COMMENT ON AID TO FARMER

NEWSPAPER PRAISES BANK'S SCHEME

Southern City-Eager to Follow Progressive Example Set by Bend Institution in Bringing Hogs and Cows to the Country.

With the heading "We might do this too" the Klamath Falls Northwestern had the following editorial in its issue of April 2nd.

The First National Bank of Bend, which last fall brought two carloads of fine brood sows from Nebraska and sold them to the farmers of that section of Oregon, has sent a buyer to Illinois to purchase two cars of Holstein dairy cows, which will be sold to ranchers around Bend. A creamery is being built at Bend and will soon be ready for operation.

We would like to go over to Bend to shake those bankers by the hand. That bank really stands for something in that community. It represents our idea of what a bank should really stand for in a community. It is not only a financial institution but an institution that uses the money it gets from the community to build up the community. That's fine.

We have been thinking for some time that the banks of Klamath Falls could do no better than to follow the example set by the bank of Bend. This country is this year producing a great quantity of feed for cattle. We understand that the only reason the farmers of the Klamath Basin are not buying cattle to feed this hay at home and turn into the finished product, is that they have not the ready money with which to get the cows. Cows are to be had at considerably less than their real value to the farmer, in California this year because feed is short in that country. Wouldn't it be a good idea for a few of the local bankers to bring into Klamath several carloads of fine bred dairy stock and let the farmers have the cattle with a mortgage on the stock as security for the money invested.

GOOD EASTER MUSIC

Large Congregations Enjoy Program Rendered Sunday.

Special Easter music was a feature of the services at the Baptist church Sunday. In the morning and again at night a large congregation enjoyed the program. The members of the choir sang with much credit to themselves.

Rev. H. B. Foskett, the Baptist minister, preached two sermons appropriate for the day. Decorations of Easter lilies, carnations and new Easter hats gave the church a seasonal appearance.

At the Catholic church Father Butler of Hermiston held mass at 10 a. m., and there were also flowers and excellent music which added to the impressiveness of the services.

MARRIED AT CHURCH

George Gates and Miss Edith Moore Give Congregation Surprise

Immediately following the sermon at the Baptist church Sunday morning, George Gates and Miss Edith Moore were united in marriage by Rev. H. B. Foskett. Very few people in the congregation knew that there was to be such a ceremony until the bride and groom appeared at the altar.

Miss Moore is a daughter of E. Moore of Bend. Mr. Gates has made his home here for some time, having homesteaded land near town. The young couple will reside in Bend.
