CONGRESS WILL CONSIDER C. S.

SETTLERS ASSOCIATION FORMED

Plan Contemplating Active Management of the Segregation by Settlers and Financial Aid From State. Seems to Have Support.

One of the most important matters that will be considered by the irrigation congress that convenes in Portland tomorrow will be the affairs of the Columbia Southern Irrigation segregation, adjacent to Laidlaw, J. E. Sawhill, secretary to the Central Oregon Development League, and V. A. Forbes, Bend's Representative in the Legislature, will address the congress on this topic, and J. N. B. Gerking, with perhaps another Laidlaw man, will be in attendance.
The plan that will be urged by Sawhill and Forbes is, essentially, that which was outlined in last week's Bulletin, which has been approved by the settlers on the segregation.

Briefly, the plan contemplates the formation of an "irrigation district," meaning that the settlers themselves are to handle segregation affairs and complete construction. An effort will be made to get financial backing by the loan of state funds. Lands that can be irrigated other than those already possessing adjudicated water rights, are to be thrown open to settlement under the public land laws, giving contractholders preference rights in acquiring them.
Corporation is Formed.

Last week a settlers' association was organized at Laidlaw and application made for incorporation, with a capital stock of $5000. The shares are to be of $50, any owner of 40 acres or less being entitled to one share, but no one to be allowed to own more than two shares.
The association plans to ask the land board to turn the segregation over to it, or to lease it, the Kate contract having been abandoned a few days ago. The association contemplates changing the location of the present headgate and the partial reconstruction of the main canal, it being alleged that there is a waste of about 20 per cent of the water carried, and that this waste can be cut in half.

Outlook is Promising.
There is every indication that the proposal for the formation of the irrigation district will be met with favor by the Governor, Legislature and land board, and it also is probable that a scheme whereby state funds may be loaned for the financing of the project will be consummated. However, should such a scheme fall or a feasible alternative, agreeable to the men on the ground, not be forthcoming, it is Mr. Forbes' idea to urge that the entire segregation be cancelled, and all unoccupied land be thrown open to settlement.
Much of interest is expected to come up in connection with this matter, at the irrigation congress, and The Bulletin has arranged to have a special report of the proceedings, which will be published next week.

BRINGS BRIDE TO BEND
W. C. McCulston's Wife, a Tennessee Girl, Likes Central Oregon.
W. C. McCulston returned from Portland Sunday, bringing his bride, who was Miss Vivian Yoakum of Memphis, Tenn., whom he married at a pretty church wedding in Portland a week ago Sunday. The couple will live for the present in the house formerly occupied by "Mac" in Park addition, and later will build an attractive bungalow.
"Does Mrs. McCulston like Bend?" said the groom yesterday when asked how Bend compared with sunny Tennessee. "Well, indeed she does. She says it's the prettiest place she's ever seen, and is delighted with it."
Mr. and Mrs. McCulston spent ten days in Portland where they have many friends.

Resolved, to have a nicely furnished home.

Dear Amy:-
All of last year I went through without furnishing my home, but I'm going to say this: I owe a duty to my children, to give them a nicely furnished home, and I do feel ashamed when friends come in.
I have just been looking at some new furniture. They look so attractive to me that I bought lots of new things and ordered them sent right out.
Give my love to Bob and kiss the kiddies for me.
Always your friend,
Lou.

O. S.-I almost forgot to tell you I bought my new furniture from
