THREE TICKETS IN THE FIELD

NOMINATING PETITIONS ORDERED

Boyd, Putnam and Caldwell Mayor-City Candidates in City Election—Women Will Vote on Exactly the Same Basis as the Men.

A caucus to nominate municipal candidates was held in the Commercial Club room Saturday evening, with about 50 present. No women attended.

Hugh O'Kane opened the meeting by moving that a chairman be elected. Mr. O'Kane was nominated, but declined. In succession E. A. Sather, Clyde McKay, N. P. Smith, Clint Whitted, J. B. Miner, Sather again, J. H. O'Neill, Sather a third time and H. H. Davies were nominated but refused to accept. V. A. Forbes came in at this point and as he entered was nominated. He declined but was persuaded to serve.

Nominations were declared in order to fill offices at the coming city election. John Elkins suggested a recess of 5 or 10 minutes to accommodate business men, and a 10-minute recess was taken. Nominations for mayor were called for. Thomas Tweet nominated Charles Boyd and H. H. Davies placed the name of E. C. Caldwell before the meeting. The chairman asked whether one or more tickets would be nominated. O'Kane moved and Tweet seconded the motion that one candidate be named for mayor, three for councilmen and one for treasurer. H. J. Eggleston and Frank Kulp were appointed tellers. The vote resulted: Caldwell 9, Boyd 14, O'Kane 1. There were 12 blank ballots cast and many of the 50 present when the vote was taken did not cast a ballot.

R. P. Minter moved that it be called the citizens' ticket, and the motion carried.

Minter nominated O'Kane for councilman. He declined. Minter then nominated Jack Wenzandy. John Elkins nominated J. Edward Larson. O'Kane nominated J. P. Johnson, who declined. J. B. Miner nominated U. N. Hoffman. He declined. Tweet nominated Forbes, who also declined. O'Kane nominated George Brostehous and Tweet placed Clyde McKay in nomination, both of whom declined. John Elkins nominated E. A. Sather. Nominations were closed and Sather, Larson and Wenzandy were named by acclamation.

Elkins nominated Ralph Poindexter for city treasurer and he was named by acclamation.

Chairman Forbes explained the nominating method adopted by the City Council, and then adjournment was taken.

The method is that called for under the charter, which specifies that the general Oregon law be followed as nearly as practicable. Candidates will be obliged to present petitions signed by at least 3 per cent (approximately 12 electors) of the voting population, as shown at the November 5 election, accompanied by their acceptance of the nomination. These are to be filed with the recorder before 5 p. m. on Monday, December 2, and their names so placed in nomination will be printed upon the official ballot, which will be of the Australian form.

Petitions have been circulated and signed placing the following "business administration" candidates in nomination: For mayor, G. P. Putnam; for councilmen, H. E. Allen, H. W. Skuse and Sam Collins; for treasurer, H. J. Overdorf. A third ticket called the "Bend Ticket" is composed of E. C. Caldwell for mayor, Sam Collins, E. A. Sather and J. E. Larson for councilmen.

As many women appear to be in some doubt as to just how they may vote, the following information is given: Every woman who has been a resident of the state six months, in Bend 30 days, and is American born, is entitled to vote on exactly the same basis as men. That is, all they have to do is to go to the polls and cast their ballot. If challenged, they will be obliged to swear in their vote, just as men must. No registration is required.

TURKEYS LAY AT THIS SEASON OF THE YEAR

Mrs. A. W. Willard Places on Exhibition Half a Dozen "Democratic Eggs"—Price of Fowls High.

Despite the near approach of Thanksgiving Day, with what that occasion means among the turkey family, these fowls are showing themselves remarkable wealth producers, in the way of egg laying at this season of the year when eggs are in the greatest demand by the housewives. In the window of the Oregon Land & Immigration Company, Mrs. A. W. Willard, whose home is east of town, last week placed on exhibition six turkey eggs. They are labeled "Democratic eggs," having been laid since Wilson was elected President. It is considered a very unusual thing for turkeys to be laying this late in the fall, and some of those who have seen the display say the eggs are a sign of great prosperity during the Wilson administration.

Other turkeys besides those of Mrs. Willard are also reported to be laying now.

Ranchers who have raised these fowls this year are getting good returns for their money, they report. On the local market the selling price ranges from 15 to 25 cents a pound. J. B. Miner, who was out among the farmers last week, reports that on one ranch there were 69 fine turkeys which would average 14 pounds each live weight. There is a good demand for the fancy table meat and this rancher will probably be able to exchange his fowls for the next sum of $125.

