so that there might not be a superabundance of candidates in the field.

Owing to the fact that the Oregon Trunk train did not arrive until after 3 a. m., the meeting did not get started until the early hours Sunday morning. A number of visitors came in on the late train, going out at 6:30. Among those who were here were: Mayor Jones, J. W. Brewer, J. A. Wilcox, Editor W. C. Walker, G. E. Dolson, G. D. Wells of Redmond; W. D. Barnes and J. B. Wimer of Laidlaw; W. B. Lottman and Frank A. Perry of Metolius; P. T. Atkins of Madras.

ASKS PERMIT FOR TURKEYS

LAPINE MAN WILL RAISE 1200

C. D. Schell Applies to Forest Supervisor to Use National Reserve as a Feeding Ground for Big Flock of Birds.

A "turkey trot" that bids fair to overleap anything known along New York's Great White Way or around the old Custom House place in Chicago will likely be witnessed around Davis Lake and on Crane Prairie, on the upper Deschutes river, next summer. Twelve hundred turkey fowls, big, little and otherwise, will be "herded" there if Uncle Sam approves the application of C. D. Schell for a grazing permit for this number of birds.

Mr. Schell dropped in on Supervisor J. Roy Harvey of the Deschutes National Forest a few days ago and gave the forest official the shock of his life by applying for use of part of the reserve during the summer season. Mr. Harvey had received many applications to graze cattle, sheep and other stock on the government range, but when it came to turkeys— and 1200, too—he had to declare that Solomon, with all his wisdom, was much mistaken when he promulgated the proverb, "There is nothing new under the sun." Mr. Harvey looked through all his grazing fee schedules, but there was nothing put down under (or on) the turkey head. It was too much for him.

He was considerably relieved, however, when he looked at his map to find that the greater part of the territory which Mr. Schell has in mind as a feeding ground for his little brood of birds lies in the Paulina reserve, and to Supervisor Cryder of Crescent he referred Mr. Schell. Mr. Harvey says it is the first application of the kind he ever heard of, and thinks it may be the first the forestry service has run across.

Grasshoppers There Galore.
Mr. Schell is evidently a conservationist, for he has learned that there are thousands of fat grasshoppers going to waste every summer on the upper Deschutes which could easily be converted into delicious meat to accompany the cranberry sauce for the holiday dinner.

For six years Mr. Schell taught school in the Philippine Islands, going to Manila ten years ago. On his return to "the States" he engaged in the fruit industry at Ashland, being secretary of the association there. About a month ago he came to Central Oregon, looked the country over and bought an irrigated "forty" near La Pine.

BUILDING TO COST $20,000

HOME FOR FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Pressed Brick Structure Will be Erected at Bond and Oregon Streets, Work Starting March 1. Finest in Central Oregon.

At a cost of $20,000, a bank building that will be by far the finest in all Central Oregon will be erected at the northwest corner of Bond and Oregon streets by the First National Bank and the Deschutes Investment Co. Work will start March 1 and the building will be ready for occupancy by October 1. Pressed brick and Indiana limestone will be used in the construction.

Plans for the building have been in preparation for several weeks and are now completed. The building will have a frontage of 50 feet on Bond street and a depth of 70 feet on Oregon street. The quarters of the bank will be 30 feet on Bond by 70 feet on Oregon, entrance being on Bond. The remaining 20 feet on Bond, with 70-foot depth, will be a store room, the property of the Deschutes Investment Co., of which C. S. Hudson is president. The entire upper floor will be for offices.

The building will have a concrete base three feet in height, on top of which will be laid red pressed brick. The trimmings will be of limestone quarried at Bedford, Ind. There will be four plate glass windows on the Oregon street side, the trimmings of which will be copper. The roof will be a tar and gravel composition. The style of architecture is the Georgian, which is being used largely by banks nowadays.

Marble and Mahogany Furnishings
The entrance to the bank will be on Bond street through double doors of solid mahogany. Over the door will be a large clock with frosted dial, the face of which will be visible at all times, being illuminated at night by electric lights. The entrance doors will open into a marble vestibule, to the left of which will be a private office and directors' room. Adjoining this will be the cashier's office, next to which will be the teller's window. There will also be three windows for the bookkeepers.

To the right of the vestibule will be a rest room for ladies and others. There will be two mahogany writing desks, mahogany chairs, telephone, and on the floor will be an Oriental rug. The working room of the bank employees will be covered with a cork linoleum, which is noiseless and easy on the feet. All the furniture will be mahogany.

