

MUCH FREE USE TIMBER

Forest Service Aids the Settlers on Homesteads.

From July 1 to December 31, 1912 free use permits for 126,000 feet, board measure, of timber were issued by the Deschutes National Forest officials to settlers on homesteads in Central Oregon. Most of these homesteaders live southeast of Bend from 20 to 50 miles. The forestry people also gave 44,000 feet for the erection of a church at Sisters.

Most of the timber given the settlers was in fence posts, poles and wood for fuel. It was dead timber mostly and was cut under the direction of the forest rangers.

The government has issued an order to forest supervisors instructing them to sell to settlers and farmers who reside on land adjacent to the reserves saw timber for use on their lands at the rate of 50 cents a thousand feet board measure. This is figured to be the actual cost of administering the sales by the government.

WAS NOT TAKEN TO JAIL.

John Clingan, who was in town yesterday from his homestead at Horse Ridge, stated that he was not arrested recently and taken to Prineville jail. He went over with Deputy Sheriff Wenandy to the county seat, he says, without a warrant having been served on him. A number of prominent citizens, including the county judge, told the prosecuting attorney that his record in the county was the best and he was told that he could return home and that if he was wanted further he would be notified by letter, he states. Mr. Clingan is an old time resident of Crook and recently fled on a homestead southeast of town.

A Legal View of It.

First Lawyer—I was looking over my boy's geometry lesson last night. I was quite interested in that proposition that the three angles of a triangle are equal to two right angles. Second Lawyer—That isn't very complicated. First Lawyer—No, but I was trying to think what a man could do if he had the other side of the case.—Puck.

Not Wanted.

"Excuse me," said the caller, "but do you practice medicine?" "Yes," said the doctor. "Then I must apologize for having intruded. I want somebody who knows his business. I can't let anybody practice on me," said the visitor.—Harper's Weekly.

Puzzled.

"What's the matter, John? You look worried."

"I can't make out whether this piece of paper I had in my pocket is a laundry ticket or a scrap from our amplified spelling meeting."—Baltimore American.

BLACKFEET INDIANS IN GRASS DANCE ON BROADWAY.

Blackfoot Tribe Performs in Honor of Women Along Street.

New York, March 20th, 1913. Broadway was treated to an Indian dance yesterday when Big Top and ten Blackfoot Indians, here to see the sights in connection with the Second Annual Travel and Vacation Show, performed in honor of the women along the "Gay White Way." To music of tom-toms they danced for several minutes in front of the office of the Great Northern Railway which furnished them a special car from Glacier National Park reservation, Montana. The above picture shows the Indians camped on the roof of the Hotel McAlpin, living in tepees and cooking their food in pots, loaned them by Manager Boomer, who is entertaining them.

The Indians are in charge of "Big Jim" Shoemaker of Montana. They arrived in Jersey City Sunday and were brought to New York on the ferry. At the first sight of the skyscrapers Chief Three Bears, who is 80 years old offered prayers. The band was awe-stricken.

Chief Big Top, the tribe orator, was asked what his tribe thought of the city. He likened the high buildings to mountains in Glacier Park.

Those in the band are, Big Top, leader, Three Bears, Medicine Owl and squaw, White Calf and squaw, Long-Time-Sleep, Fish Wolf Robe, Lazy Boy and Cecile Ground, 8 years old, the daughter of a Carlisle School student.

The band will be in New York for ten days in connection with the Second Annual Travel and Vacation Show at the Grand Central Palace, New York City.

THE BEND BULLETIN

Stop the Loss—Fires are Unnecessary

Brick is absolutely fire proof in any ordinary conflagration. Brick Buildings never burn, although they are sometimes injured by falling timbers or combustible interior woodwork.

A brick building is absolutely fire proof if wire glass is used in the windows and if burned clay floors are used.

An interior fire in such a building is confined to the room in which it originates; no outside fire can attack it.

The proportion of burned clay in a building construction measures its fire proof qualities.

Burned clay is the only building material that has been through the fire before you get it, in such a manner that it will resist fire. All combustible material is burned out or the brick before you get it.

WHEN YOU BUILD USE BRICK.
