

WHERE COUNTY GETS ITS NAME

NAMED FOR MAJOR GENERAL CROOK

Political Division of State Was Created From Wasco in 1882—Historical Article Reprinted for Information to the Newcomers.

Most of the recent settlers are not familiar with the history of Crook county, and the question is often asked where Crook county got its name. It has an honored derivation, although some people have said, with more or less facetiousness, that it was so named because of the large number of crooks living in it. Such, of course, is a slander on the county. The following article is an extract from the address of Frederick V. Holman, president of Willamette University, which he delivered before the Oregon Horticultural Society in 1909 and later published in the Quarterly magazine of that society, and is therefore authentic:

"Crook county was created October 24, 1882, by the State Legislature. (Special Laws of 1882, page 178.) It comprises a portion of the southern portion of Wasco county, as the latter was after Lake county was created. Crook county's northern boundary line begins at the western boundary line of Wasco county where it is intersected by the line between townships eight and nine. This northern line of Crook county runs east to the John Day river. The line then runs up the main channel of said river to the west line of Grant county. The rest of the east line of Crook county is the line then between Grant and Wasco counties. The southern line is the line then between Lake and Wasco counties to the east line of Lane county. The western line is the line as it then was between Lane and Linn counties and Wasco county.

"It is named for Major General George Crook, U. S. A., who had command, at one time, of the Department of the Columbia. He was an officer who had greatly distinguished himself in the Civil war. After this war he won great fame by his successful campaigns against the Indians, in Idaho and Arizona, and later against the Sioux and Cheyennes. In every Indian campaign he was successful. After the Custer Massacre, June 26, 1876, Gen. Crook fought the Indians engaged in that massacre, inflicting a severe defeat on them in Dakota, and completely reducing them to subjection. In 1882 he went to Arizona and carried on another successful campaign against the Indians. There never has been another Indian fighter more successful than Gen. Crook. He belonged to the class of 'rough and ready' fighters of Indians. He was humane to the Indians in time of peace and was highly respected by them. Throughout the country, west of the Mississippi river, his fame is established for all time. It is fitting that a county of Oregon be named for him.

"Crook county is now bounded: on the north by Wasco county; on the east by portions of Wheeler, Grant and Harney counties; on the south by Lake county and a portion of Klamath county; and on the west by Linn, and portions of Lane and Marion counties. Its county seat is Prineville."
