

CATCHES GOLD IN CANAL

Fish Found Not By Newsie, Neither Knows He None Are Nigh.

There are fish stories that are fish stories and fish stories that ain't fish stories, and this is one of the "ain't" kind. If you doubt it ask Hugh O'Kane, ask Bill Brock, ask Conductor Cass, for the sub-irrigated details. Suffice it is to record here the bare irrigation ramifications and run the scale of the fish that escaped the flies that buzzed so earnestly around the Helm of the old seadog as he angled for the rainbows in the gurgling waters of the Central Oregon canal.

He came in, did this protege of Walton and O'Kane-ton, on the Oregon Trunk Thursday morning last. On that anti-stage coach he dispensed newspapers and novels and apprehended nickles. He wanted to angle; he had no license; there is a game warden that keeps a fishy eye on the dear Deschutes. But, confound O'Kane-ton, 'tis perfectly permissible to catch 'em in the canal, so he gets him a pole and a basket (exhibits A and B at Bend Hotel) and away he hies himself. Mr. Con, who had a license, would fish up the river and meet him at the headgate. Mr. Con did fish in the Deschutes but did not get up as far, quite as the headgate. But our hero fished from 10 to 3 by the clock, returned with his basket (as) full as when he set out. He guessed the water was too cold in the canal. He went to bed, slept and was going out on his run again when Alias Warden accosted him. "Twenty-five dollars," said Mr. Alias. "But, O'Kane-ton told me I could fish in the canal without a license," was the meek reply. "Very well, then I will collect the 25 from O'Kane-ton; you may go," came from Alias.

And it came to pass that for the second time this sublime summer season this canal has been fished in, with similarly successful satisfaction to the stout son of Erin. Selah.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT.
NORTH PORTLAND, Sept. 19.—Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1546, calves 62, hogs 2337, sheep 6462. The late cattle market manifested little if any change as receipts since the first of the week have been very magnificent and business very slow. Monday had another beef deluge which surpassed the record total seven days previous. The deluge has dulled the market temporarily and only in rare cases does a better steer price than $7.75 appear. The swine market was unsatisfactory from several view points. Total receipts were comparatively small, quantity not of the best and demand slow. The one real bright spot in the stock trade last week was the sharp advance in the ewe division of the sheep house.

ARISTOCRATIC BOVINES BOUGHT BY J. J. HILL

John C. Shaw is in receipt of a letter from his brother, Thomas Shaw, who is now in Europe purchasing thorough-bred cattle for James J. Hill, giving the information that many aristocratic bovines will be added to Mr. Hill's herd. The very best which can be found across the water are being selected, and the question of price is not entering into the matter to any great extent, as $2,000 has been paid for a bull and others are being bought at correspondingly high prices. The letter states that twenty-eight shorthorns and twelve Ayrshires have been purchased, and that the writer has visited many lands before buying the shorthorns, as he was determined to get only the best. He continues: "I am positive that we have bought the best herd of shorthorns that ever left England. The average price for them was $600, and for the Ayrshires, $350. One of the bulls cost $2,000, and was a 4-year-old at that. No one can tell me dual purpose cattle cannot be bred. The highest priced cattle in England are the dual shorthorns. Many give 10,000 pounds of milk per year, and at the same time produce the best of beef steers. I have seen twenty-two Oxfords and twenty-two Shropshire sheep, and Mr. Hill has cabled me to get three Angus bull, and I am starting tonight for Aberdeen, Scotland, to get them."

 Before returning, Mr. Shaw will visit Holland for the purpose of obtaining a herd of Holsteins, and from there will go to France to buy French dairy cattle, a breed little known in this country.

Mr. Shaw was for several years head of the agricultural college at Guelph, Ontario, and was afterward an instructor in the University of Minnesota. He is the author of fifteen works on agriculture, many of them being used as text books in the different colleges, and is designated by James J. Hill as one of the best—if not the best—agriculturalist in America.

WORK WELL ORGANIZED
 Representative of Beall & Co. Finds Tualupa Project Progressing Fast
 H. G. Danley, representing Beall & Co., the road, hume and machinery company of Portland, was here last week, spending a day examining the work on the Tualupa project at Laidlaw. His company recently landed the $27,000 contract for the 7000 feet of steel fluming which the state will install and which is the largest bit of steel fluming in Oregon.
 "I have been on a great number of large public projects of one kind and another," said Mr. Danley, "but I never saw one where there was more doing than on the Tualupa. It is being handled as well as any private job I ever saw, and vastly better than most. Engineer Laurgaard has a splendid organization and it looks to me as if every dollar was being made to do 100 cents worth of work."

Ranked at the Very Top
I H C Manure Spreaders
 DAVID RANKIN was a big farmer and he knew his business. He owned the largest corn farm in the world, about 35,000 acres down in Missouri. He devoted his life to the pleasant study and practice of right farming, and he succeeded mightily, for he made $4,000,000 in the business of farming. David Rankin said: "The manure spreader is the most efficient money-maker on the place."
 It's warm praise to be ranked above aliother farm machines, but the spreader deserves it. Soils rebel when crop after crop is taken from them, without return of fertilizer. Return every bit of manure to the soil. The I H C manure spreader will save you much disagreeable hard labor, will spread evenly, and will make one ton go as far as two tons spread by hand.
 You will find all styles and sizes in the I H C spreader line. They will cover the ground with a light or heavy coat, as you choose, but always evenly, up hill or down. There are high and low machines, with steel frames, endless or reverse aprons, but always giving best possible service. Tractive power is assured by position of the rear wheels well under the box, carrying nearly three-fourths of the load.
 Study the I H C spreader line at the local dealer's. Read the catalogues—write us.

Stop the Loss—Fires are Unnecessary

Brick is absolutely fire proof in any ordinary conflagration. Brick Buildings never burn, although they are sometimes injured by falling timbers or combustible interior woodwork. A brick building is absolutely fire proof if wire glass is used in the windows and if burned clay floors are used. An interior fire in such a building is confined to the room in which it originates; no outside fire can attack it. The proportion of burned clay in a building construction measures its fire proof qualities. Burned clay is the only building material that has been through the fire before you get it, in such a manner that it will resist fire. All combustible material is burned out of the brick before you get it.
