FOR POTATO GROWERS.

Elsewhere in this issue is published a partial list of potato buyers in Texas. The Bulletin has other lists of buyers. Later, it will have the names of buyers in California, when the market opens up there. These lists are at all times available for anyone who wishes to see them, and in connection with this and other similar matters The Bulletin stands ready to secure any helpful information it may be able to obtain.

You can't sell a product unless you let the buyer know that you have that product. Therefore The Bulletin proposes to help you tell the buyers that you have potatoes. The plan costs you nothing, and makes no money for this paper. It is simply a matter of what helps one helping all.

In about thirty days The Bulletin will send a circular letter to every potato buyer in Texas. In that letter it wants to give the name of every potato grower in this territory, with the approximate amount of potatoes he has on hand. This paper will also secure the names of Portland, Spokane and Seattle potato buyers, many of which have been published previously. Also, the circular letter referred to, with the names and addresses of local potato growers, will be given them. Furthermore, The Bulletin will get all the information it can from the railroads regarding profitable markets, etc., which will be published.

These letters The Bulletin will send out at its own expense and at its own trouble. To get results, it wants every rancher to send it a postal card or letter, giving his name, address, shipping point, distance from railroad, and approximate amount of potatoes he has for sale, together with the name of the variety grown. This information will be tabulated and placed in the proposed circular letter. Then practically every potato buyer who might be interested will be able to communicate directly with the growers, a vast amount of trouble will be saved for all concerned and a very real profit will result for the grower.

At all events, the scheme is worth trying. All the farmer has to do is to send in the information. Besides the cost of the postage stamp, he will be out nothing, and he will obligate himself to nothing. Get your own information in early, and try to get your neighbor to get his name, too, in the buyers' letter.

ANANIAS CLUB GROWS.

Last week the Redmond Spokesman printed a squib intimating that either Mr. Springer or someone else was a liar. Now comes the Redmond Advance, which replies as follows, clearly to the effect that in its opinion the Spokesman itself is some pumpkins at lying:

The following article which appeared in last week's issue of the Spokesman and is branded as false by Mr. Springer except as to his endorsement by the "Advance" being gratuitous, is also false when it states that the person boosting him said the "dope" was paid for. The editor of the Advance made no such statement. The Spokesman's article with Mr. Springer's denial follows:

"Mr. Springer, democratic candidate for county judge, who is being supported for that office by about half a dozen people in Redmond, was here last week. He manifested surprise that his candidacy had been advocated in Redmond and said it was gratuitous on the part of the one boosting him. The person boosting him said the 'dope' was paid for. Someone is a liar evidently."

Mr. Springer's Denial. The above statement is false absolutely false, except as to the article referred to being gratuitous I did state that it was a voluntary endorsement which is also true as to the article appearing recently in the Deschutes Valley Tribune.

Signed, G. SPRINGER. Yes, some one is a liar, evidently.

Inasmuch as the Spokesman has said that The Bulletin is a liar, it need only be added that misery loves company.

DRY FARMING ARTICLES.

A series of articles that will be of great value to the settlers in the great dry farming area of Central Oregon begins in this week's issue of The Bulletin. By special courtesy on the part of Prof. Thomas Shaw of the Great Northern Railway, this paper has secured his permission to publish parts of his book, "Dry Land Farming," which was issued last fall. This is a very valuable work, being among the few excellent practical treatises written on this subject of such great interest to the West and to this part of Oregon especially, where hundreds of newcomers are taking up land, many of them inexperienced with farm life and practically all of them unacquainted with conditions as they find them in this region. Prof. Shaw has studied Central Oregon, and his book is therefore written from first-hand knowledge and is entirely reliable. Those portions of the work which are especially applicable locally will be reprinted from time to time.

During the last six months The Bulletin has printed numerous special articles on agricultural topics, many of them secured especially for this paper. Others besides these from Prof. Shaw will be secured, and farm news will at all times in the future, as in the past, be given a prominent place in the columns of The Bulletin.

In the October issue of the Chamber of Commerce Bulletin of Portland is the following announcement: "In the November Bulletin the editor will have some remarkable things to say about Bend, and the Central Oregon country, from personal observation." David N. Moessohn, the publisher and editor, was here in September as a guest of the Bend Park Company, on their special train excursion. He came a doubter. He left an enthusiast. A result of his conversion will be the valuable advertising promised in his paper next month.

Land was being cultivated in portions of Germany before Columbus discovered America, yet after the relatively short time in which land has been tilled in this country Germany produced last season twenty-nine and

"TELL IT TO THE GOVERNOR."