GAME IN THE COUNTY.

According to figures compiled by Labor Commissioner Hoff at Salem, there are 50,000 deer and 930 elk in the state. Forest rangers and game wardens place the number of deer in Crook county at 1500, with the same number in Lake county and 2000 in Harney. Harney is credited also with having 10 mountain sheep. It is stated that Crook county has 90 antelope and 250 bear. The latter animal ought to furnish quite a deal of good hunting for the sportsmen who love excitement.

CHOOSE WOMAN JURY FOREMAN

MRS. CORKETT IS FIRST FEMALE JURIST

Smoking and Careless Use of Words Tabooed in Trial Concerning Calf, Wherein Dealy Gets Hossie and Davenport Pays Costs.

Yesterday afternoon about half of Bend quit work and adjourned to the court of Justice of the Peace Ward H. Coble, there to hear the fate of one small calf decided. But it was not interest in the hossie that specially attracted the listeners that heard the trial in the Commercial Club room. It was because this case of Dealy versus Davenport was the first in Crook county, and probably the first in Oregon, in which women participated as jurors. And not only was a woman retained as juror, but her five male co-jurors made her foreman—or rather, forewoman.

Mrs. Hattie Corbett was the lady foreman. Miss Mary E. Coleman and Mrs. C. D. Brown were on the original panel, but their services were not required. The other members of the jury were Theodore Aune, J. C. Rhodes, W. P. Vandeventer, John Heyburn and W. H. Staats.

The new order of things was introduced at the outset by Justice Coble, whose first case it was, by a graceful announcement that inasmuch as the fair sex was to participate, smoking would be tabooed in the court room. He also warned against careless use of language, a warning that had to be repeated on several occasions as the trial progressed, eliminating, or at least expurgating, some of the proffered testimony.

The case involved the ownership and the feed bill of a calf, originally the property of T. J. Dealy, which had been turned over to Lee Davenport to be kept during the summer. The trial occupied all the afternoon, and was well fought out by the opposing attorneys, V. A. Forbes for the plaintiff, Dealy, and C. S. Benson for Davenport. The jury retired about 5:30 and two hours later rendered its verdict, giving Dealy the calf upon payment of $15 for its keep, instead of an amount in excess of $50, claimed by the defendant, the defendant also to pay the costs of the trial.

COMAN TO LEAVE RAILROAD.

W. E. Coman, the present general freight and passenger agent of the North Bank and Oregon Trunk railroads, will become manager of the Northwestern Electric Company, the new light and power company that has invaded Portland. Mr. Coman is well known and well liked here, and his success as a railroad man is believed to assure greater success in his new work. His immediate subordinate in the railroad work is W. C. Wilkes, upon whom there seems reason to believe his former chief's office will fall. Mr. Wilkes is one of the most popular railroad men doing business in Bend.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE MARRY

IVA WEST BECOMES MRS. ELMER WARD

Pretty Ceremony at Lara Home Monday Night—Bride and Groom Make Honeymoon Visit to Centralia, Home of Ward's Family.

At an extremely pretty wedding Monday night, Iva Elizabeth West and Elmer Vernon Ward were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lars, Rev. J. I. Gorby performing the ceremony. About 100 guests were present, including many of the old time friends of J. I. West, father of the bride, who came from The Dalles to give his daughter away in marriage.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the ceremony was performed. First, Miss Black sang "Love's Coronation," and then, to the stately strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Eva Graves, the members of the bridal procession came down the stairs and took their places before Dr. Gorby at the south end of the big double living room, beneath a lighted bell of white chrysanthemums, with a gay string of colored electric light bulbs twinkling overhead and at the rear. Little Renée Shouse was the flower girl. Miss Marion Wiest was maid of honor and E. M. Lars, best man. The bride wore a gown of white musveling trimmed with pearls and charrmuse and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The maid of honor wore white organdie, with pink carnations. The Priscilla Club was master of ceremonies, the young ladies of that organization directing the progress of the wedding.

After the ceremony a collation was served, with the usual wedding cake for the guests to take home to build dreams on. In the midst of the festivities it was discovered that the bride and groom slipped away, despite the watchfulness of some guests who had planned a little fun to start them on their way. The bride's bouquet was thrown by her maid of honor and was caught by Miss Meda Castle.

