GRIZZLY MOUNTAIN HAS TRAGEDY

Moonshine Whiskey Figured in Shooting Last Thursday Near Prineville Which Claims Two Victims—One Had a Wound in the Back.

PRINEVILLE, Nov. 10.—Crook county was the scene of a real Kentucky feudal battle some time Thursday night, when Felix Jones, a native of Kentucky, and generally known as "Kentuck," and Roscoe Brown engaged in a fight near Grizzly mountain, about 18 miles from here.

Jones had lived in this section about three years, and during that time had worked at J. W. Jones' sawmill. Brown came to this vicinity about a year ago and also worked at the sawmill. Soon afterwards he married a daughter of J. W. Jones. Brown was a hard drinker and of a quarrelsome disposition and seemed to be jealous of "Kentuck."

Thursday both men visited at a cabin occupied by Brown's brother-in-law and a family named Pinard, and all ate together, appearing to be on friendly terms.

Later "Kentuck" left for another ranch. That was the last seen of Jones and Brown alive.

Late that night several shots were heard but no attention was paid to them. Friday morning Pinard saw Brown a horse standing on a hill half a mile away. Going to it, he found the bodies of Brown and Jones lying 36 feet apart. Each grasped a rifle and each body showed one bullet wound.

Jones was shot in the back and probably lived but a few minutes. Brown was shot through the chest, the bullet piercing the heart and breaking the spinal column.

Near Brown's body were found two quart bottles of moonshine whiskey. Jones had quit work a day or two before and was preparing to leave for his former home in the Bluegrass state.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT.

NORTH PORTLAND, Nov. 8.—Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1145, calves 55, hogs 1901, sheep 4973. Although cattle liquidation has been a third less than total for same period last week, beef values have not been lifted appreciably, so demoralizing was the condition of the market ten days ago.

However, the decrease in receipts was the very panacea the trade needed, and while no general rise in the prices was consummated a few strong bids for an occasional load of prime steers or cows showed the underlying steadiness to the market. Monday and Wednesday were the only days which were factors in better prices. The remainder of the week's business was transacted in poor grade stock of which there was a large quantity. Generally the cattle market is steady to a shade firmer than it was seven days since, and the outlet for strictly prime steers and cows is better. Top quotations are steers $7 to $7.35, cows $6 to $6.50, heifers $6.50 to $6.75, calves $8 to $9, hogs $5.50 to $5.75. Depression hit the swine market late in the week but was not entirely unexpected. Portland has been 25c to 40c higher than other American markets for 10 days and has maintained strength up to Thursday of this week. Prime light hogs sold steady at $8.50 the first half, but buyers refused to bid that price at the close and tops were down to $8.20. Trade opinion is not so optimistic as the week comes to a close. Mutton and lambs sold strong and freely supported the high price range established a few days ago. Prime yearlings at $4.75, old wethers at $4.50 and ewes at $4.10 were sheep house features. Lambs were strong at $5.75. Receipts were comparatively light and demand exceeded supply. All prices steady and firm and trade brisk.

GOOD NEWS ITEM, TOO.

Three of the leading business men of the town were seen at church on Sunday, and The Bulletin is asked by one of them to record this as an item of news. And it is, too.

MONEY IN SPUDS.

A. D. Morrill brought in a load of potatoes Monday from his Powell Butte ranch Monday and took back a load of lumber yesterday. He sold his spuds for 90 cents a hundred and says that even at this price they are the best paying crop he knows of on dry land, which his is.

THEATRE TO RE-OPEN FRIDAY.

The Bend Theatre, as announced elsewhere in this paper, will reopen under new management with a special program Friday evening. Musical features will include slugging by Sam Jordan and violin and piano solos. W. Wolcott is the new manager and Harry Wyse will operate the machine.