Down on the Isthmus of Panama they have a verse called "Tell it to the Colonel." Colonel Goethals, the head of the Canal army, gets every kind of complaint, reasonable and unreasonable, thrown at his head. A rapidly growing habit in Oregon makes it seem appropriate to perpetrate the following parody, "Tell it to the Governor":

If you have any cause to kick, or feel disposed to growl, If things ain't running just to suit, and there's a chance to howl, If you have any grudge stored up, or scrap to shuffle through, Just put it up to Governor West, like all the others do.

Bill Jones he played some poker, and lost six bits or more, So Bill he wrote the Governor, for he felt almighty sore. He'd tried to buck a jack pot, while the dealer, so it seems, Produced three first class aces, when Bill held only queens.

"Dear Governor", then wrote William, "I'm a pure and moral lad, An' the gambling that's progressing hurts my feelings awful bad. It seems to me, your duty, an' the principle at stake, Demand that you get busy and forthwith INVESTIGATE."

Then there's the case of Ruben, who came to town one day And had three drinks of foamy Schlitz which laid him on the hay. So Ruben, rather rocky, gets home and tells his wife That in an awful holdup he'd almost lost his life.

Then the Missus gets the habit an' grabs the nearest pen And writes a red hot letter about those wicked men, "Dear Sir", she asks the Governor, "Before it is too late, Won't you call out the militia, or at least INVESTIGATE?"

Mrs. Slobbs and Mrs. Dobbs are neighbors on a flat And Mrs. Slobbs calls Mrs. Dobbs a dirty this and that; Then Mrs. Dobbs reciprocates, and maybe both are right, But in the end the Governor 'll have to arbitrate the fight.

When such folks get to Heaven, if they ever do land there, How they'll criticize "conditions" and give the chilly stare To demoralized Saint Peter, when they find that angels wear Nothing much to speak of but the halos on their hair.

Then perhaps they'll all remember how they acted back at home And they'll call up West at Salem, on the celestial telephone. "Morals here," their wire will read, "Within the Pearly Gate, Are shocking. Look up Peter's bonds, and pray INVESTIGATE."

Don't hesitate to state your case, for West will hear you through; It's true he's sometimes busy and has other things to do, But drop a note to Salem and line up with the rest, You'll maybe feel some better with that grievance off your chest.

Half bushels of wheat per acre, while the average in the United States was but fourteen bushels. The difference in yield is due chiefly to the fact that the German has taken care of his soil, while we in America have skinned the land and made little or no return to it.

The tone of many editorial articles in daily and weekly newspapers and in numerous farm journals seems to make clear the fact that legislators who hereafter expect to be on satisfactory terms with their constituents will have to take more definite action on measures that vitally concern their constituents than that has up to the present time been understood by the phrase "careful consideration." The rank and file of people are getting sick and tired of this "careful consideration" type of service, which, translated into plain terms, means nothing more than studied neglect and stupid indifference.

COE SUPPORT STRENGTHENED

by Bend men and timber representatives. When asked if he knew anything much about the facts connected with the proposed timber deal, to which The Bulletin and Bend men objected,

Editor Pierson, of the Metolius Central Oregonian, stated that he was, as a matter of fact, very little acquainted with the details of the matter; his impression, upon which the charges were based, was that "the timber interests" and The Bulletin had and would oppose any cruise. He was told positively by the editor of The Bulletin, by Bend men and by the representative of at least one large timber company, that there was no objection to a cruise of the tim-

Oct. 30, 1912. Dear Friend: Last summer I wondered what they did with all the grapes. I know now they took them and dried them and made them into raisins. Raisins are mighty nice to go in a cake, and raisins and nuts are mighty nice to hand round when you want to spend a long time at the table talking. The best raisins cost 8 cts. a pound. Your friend, Jacob. P. S. You don't know what nice raisins and nuts and things they have at McCUISTON'S GROCERY ber. The objection which had been made, and would be repeated, was the peculiar manner of awarding bids, when the county tried to give the contract to the highest bidder, thereby neatly "soaking" the taxpayer for a few unnecessary thousands of dollars. When confronted with this statement Mr. Pierson admitted that "he had based his hostile article upon misinformation." That McFarlane favors the proposed timber deal, to which The Bulletin objected, and which has astonished the entire county by its apparent flagrant disregard for taxpayers' interests, is the impression left by the Central Oregonian article, and the evident source from which it emanated.

BIG SURPRISE TO MANY IN BEND
Local people are surprised at the QUICK results received from simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler's-ka, the German appendicitis remedy. The Patterson Drug Co. states that this simple remedy antiseptizes the digestive system and draws off the impurities so thoroughly that A SINGLE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation INSTANTLY.