A feature of the wedding was the attractive display of gifts received by the couple, including a large assortment of useful and beautiful articles. A pretty touch was added to the decorations by a quantity of pepper leaves, festooned on the walls, which were sent from California by Mrs. A. M. Drake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward slipped out of town on the train Tuesday morning. It is understood to make a trip to Centralia, Wash., the home of the groom's family. Upon their return they will make their home in one of the Wiest cottages. Mr. Ward has been a resident of Bend for several years, of late being employed with the United Warehouse Company. Mrs. Ward is the only daughter of J. I. West, one of Bend's earliest pioneers, whose declining health forced him to remove to lower altitudes about a year ago.

ROD AND GUN CLUB IS FORMED BY LOCAL NIMRODS

Sportsmen Organize to Enjoy Clay Pigeon Shooting—Will Work to Improve Fishing Conditions.

Thursday night a meeting of men interested in shooting and sport in general was held and an organization launched which will be known as the Bend Rod and Gun Club. About 15 men were present, all of whom listed themselves as members, while at least twice that number have signified their interest in the organization and will join it.

The immediate activity of the new organization will be confined to clay pigeon shooting. A couple of traps have been ordered and it is hoped that within a week or so the club's first shoot may be held. On behalf of the Bend Park Company, J. C. Rhodes has offered the use of the necessary ground.

The officers chosen are: J. N. Hunter, president; J. C. Rhodes, secretary, and Harry Skuse, treasurer. The membership fee was fixed at $2.50, and the board of directors may assess members not to exceed a similar amount in a year, should occasion arise. Membership is open to anyone.

It is hoped to have an organized shoot at Christmas or on New Year's Day, and perhaps a turkey shoot as well, for which invitations will be sent to Laidlaw and other sportsmen. In addition, a cup will also probably be offered. A committee composed of the officers is now drawing up a set of bylaws, which will be patterned after rules of similar organizations throughout the country. Later the club hopes to devote some effort to improving local fishing conditions, especially along the lines of getting trout planted in the Deschutes, and the better enforcement of laws protecting the fishing.

MUCH FUN AT SOCIAL

Presbyterians and Their Friends Have Enjoyable Evening.

The friend and members of the Presbyterian church spent a very enjoyable evening at Lara's hall Friday. The young people amused themselves by throwing bean bags through the eyes, nose and mouth of a very conical head cut for the purpose. Later post cards, which had been cut in pieces, were distributed and the cards were then matched. After correctly putting the pieces together, the parties completing a card were required to write a poem about the name of the apple which appeared on the back of the card. Two prizes were awarded, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Skuse, Miss Eva Huntington and C. H. Hunter winning the first, a luscious apple pie.

The teachers' glee club sang and made quite a hit. Pumpkin pie, doughnuts and coffee were served. The ladies chose their partners by stepping on the toes of the men, who were behind a curtain with only the tips of their shoes protruding.

The social was attended by a large crowd.

MONEY MAY BE PAID TOMORROW

BONDS WERE SIGNED SATURDAY

Upon Receipt of Funds, City Will Notify South Portland Crushed Rock Company to Commence Sewer Construction Work.

Probably by tomorrow the last act in the sale of Bend's $60,000 sewer bond issue will be completed, and the money will stand to the credit of the city.

The bonds themselves arrived here Saturday morning by express, sixty very elaborate and attractive examples of the lithographer's art. At a council meeting at 11 they were examined and passed upon, after which the mayor and recorder signed the batch.

By order of the council they were then turned over for return to Farson, Son & Co., at Chicago, being sent to the correspondent of the First National Bank of Bend to be handed over to Farson upon receipt of the funds. Immediately upon the transfer of the money, the Chicago bank will advise Bend by telegraph. With this assurance that the money is forthcoming, the city officials will then wire to the South Portland Crushed Rock Company, the contractors, directing them to get to work at once. Already several men have appeared in Bend with orders from the contractors to come here, showing that the latter are evidently ready to take hold at once.

In addition to the $60,000 of the bond issue, the premium paid by Farson, it will be remembered is $944. Accrued interest from September 1 to the date of the delivery of the money will also be paid, at 6 per cent. The city makes its interest payments semi-annually.

NEW SECRETARY COMING

Christian Endeavor Worker Will Visit Bend in December.

Bend is to be visited in the near future by H. H. He will be here Thursday, December 12, speaking in the evening. During the day he will visit among the young people for the purpose of ascertaining the possibilities here in the line of Endeavor work.
