TAKE 'EM OR LEAVE 'EM

"It is more blessed to give than to receive."

So saith the Biblical wise men. That holds good today, especially as regards advice—it's a darn sight easier to give it than it is to take it. Nevertheless, here goes a few random suggestions, action upon which might help Bend.

A WATERING TROUGH. Why not? Bend needs one, and needs it badly. Everyone would benefit, especially farmers who come in to purchase supplies and are obliged either to leave their horses standing dry or pack water to them in a bucket from some charitable person's tap. A splendid place for one—a small, handsome trough built with Bend rock—is in front of the post-office. It would cost a few dollars; the city might do far worse than erect two, in different parts of town.

A PUBLIC HITCHING PLACE. Why not? Just at present, with the exception of limited accommodation in front of stores, there are few if any places where farmers and others can leave their horses tied. Again, this would be a great convenience to everyone, and the expense is almost negligible. A few such little attentions to out-of-town people and they would feel far more warmly welcomed here than they do now.

FOURTH OF JULY. Are we going to have a celebration? Last year Bend was as quiet as the grave. If the town intends to have the bang-up good time it should have, it is none too soon to start the ball rolling.

BASEBALL.

Bend should have a good baseball team this season. That does not necessarily mean that the local team need win all its games, or even most of them, though such success is greatly to be desired. It does mean however, that Bend should be represented by a team of which it may be proud.

With the railroad making visits from other teams a simple and comparatively inexpensive matter, there is every opportunity to arrange a very diversified schedule, which readily may include contests with Portland and other "outside" nines. By combining with towns along the line, so that a Portland team, for instance, could play both here and at Redmond and Metolius, every place could get the fun of first class games, and the expenses could be kept down admirably.

All the other interior towns have teams organized and are practicing. It is time that Bend gets busy.

And this year why not try to get along without imported players, and be content with real Bend men? It's a whole lot better to be beaten with a team of fellows who belong here and play for the fun of it, than to win with a team of outsiders who are induced to stay here for a few months in one way or another. And there have been instances within the memory of the youngest inhabitant where, even with a lot of imported alleged talent, victories were mighty shy.

Although last season was far from a brilliant success, from the standpoint of both sport and finances, it is a safe bet that the people of Bend will give hearty support to a team that will do its best.

LIGHTS AT THE DEPOT

Electric lights which have been badly needed at the depot have been put in, being turned on last night for the first time. There are four large incandescents on the front side of the building, next to the track, and an equal number on the rear side. The improvement makes it very light around the station.

2 EXPERIMENT FARMS CHOSEN

LOCATIONS NEAR REDMOND AND METOLIUS

O. A. C. Will Investigate Dry and Irrigated Farming Possibilities in Crook County—Cooperative Work to be Done Near Bend

CORVALLIS, April 6.—Two new demonstration farms have just been established in Crook county by a committee from the Oregon Agricultural College, composed of Pres. W. J. Kerr, Prof. H. D. Scudder and Regent C. L. Hawley. One to be devoted to dry-farming experiments, is 5 minutes walk from Metolius; the other, to be devoted to irrigation farming, is 10 minutes walk from Redmond. In both cases farms already in operation were taken over for the season, since it was desired to put every available dollar of the funds secured for the work into the experiments, for which at present there is provision for this year only.

Careful investigation of the possibilities of all parts of the county was made before the selection, since conditions there are unusual and the best methods are, in many cases, unknown.

After consultation of the Central Oregon Development League with Prof. Scudder, Pres. Carl R. Gray of the Oregon Trunk and the officials of the O.-W. R. & N. referred the matter to Pres. Kerr and Dr. James Withycombe, directors of the Oregon Experiment Station, and started a campaign for funds. The new Hill line and the Harriman extension each gave $2,500, the Crook County Court added $3000, and the localities interested and private citizens brought the total to $10,000, which was placed in the hands of the college experts for the work.

In Charge of Experts.

Two experts have been chosen by the college to take charge. Because of its great importance, it was decided to put the irrigation work directly in the hands of W. L. Powers of the college faculty, who is probably the best authority on that subject in the state. The dry farming station will be under the direction of C. C. Cunningham of Kansas State Agricultural College, who has been agronomist at the Ft. Hays dry farming experiment station in western Kansas.

Using these two farms as centers, cooperative demonstration work will be done throughout the county. Every neighborhood will be reached and kept in close touch with the stations. The directors will travel through the county, holding private conferences and public meetings, and frequent special gatherings will occur at the central stations to study the work done there. Prof. Scudder, who has probably more detailed knowledge of the county and its resources than anyone else, will be in supervision.

Three objects were kept in mind in the selection of the sites: an average climate, soil and elevation, to make it as representative as possible of the largest number of farms in the county; immediate accessibility to as large a portion of the population as possible; and the securing of a farm already partly in stubble and partly in crop, equipped ready for work, with the farmer already on the ground and willing to lease the whole for the year at a reasonable price. Since there were funds for but one year, there was no time for clearing new land, and it was so necessary that the work should be readily inspected by the largest number of people possible, that land otherwise superior in soil, climate, or elevation conditions could not be used.

FISH FOR LAKES

Oregon City Man Will Stock Smaller Bodies of Water.

S. S. Mohler of Oregon City has written to the Commercial Club that he will stock Sparks, Elk, Summit and other small lakes in Central Oregon with fish this summer.

Mr. Mohler says there will be 10 cans sent in at four different times, making a total of 40 cans. He says he has no connection with the State Fish Commission but is doing this merely for the benefit of the sportsmen, one of whom he himself is. He would like to get some one to take the fish from Bend to the lakes.

He also suggested that the Commercial Club take up with the State Fish Commissioner the matter of securing fish for other lakes in this part of the state.

IMPROVE LA PINE ROAD

Mail Route Gets Attention of County Crew—Experts Examine Accounts

County Judge H. C. Ellis started the ball rolling in the improvement of the road between La Pine and Bend yesterday, when a small crew under M. P. Hawthorn went to work between here and Lava Butte, repairing the winter damage to the route. The wash-outs caused by melting snow will be fixed, rocks removed, and the road put in good shape. A seven day a week mail stage operates over this road.

At Prineville expert accountants are checking over the old tax rolls under the direction of Max Crandall. Last week the road fund records of Judge Ellis were gone over, and the experts reported everything O. K. After the tax rolls are reported on County Commissioner R. H. Bailey's expenditures will be examined.

Ladies, Attention.

I wish to announce to the ladies of Bend and vicinity that I have opened dressmaking parlors at my residence, on Knob Hill and respectfully solicit your patronage. Mrs. J. W. Elkins. 2-5
