Plans Will Be Made at Commercial Club Meeting Thursday Night

Tomorrow (Thursday) evening, 8 o'clock there will be a meeting of the Commercial Club to discuss plans for a Fourth of July celebration at Bend.

Last year Bend had no celebration, giving way to Prineville, who then had a big time, many looking on attending. This season it is expected to have the affair here, with the improved transportation facilities, it is expected that a large crowd can be gathered. Already several propositions for baseball games have been received from outside clubs.

"A YOUNG MAN'S TOWN"

Portlander Here With Eye to Investments For Himself and Others.

M. C. Banfield of Portland, an influential man there, has been in Bend for the last week looking over investment possibilities, chiefly as "scout" for a syndicate of would-be investors.

"Bend is the liveliest little city I ever struck," said Mr. Banfield. "It surely is a young man's town, for there seems to be no end of opportunities for an enterprising man to make good."

A. O. Hunter did much to make Mr. Banfield's visit a pleasant one, among other things taking him on an up-river fishing trip excursion.

BASEBALL TEAM IN SIGHT

Boys Went Business Men to Have Hand in Management.

Last night about a dozen fellows interested in getting up a baseball team had a meeting and discussed ways and means of organizing and supporting the organization. In view of the mess which some of the men felt was made last year, it was decided that if the business men of the town were to be asked for support it was but fair to let them have a hand in the management.

With this in view, there will be a meeting of all business men interested this Friday evening at the Commercial Club, to talk the matter over and pick a manager or a managing committee.

HIGHEST BID WINS

In his opinion were reliable.

McKay Objects.

One of those who most strenuously objected to the action of the Court in accepting the highest bid was D. L. McKay, representative of the Mueller timber interests in Central Oregon.

"Were you opposed to a cruise?" Mr. McKay was asked Saturday, when he returned from Prineville.

"No, I favor one," he replied. "I think all the larger timber men and their representatives will be glad to see a fair cruise. But I do object to the award of this profitable contract to a 5 cent bidder, when there were responsible bids all the way from 2 3-4 cents to 4 1/2."

Mr. McKay went on to state that in several instances, to his knowledge, the bond of $20,000 required to accompany the bids was supplied by other bidders than Donahue, and that he was certain the records and responsibility of several of those whose offer were passed over were of the best.
