Governor Thinks Farmers Should Be Given Financial Aid To Drill,

To relieve dry farm homesteaders In Central Oregon of the n cessity of hauling water 10 or 12 miles to their homes, Governor West has recomfnended to President A. H. Averill of the Portland Chamber of Commerce that financial assistance be given in gests that as the work would be done in the public interest the coming Legislature should appropriate funds to reimburse any organization that would see fit to finance the undertaking. He offers convict labor to the drilling community wells. He sug-

Following the depression a week is the remarkable feature to the trade. Following the depression a week ago, Monday came forth with a veritable deluge of cattle and buyers prevented disaster by cleaning up the supply and relieving the congestion. Herefore, and a very poor demand rules. Killers got some good hay-fed steers at prices ranging from $7.00 to $2.40. $7.00 to $7.40 and cows $6.00 to $6.50. Hog trade was steady to firm during the entire period. Mon-day's run broke all records, the total being 2950 head. Receipts during Crook County.

The market closed a shade weaker with the best top hogs going at 8 cents. Mutton and lamb markets have maintained former price levels easily, especially for the choice grain-fed va-rieties. Prime wethers sold at $5.75 and ewes at $4.50, but medium quality was cut sharply. Fancy lambs were not offering freely, the best ones selling from $6.00 to $6.25 early in the week. Strictly choice grain lambs are quoted $6.50 to $6.75 at the close

A new uniform system of bookkeeping for all state and county offices has been inaugurated in Oregon. The last Legislature created a new law providing for the system of accounting and the state insurance commissioner was empowered to prepare ledgers, blanks, forms, etc., for its use, having until January 1 to complete this work and get the system started over the state. The system will cause considerable more work in all the offices and the supplies necessary for its inauguration require considerable expense by the
