THE ELECTION.

The results of yesterday's elections held a double lesson. The first is in the shape of a rebuff to those who have ventured to misuse the referendum. The second is that the voters are qualified to ballot reasonably upon referendum measures, considering them solely upon their merits and in no wise being carried away into an adverse vote simply because those who engineered the referendums seemingly had started a negative sentiment.

The same verdict delivered at the polls is further indication that the referendum, like the initiative, will work out satisfactorily in the end, for the voters themselves have decisively rebuked misuse of the new power given them, while at the same time evidencing a healthy interest in the entire matter. In the future it will be more difficult to find support for a referendum against a good bill, it will be next to impossible to have such a referendum sustained at the polls, and, because the workings of the referendum (even if wrongly directed) have proved so simple, it will be extremely difficult for bills hostile to the public good ever to become laws without at least running the gauntlet of public opinion at a referendum election.

FERTILIZING POTATOES.

The good results which fertilization will produce is well indicated by what Frank May accomplished with potatoes in the Powell Butte country this summer. For those unfamiliar with what may be done in this direction the instance is worth recounting.

Last fall when Mr. May hauled a load of hay to Bend he took back a load of manure. He did it as an experiment mostly, really thinking the work wasted. The manure covered about two acres. He says that the land manured produced just twice as many potatoes as the unfertilized soil and that he believes the manure was worth $50 an acre to him. Hereafter he will manure all the land he can, with reasonable expense.

If it is profitable to haul manure nearly 30 miles, as did Mr. May, would it not be extremely worth while to take more care in saving and using all that is produced on every ranch?

No booklet more pleasing in appearance or businesslike in contents has been seen in Oregon for many a moon than the brochure just issued by State Game Warden William S. Finley, whose contest were described recently in The Bulletin. Mr. Finley's administration of his office should be a matter of congratulation to the sportsmen of the state and a relief to all who weary of the inefficiency and lack of interest too often coupled with state affairs. This summer Mr. Finley's department for the first time turned serious attention to Central Oregon. Let us hope that this will be continued, and, for one thing, that those promised but much-delayed trout fry for the Deschutes finally materialize—for Crook county, ranking fifth as a producer of angling license revenue, merits a vast deal of consideration on this head as well as on others.

It is amusing to note the glee with which newspapers in other towns "play up" rumors concerning extension of the railroads from Bend southward. Isn't it evident even to those who are, at best, jealous friends, that Bend will be benefited by a railroad outlet to California? Bend will be glad to see such a line. The pessimistic forecasters at home and abroad who figure out a decrease in our exclusive "territory" because of such a road should remember that no town was ever injured by having too many railroads. The more roads that come to it, and the more that lead from it, the more is it benefited. By all means let us desire railroads south, east or west—and let us be charitable to those who have none and pretend to be sorry for us at the prospect of more.

Howard Spining, an old Crook County resident and now owner and editor of the Star (Wash.) Register, starts his leading editorial last week in this wise:
"The eccentricities of such men as Judge John E. Humphries, of Seattle, and Judge Springer of Prineville, Crook county, Oregon, bring the judiciary into disrepute far more than is justified by the cause."

Assessor Foster seems to have the courage of his convictions. At all events, preliminary figures indicate that the 1913 assessment has come nearer to giving all sections of the county a square deal than any that has preceded it.

Deputy District Prosecuting Attorney Willard H. Wirtz of Prineville has had new honors showered upon him—he has been elected president of the county seat band.

BONDS BADLY BEATEN

representing one-third of the total vote—for five feminine ballots were cast. The light vote was due to the fact that the ballots did not arrive until 4:30 p. m. The returns stand: University, yes 13, no 2; new building, yes 12, no 3; sterilization, yes 6, no 7; county attorney, yes 13, no 2; compensation, yes 12, no 2; bonds, yes 12, no 2.

McKAY "AGIN" EVERYTHING.

PRINEVILLE, Nov. 5.—The returns from McKay precinct indicate it is a freak district. The voters there turned down everything but the county attorney bill, with the following vote: University building, yes 6, no 32; new building, yes 7, no 29; sterilization, yes 11, no 25; county attorney, yes 29, no 7; compensation, yes 11, no 25; bonds, yes 3, no 33.

TABOOS STERILIZATION.

PRINEVILLE, Nov. 5.—Prineville voters endorse all the referendum measures except the sterilization act. The road bond issue was turned down hard—154 to 69. Of the 233 votes cast, 75 were women. The returns follow: University building, yes 141, no 73; new building, yes 152, no 73; sterilization, yes 95, no 126; county attorney, yes 184; no 40; compensation, yes 170, no 51; bonds, yes 65, no 154.

METOLIUS "WET" AGAIN.

METOLIUS, Nov. 5.—The over-long dry farmer of the dry farming fields of Agency Plains again wears a smile, not to mention the local tapers. For Metolius is to be "wet" again. The vote on the option question was as follows: 18 for drinks, 12 for prohibition. The other vote was: University building, yes 22, no 3; new building, yes 19, no 5; sterilization, yes 13, no 14; county attorney, yes 27, no 2; compensation, yes 26, no 1; bonds, yes 18; no 9.

THREE EAST SIDE PRECINCTS.

PRINEVILLE, Nov. 5.—Returns from two east side precincts, Hat Rock and Lyle Gap, are as follows: Hat Rock—University building, yes 12, no 15; new building, yes 13, no 14; sterilization, yes 14, no 13; county attorney act, yes 21, no 4; compensation, yes 12, no 8; bonds, yes 4, no 22. Lyle Gap—University building, yes 33, no 8; new building, yes 29, no 10; sterilization, yes 20, no 21; attorney, yes 30, no 11; compensation, yes 33, no 7; bonds, yes 14, no 29.

An incomplete report from Lamona shows 29 votes against the bond issue and none for it. This goose egg for the highway occurs in the heart of the Springer balliwick.

INCREASES FLOOR SPACE.

To make room for increasing business, E. A. Sather is moving his dry goods department from his present store room into the one adjoining which was formerly occupied by A. L. French. A portion of the partition has been removed both in the front and in the rear, with the result of doubling the floor space. Mr. Sather will increase his stock in the lines he has carried and in addition put in a line of men's furnishings. R. B. Webb, formerly with the R. M. Smith Clothing Co., will be in charge of the new department.

SHOOTING MATCHES.

Instead of the shooting matches advertised to be held across the river the local gun club has taken the shoots over and will hold them on their grounds on the dates advertised by handbills. The Laddlaw Gun Club is invited to participate. Charles Carroll—Adv. 35p

ONE BLOCK EAST OF DEPOT
WHERE THE SUN RISES

Dr. Behrendt is now introducing the late Kryptok Invisible Bifocals and Toric Lense, which is without doubt the finest lense put on the market.

Perfect fitting glasses ground especially for weak eyes, astigmatism, near-sightedness, far-sightedness, reading or fine work.

I especially solicit complicated cases. My experience often enables me to give satisfaction when others have failed. My glasses cure headache, neuralgia, nervousness, tired eyes, aching eyes, styes, granulated lids, blood shot eyes, etc.

Remember this, my responsibility does not end until you have obtained the satisfaction you expect.

PARENTS SHOULD NOT NEGLECT THEIR CHILDREN'S EYES

For a pair of glasses worn for a few months will often enable a child's eyes to strengthen and fully develop, while neglect at this critical time will so injure the eyes as to make it necessary, sooner or later, for them to put on glasses and wear them continually.
