

FINAL RESULTS OF OREGON VOTE

AMENDMENTS AND BILLS THAT PASSED

Wilson's Plurality About 9000, Lane Beat Selling by 1423—Equal Suffrage Won by 3800—List of Amendments and Bills.

Among the amendments and bills passed at the election on November 5 are the following:

Amendment limiting state indebtedness for permanent roads to 2 per cent of assessed valuation of all property in the state. Under this amendment the Legislature has authority to borrow $19,812,000 and expend it in building and maintaining permanent roads.

Amendment limiting indebtedness of counties to 2 per cent of their assessed valuation for building and maintaining permanent roads and providing that debts for permanent roads shall be approved by a majority of the voters. To put this amendment into effect an enabling act of the Legislature is considered necessary.

Bill allowing state to employ convicts on roads.

Bill allowing county to employ convicts on roads.

With all but a few hundred votes in the state counted, the woman's suffrage amendment has a favorable majority of 3816. The final returns will place the majority for the measure, it is thought, in the neighborhood of 3800. The figures now are: yes 58,852, no 55,036.

Late returns have not affected the forecasts given on other measures. In addition to woman suffrage, the following measures have carried: repeal of county tax option, amendment doubling the liability of bank stockholders, public utilities bill, eight-hour law, two laws permitting employment of prisoners on road work, two road bond limitation amendments, bill exempting household effects from taxation and railroad rate bill.

The total vote cast for candidates for President was probably more than 125,000. The nearly complete count gives Wilson 46,323, Roosevelt 27,592, Taft 34,352, Debs 14,112, Chaflin 4828. It seems clear that Wilson's plurality will be about 9000. The socialist vote is a gain of more than 100 per cent over the registration.

Lane's lead in the senatorial contest over Selling is placed in the almost complete count at 1423 and his plurality over Bourne at 12,828. The incomplete totals are: Lane 39,519, Selling 38,096, Bourne 25,691, Clark 11,953, Paget 6166.

SOME POST-ELECTION FACTS.

The total vote cast in Oregon was 87 1/2 of the registration.

Wilson got nearly 9000 more votes than Bryan did in 1908.

Wilson got 12,310 more votes than the Democratic registration.

Taft and Roosevelt got 10,163 more votes than Taft in 1908.

Debs got 7537 more votes than in 1908.

Chaflin got 976 more votes than in 1908.

Debs got 8108 more than the Socialist registration.

Chaflin got 2773 more than the Prohibition registration.

BISHOP PADDOCK HERE AGAIN

Importance of Eugenics is General Theme of Sunday Talks.

The Right Reverend Robert E. Paddock, Episcopal bishop of the Eastern Oregon diocese, spent Saturday and Sunday here, conducting two services and renewing the many friendships he has with local men and women.

Sunday morning the bishop preached at the Star Theatre. Rev. I. I. Gorby, the Presbyterian minister, having turned his regular service over to the visitor. In addition to the usual service and the sermon, there was some special music, including a solo by Miss Arrie Black. Sunday afternoon, at the home of her parents, Margaret Wilson Allen, the two months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allen, was christened. The evening service was held in Masonic Hall.

The theme of Bishop Paddock's morning sermon, which took the form of an informal lecture more than a sermon, in the accepted sense of the latter, concerned the duties of parenthood and the great influence that men and women can have toward the betterment of world conditions through the improvement of the next generation. In his evening talk he further followed out the general theme of eugenics. After that he told something of the present Balkan war, outlining the history of the territory involved, giving a sketch of the countries at war, through which he had travelled extensively, and making a strong plea for American sympathy for the Balkan allies as opposed to the "unspeakable Turks."

High Priced Poems.

What is the highest price ever paid by a publisher for a poem? It would be interesting to know whether any advance has ever been made on the $3,000-$15,000 that Scott received for "Hokely." Stephen Gwyn, in his "Life of Moore," tells us that Murray offered 2,000 guineas for the copyright of "Lalla Rookh," but Moore's friends thought he should have more and, going to Longman, they claimed that Mr. Moore should receive no less than the highest price ever paid for a poem. That, said Longman, was £3,000, paid for "Hokely." On this basis they treated, and Longman was inclined to stipulate for a preliminary perusal. Moore, however, refused, and the agreement was finally worded, "That upon your giving into our hands a poem of the length of 'Hokely' you shall receive from us the sum of £3,000."—London Chronicle.

