GATHERING OF WARDENS IN PORTLAND

New Law Discussed—Trout Fry Due Here Soon—Car For Redmond and Prineville—China Pheasants to Be Brought in Also.

Deputy District Game Warden Clyde McKay returned Sunday from Portland where he had been in attendance on a meeting called by the state game warden, W. L. Finley, of all the district wardens and some of the local deputies of the state. The purpose of the meeting was to afford an opportunity for the men who are charged with the duty of enforcing the game laws of the state to get acquainted with each other and study the new game law and receive instruction in its interpretation.

Thursday afternoon Mr. McKay spoke on the desirability of training the young men and boys in proper respect for the law, pointing out the benefits to be gained by having them on the side of the law. It is only by training the young that the state can be sure of developing the proper sentiment toward game protection, and the best way of giving this training is by the example of the older ones in the community.

Mr. McKay expects the trout fry which he, in cooperation with the Rod and Gun Club, is bringing to Bend, to arrive about the middle of May. There will be a car for Bend and one for Redmond which will be divided with the Prineville district. By making a visit to Prineville he was able to arouse enthusiasm for the project there and obtain sufficient pledges of cooperation to make the plan successful.

Another plan of interest to the local sportsmen which Mr. McKay is working on is the bringing in of China pheasants. He is satisfied that in the region adjoining Bend on the north the conditions are favorable for the growth of pheasants and all that is needed to assure success with them is that they are brought in in proper treatment by gunners and farmers. It would be useless, as Mr. McKay points out, to bring the birds in and have every one go after them at once. They should be let alone for at least one season and he feels sure that local sentiment would protect them. All who are interested in bringing in pheasants and who would assist in caring for them if they were introduced are requested to communicate with Mr. McKay at once.

AT THE BEND COMPANY'S MILL

Personal Items and Other Notes of Interest.

George Hae has returned to work in the yard.

Al. Gove has brought out his runabout.

Galvanized pipe has been put in place of the box carrying shavings to the waste fire.

Nels Hagen and Ingvald Holt have returned from their trip to their homesteads in the Hampton Butte country.

On four evenings a week now the mill is running a quarter shift making thereby an extra day a week.

The daily cut of the mill now is about 50,000 feet. Before the evening shift was put on the cut had been brought up to 40,000 feet, or 10,000 better than ever before.

The increase in the daily cut has made so much more work for Carl Hagen, who sorts off the chains, that he has had to have a second helper.

The chemical fire extinguisher that has been kept in a room back of the planer shed has been moved to a more central location in a little shed in front of the mill.

HOMESTEADING DAYS.

I'm just a poor homesteader, that's all

Growing my crops in the summer and fall

My hardships are many, my enjoyments none

But I'll stick to the end, as others have done.

And I'll not give up trying and think it's in vain

For if I fail once I'll try over again.

I was born in the city where the newboys shout;

Where I used to work hard, day in and day out.

My shifts were long and my wages were low

And I had to dress fine to make a great show.

For if I did not my friends would be few

When you live in the city that one thing won't do.

But many are the people in the City of Bend

Who come to your call when you need a friend.

In jumpers and overalls, you're dressed up fine

They'll recognize you every time.

Encouragement like that makes a fellow feel sunny

And helps almost as much as a bunch of money.

COUNTY JUDGE URGES HONESTY

THINKS ASSESSMENTS ARE TOO LOW

Springer Says He Will Turn Light of Publicity on Boulders That Lie in Path of Accomplishing Advancement of the County.

The Bulletin has received from County Judge Springer a letter on the subject of taxation in Crook county, from which the following extracts are taken:

"A list of the percentages of the legal (the cash) valuation of the property of the various counties, furnished by Mr. Eaton of the State Board of Tax Commissioners, shows that the counties, with the exception of two or three, are determined to hide their resources, giving to the state board as little as 31 per cent of the legal value.

"The time was when, by making a low assessment, we escaped paying our just proportion of state taxes. Not so now, for the reason that the state tax board inquires into our methods and determines for itself just what percentage of our real values are represented on the roll; and regulates our state tax accordingly. If the county board gives only one-third of the value, the state will assess the railroad and telephone lines at one-third their value, so there is little chance to cheat the state or the railroads. Why then should we not tell the truth?

"If we are worth $100,000 and represent that we are worth only $25,000, we cut our financial rating by just that much. Better than trying to make the outside world believe fishy yarns as to our possibilities would be to tell the truth, and show that we have not $10,000,000 of assessable property in this county, but $20,000,000; and that our rate for the state, county, school and road tax is not 24 mills, but 8 mills. Such a truthful showing would be more valuable than any advertising we can do."

The judge's concluding sentence is as follows: "Here we may as well state that the county judge is committed body and boots to that system; if this article is faithfully delivered we will come again and turn on the searchlight of publicity on some of the boulders that lie in the path of accomplishing just such a glorious advertisement at the next session of the board of equalization."

DEAD MAN FOUND.

(Crook County Journal.) The remains of an unknown man were found five miles south of Redmond Saturday. The sheriff, coroner and health officer were notified and Sunday morning Dr. Belknap, District Attorney Wirtz and Coroner Poindexter left for the place designated.

The man had evidently been dead a long time. His remains were scattered in all directions within a radius of 100 yards. The coyotes had gnawed off the feet and hands and carried them away. There was not very much left to identify the man. What there was was placed in a sack and taken to Redmond and a coroner's jury summoned. Some of the witnesses thought the man to be one Robert Boyd, but could not say anything definitely. The remains were those of a tall man, who had red hair and was 35 or 38 years of age. The man's clothes were scattered around. He was evidently a laboring man. His undershirt had two holes in it that looked like bullet holes, but there was nothing sure about it. Nothing was found in the man's pockets of any value or that would help to identify him.

The jury brought in a verdict that "the man is unknown to us and that the cause of his death is unknown."

It will Be Ready in a Minute

As a matter of fact this wonderful little disk stove is ready to cook in much less than one minute from the instant you turn the switch. And you can cook on it practically anything you wish.

It is, perhaps, the most convenient and useful of the great variety of electrical cooking devices now within the reach of all, not excepting those receiving the more modest incomes.

It represents the genius of the "Light House Keeping Age" now opening to us—banishing as with a fairy wand all the nuisances of smoke, soot, disagreeable odors, and tiresome delays.

You cannot fully appreciate its many virtues until you actually use it. Come in and cook on the fine little G-E stoves we carry in stock and learn a lesson in little convenience.

Or, better still, take one home to try.