PANSIES IN BLOOM.

Pansies blooming in a Bend garden in February! Would you believe it? 'Tis true, nevertheless, for the flowers shown on the desk in Elmer Niswonger's office speak for themselves. They were picked from his mother's garden in Westport, where they grew unsheltered in any way.

CAN REGISTER NOW.

Blanks for the registration of the voters of Bend precinct have been received from the county clerk by M. S. Lattin, and all who wish can now get enrolled so as to be able to vote at the April primary. W. W. Orcutt has been appointed to register the voters of Deschutes precinct.

REACH AGREEMENT WITH LAND BOARD

C. O. I. Company Officials Finally Sign Proposition, After Securing Amendments.

Final agreement between the Desert Land Board and the Central Oregon Irrigation Co. has now been reached and papers signed, is the report from Salem. By an added clause placed on the end of the agreement at the suggestion of Governor West, the company is now practically under complete control of the board and should the company be responsible for delinquencies, the board could take up the completion of the project itself if so desired.

"In event of failure of the company to keep the covenants or perform the obligations by it to be kept and performed under this contract, the board may declare it in default," reads the conclusion of the agreement. "The company and the trustee shall thereupon be so notified and unless the company shall, within 90 days from the date of such notice, make good all existing delinquencies, the board is hereby authorized and it is hereby made its duty to take over the performance of the contracts to be performed by the company and prosecute the work as far as the available assets in the hands of the trustee or otherwise will permit, and the trustee in such event is hereby directed to pay out all funds on hand or which may be collected for account of the company upon vouchers to be approved by the board. All cash, notes and other assets remaining in the hands of the trustee after the completion of the contract of June 17, 1907, shall then be turned over to the company."

With this clause as consideration, a reasonable extension of time is granted on the Benham Falls project.

UNCONSCIOUS SINCE FRIDAY

GEORGE W. KNAPP LIES AT POINT OF DEATH

Stricken With Apoplexy, Homesteader Was Found Lying on Floor of Cabin—Relative on Way Here From Los Angeles, Cal.

Unconscious since Friday afternoon, when he was found lying on the floor of his cabin on Wall street, in Deschutes addition, George W. Knapp is at the point of death, without almost any hope of recovery. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy, a blood vessel in the brain bursting.

Mr. Knapp, who has a homestead on the southeast of Bend, has been staying in Bend part of the winter, living in Deschutes. He has been in excellent health, but sometime Friday afternoon was stricken. He was found about 4 o'clock by C. E. Morris, having evidently been sitting by the stove reading, as a magazine was lying on the table nearby and the chair was tipped over. He had probably been lying there unconscious for an hour or more.

Drs. Coe and Ferrell were summoned and have been doing all for him that is possible, but his chances are very slight. He is gradually becoming weaker, being unable to take nourishment.

Mr. Knapp is 51 years old. He has a daughter and other relatives in Los Angeles, and some of them are expected to arrive here tonight. He is a Mason and a Maceabee. His neighbors, C. E. Morris, O. C. Henkle and H. B. Ford, are watching by his bedside.

A. H. BLACK BUILDS

Business Building Being Erected on Leased Lot on Wall Street.

A. H. Black, who recently came to Bend from Pocatello, Idaho, is constructing a one-story frame business building on the lot leased from Miss Marion West, on Wall street. It will contain a store room and office. The dimensions of the structure are 24x54 feet.

As soon as this building is completed Mr. Black will begin work on another, he stated, on the adjoining lot. Mr. Black bought the Sather building some time ago but has sold it back to Mr. Sather, who will move it onto the lot next to Skuse's store.

Mrs. Black arrived Thursday from Pocatello and about the first of March will open a millinery and ladies' notion store. Mr. and Mrs. Black are living in a small house erected on the rear of the lot where he is putting up the store building.

THE SPIRAL GLIDE.

It is possible for some men to climb into a monoplane or biplane and soar off into the atmosphere and break the world's altitude record, but they also break something else—their necks. The man who invented the aerial "spiral glide" paid that penalty too. It is safer to crawl than to walk. It's better to walk than to soar too high. It's better to put one dollar safely away in the bank than to have a million in your castles in the air, for there is always an uncertain glide from air castles to earth and few can do the trick without accident. It's better to have a bank account than a broken wing, remember that.