The Alps Will Be Washed Away.

The Alps, from a geological point of view, are very recent. The Welsh hills, though, comparatively speaking, insignificant, are far more ancient. They had been mountains for ages and ages before the materials which now compose the Alps or the Pyrenees were deposited. Indeed, we may say that it is because they are so old that they have been so much worn down. The Alps themselves are crumbling and being washed away, and if no fresh elevation takes place the time will come when they will be no loftier than Snowdon or Helvellyn. They have already undergone enormous denudation, and it has been shown that from the summit of Mont Blanc some 10,000 or 12,000 feet of strata have been already removed. Denudation began as soon as the land rose above the sea and the main river valleys were excavated.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Word "Lubber."

The word "lubber" is in "Italph Roster Dobster," circa 1550. Ill. 3: And where he is louted and laughed to scorn.

For the veriest doit that ever was born And the veriest lubber, sloven and beast Living in the world from the west to the east.

Tusser uses the word in "Five Hundred Follies of Good Husbandrie," 1580, page 131 (E. D. 8): For tempests and showers dooeth a man's merris.

And lingering lubbers loose many a penit. The word "lubbers" was in constant use in the sixteenth century and occurs at least twice in Uval's translation of Erasmus' "Apostoliques." At most 200 years before this Laughton told of the "grete lubbes and lounge" who were too idle to work.—London Notes and Queries.

Not For Fashion's Sake.

The criminal law of England was formerly marked by indelible severity. Theft of an article valued above 10 shillings was punished with death. In writing about "Sweet Hampstead and its Associations" Mrs. White records a pleasant thing of Lord Mansfield, who as a rule leaned to the side of mercy. It was Lord Mansfield who directed a jury to find a stolen jacket less in value than 10 shillings in order that the thief might escape capital punishment. To this the jeweler who prosecuted demurred, asserting that the fashion of the thing had cost him twice that money.

"Gentlemen," replied the judge, with grave solemnity, "we ourselves stand in need of mercy. Let us not hang a man for the fashion's sake!"

First National Bank of Bend, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. Earl B. Houston, May Houston and J. D. Rogers, defendants.

To J. D. Rogers, one of the above named defendants.

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit within six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, and if you fail to appear and answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in the complaint, to-wit:

For the cancellation and setting aside of that certain conveyance and transfer made by the defendants, Earl B. Houston and May Houston, conveying to you the N. Half of the N. E. Quarter and the N. E. Quarter of N. W. Quarter of Section 15 and the S. E. Quarter of the S. W. Quarter of Section 20, Township 17, South of Range 12, E. W. M. in Crook County, Oregon, as fraudulent and void against this plaintiff. That you account under the direction of this Court for all the property so received by you by conveyance from said Earl B. Houston and May Houston, and that you and each of said defendants be restrained from transferring or incumbering said property, and that said property be sold and the proceeds of said sale be applied to the payment and satisfaction of plaintiff's judgment as secured against the defendants, May Houston and Earl Houston on the 15th day of February, 1912 in the Circuit Court of Crook County, Oregon, for the sum of $985.38 and $10 costs and $105 attorney fees.

This summons is served upon you by publication by authority of an order of the Hon. H. C. Ellis, Judge of the County Court of Crook County, Oregon. Said order is dated the 29th day of October, 1912, and is duly recorded and entered in said suit.

Date of first publication, October 30th, 1912.

VERNON A. FORBES, Attorney for plaintiff.

If it's a Deere it's Right

Because its made right, by a force of skilled plow experts whose equal cannot be found in any other plow factory in the world. There are many different makes of plows, each claiming to be the best, yet the fact remains that three John Deere plows are in use to one of any other kind. The John Deere Factory, the largest in the world, turns out every year more plows than any five other factories combined.

Standard of the World For Over 60 Years

The Pioneer Plow Maker, John Deere, made his first steel plow by hand from the blade of a saw in 1837. The first slab of steel rolled in the United States was rolled for the John Deere plows by William Woods, of Pittsburgh, in 1846. And ever since those early days Deere Plows have shown the way and maintained the lead in this great national industry. Is it any wonder that the farmers of the world express their verdict in the familiar phrase,—"If It's a Deere—It's Right."

We make over 1000 styles of plows, each as good as it can be made,—the best that brains and perfect equipment can produce. No matter what your needs may be, we can supply them from our line.
