AN OPPORTUNITY.

The action of the four county courts in contributing county funds for the maintenance of the Central Oregon Development League work is admirable. That four sparsely settled counties should do this sets a mark for enterprise that well may be a lesson to the rest of the state. The funds so raised, amounting to $1,000, can accomplish much good. It is essential that they be used wisely and well. A year of misuse and the admirable new scheme will be dead.

To be used wisely means that the energies these funds maintain should be directed to the agricultural betterment of the country first, and secondly to its exploitation. It is more important to help those who already are here than it is to bring more settlers. Let the league workers carry the message of the farmer-scientists to the ranchers and the homesteaders of these counties. Let every aid be given the man of small means and small knowledge who becomes a Central Oregon settler. Let the league be a right hand to the agricultural college and the demonstration stations. Also, let it collect exhibits and let it tell the world, and show the world, why people should come to Central Oregon and how they can prosper here; only let this mission be secondary. If the league does this, it will succeed and the taxpayers' money will be well spent.

If it becomes publicity mad, to the detriment of the broader and far more valuable work it can and should do, inevitably it will meet popular hostility, instead of popular support. Taxpayers have a direct financial interest now. The salaried league workers have a direct responsibility to the taxpayers. The latter will insist upon labor and upon results.

An interesting little indication of where The Bulletin finds its way, and the work it is doing towards bringing people here, is that during the last week two more bluejackets on Uncle Sam's battleships have been added to the list of subscribers. Both these sailors heard about Bend; they wrote for sample copies of the paper; then they subscribed. When their terms of service expire they will quit the sea and come here.

Nearly one hundred interested excursionists will be here Sunday and Monday, coming from the three leading cities of the Northwest. Every one of them is making the long trip to see Bend. Everyone here wants the town to appear at its best. A little cleaning up will work wonders in this direction.

NOT A DOUBLE WEDDING.

A letter from W. R. Wilkinson states that the report that Willard Houston and Miss Maggie Aune were married at the same time Miss Caroline and Mr. Wilkinson were, is erroneous. She is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson and will return to Bend in a few weeks. Mr. Wilkinson is now president and general manager of the Fandango Lumber Co., having risen from foreman since going there from Bend last year.

CONDUCTOR MAKING RECORD.

Passengers who travel by the Oregon Trunk line state that Conductor Cass, who runs regularly between Bend and Fallbridge, is making a record that other railroad officials might well emulate. They state that he is one of the most courteous and accommodating conductors they ever saw, and especially to women and children.

HIGH SCHOOL AT METOLIUS.

By a unanimous vote, the taxpayers of the Metolius school district have voted to add high school grades, beginning this fall. Monday a principal was elected, A. G. Lewark being chosen. Mr. Lewark is the Indianapolis school teacher, who, with his wife, was in Bend the latter part of July, after having made a trip by auto across the continent.

STAR THEATRE CHANGES

Brown and Hunter Dispose of Property to U. N. Hoffman.

Yesterday the ownership of the Star Moving picture theatre changed hands, P. W. Brown and Jesse Hunter selling out to a company styling itself the Star Theater Company, of which U. N. Hoffman is manager and chief owner.

Mr. Brown announces that he plans the immediate erection of a brick building. The new management states that the existing policy at the theatre of showing only the best selected reels and providing music and special attractions will be continued.

PIONEER SERVICE HELD

Methodist Preaches in Tent at Hampton, Baptising Four.

HAMPTON, Aug. 26—Last Sunday the first regular church service conducted in this section of the big new homestead country was held in an improvised house of worship which consisted of a tent erected near the store here for the purpose. When it is remembered that a couple of years ago there was absolutely nothing but sagebrush and cattle herds, this example of progress is worthy of note as has been the development of farms and homes in place of unproductive wastes of a few years ago.

Rev. J. W. McDougall, superintendent of the Portland district Methodist churches, who has been visiting friends here, officiated at the pioneer service. He delivered two sermons and baptised four persons, Albion, Byron, William and Frances Peck, the first two sons of E. M. Peck and the latter of L. C. Peck.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. W. R. Howell of Portland will preach in the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. He has recently come to Oregon and will remain in Bend about six weeks. Rev. H. B. Foskett will be traveling for the next two months in financial work and Mr. Howell will be in charge in Central Oregon during this time.
