

PRIZE WINNING ESSAY

By Roy Vinard

Few people realize that they are living in a country where slavery...

President Lincoln has the honor of freeing the black slaves, which were brought over from Africa...

Now we shall turn to the home; where the debt must be paid the second time, not in money, but in sorrow...

Is it right for the laborer to give all of his daily wages to the saloon-keeper that his wife may dress in the silks and linen...

and a white heart, but when his mother sees him again his hands are shackled and his heart has been painted black...

The man who votes in favor of the saloon that his town may have money for city improvements...

There is one thing certain, and that is the laborer suffers most from the effects of the liquor traffic...

The states build prisons in which to put the poor workman for patronizing the saloon, an institution which the state protects...

The following is a common example of the expense that the drink habit is to the government: A saloon-keeper sold a man a pint of liquor...

Our Senators and Representatives at Congress have power to stop the liquor traffic. Why don't they do it? Because they want the bag of money that comes in from this seventeen millions of dollars every year...
