THE LAND OPENING.

Bulletin readers have had little enough information concerning the forthcoming proposed opening of forest reserve lands in the La Pine country. Therefore, the statement made by Mr. Hill concerning the entire matter, which is published elsewhere in this paper, will be of special interest.

The Bulletin is inclined to agree with Mr. Hill that, if those already on the ground who have prior claims to the acreage involved, shall receive first consideration and preference when the land is opened, then there is no feasible reason for opposing the lottery system which it is proposed to employ in parceling out the lands. It is, however, but common justice that such settlers as have already been on the ground and taken steps toward the acquisition of certain tracts should have every legitimate opportunity to get the land they are after, in preference to outsiders who come to the lottery, drawn, to a great degree, simply by the gambling instinct and the possibility of getting something for nothing.

Certainly Oregon's national representatives may be depended upon to see that the people of the La Pine country get a square deal in this matter. And it should be borne in mind that not only will those benefit who actually get some of the many good claims which it is understood will be thrown open, but also that the entire movement will be of very great benefit to both La Pine and Bend. The least of its immediate effects will be a very heavy travel to the territory affected, and as all of this travel will go through Bend, and nearly all of the outfitting of land-seekers will be done here, the profits to Bend will be of considerable moment, just as the ultimate settlement and development of the territory will also prove a great boon to this town as well as to La Pine.

THE ROAD PLAN.

A resident of Crook county for the last year has to rub his eyes and pinch himself before he can believe that he really is awake. Think of our county court actually becoming progressive and actually planning road improvement, and upon a big scale! Think of it, too, inaugurating a plan that has practical merit! It's almost too good to believe, and the skeptic is mean enough to insinuate that perhaps it won't happen, after all.

On the whole, however, let us hope it will. The general plan involved in the dispatch from Prineville printed elsewhere in this paper seems, on its face, an excellent one. Its working value, of course, will depend almost entirely upon the efficiency of the road masters. It is true that they will have great opportunities for misuse of funds and wastefulness. It is also true that the taxpayers as a whole will not relish the idea of the county court handling the expenditure of any such sum as $120,000 on road work, unless clean cut business methods are adopted and the public is favored with comprehensive reports of how and where the money is employed. However, if the funds are forthcoming, there is nothing to do but let the court spend them, insist upon a reasonable accounting and thank heaven that at last there is a prospect of getting some road improvement worthy of the name.

In passing it may be remarked that there is an element of humor in the situation now developing. Hitherto the Springer regime has been "agin" about everything that involved expenditure. Low taxes was the judge's cry. Now, forthwith, the administration appears as the champion of a big fat levy, and we strongly suspect that a storm of protest will be aroused in what hitherto have been Springer's strongholds, the "old time" agricultural districts. However, the cause is a good one, and if the method is fair, let us hope that the plan is pushed through.

An advertisement of a hospital in a Burns paper announces that there is "a doctor always in the hospital." What's the matter? Can't they cure the physicians, or is it that medicine is that healthful locality get so entirely out of patients (patients) that they suffer from nervous prostration?

Now that William Sulzer has been elected to political office again we suggest that he file a true statement of his campaign expenses at once.

BEST MARKET IN COUNTRY.

(Oregon Journal)
The North Portland market is today paying better net returns to shippers of livestock than any other stockyard market in the country. There has been an increasing movement of supplies to the yards this year, while practically all other stockyards of the country show a very serious decrease. This condition is due to the fact that not only are prices high here but the smaller freight charges from the interior, together with the smaller amount of shrinkage in transit, makes for larger profits. Both of these are big items to the producer. A few years ago this city was not classed as a sheep market. Today it is drawing supplies from a wider territory than ever before. It really has no competitor.

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY.

Among the new books which the Bend public library has recently received is the following fiction: "The Lightning Conductor," "The Circular Staircase," "The Man in Lower Ten," "Septimus," "Stella Maris," "A Maker of History," "Sydney Carteret," "Raucher," "Barnes," "Foggy in the Rain," "Mrs. Red Pepper Burns," "The Broken Halo," "Joyce of the North Woods," "The Story of Wartail Baxter," "The Lost Ambassador," "The Depot Master," "The Fortune of Oliver Horn," "The Iron Trail."

County Attorney Bill Received Largest Affirmative Majority—Sterilization Act Defeated Locally by 306 Votes—Complete Figures.

PRINEVILLE, Nov. 10. — Official count completed by County Clerk Warren Brown and Justices of the Peace Kennedy of Prineville and Charles Charlton of Powell Butte shows that as a result of the special referendum election held Tuesday, two of the referred measures were defeated in Crook county—the sterilization act and the new building fund for the University of Oregon—the road bonding proposition was defeated and the other three measures carried.

The largest vote cast was that against the road bonding proposal, though the affirmative majority for the county attorney act was the largest majority given any measure submitted to the voters. The county attorney act carried by a majority of 739, the road bonding proposal was defeated by a majority of 735, the compensation act was carried by a majority of 653, the university repair appropriation was carried by a majority of 101, the building fund was defeated by 117 votes and the sterilization act by 306 votes.

The figures for and against the various measures as shown by the official count were as follows: For the university repair fund, 899, against 735; for the university building appropriation 838, against 849; for the sterilization act 696, against 1002; for the county attorney act 1226, against 487; for the workmen's compensation act 1181, against 526; for the road bonding proposition 509, against 1244.
