Frank Baily was called to The Dalles Saturday evening on account of the serious illness of his sister.

J. A. Riggs was a visitor at the county seat Friday. He was accompanied home by the Misses Glad and Hazel Bayn and Viola Truesdale who visited the week end with home folks.

A good sized crowd gathered at the Wilson school house at 10 o'clock a. m. Saturday to listen to a talk by State Engineer Lewis. Also there were short talks by several others, including J. J. Ellinger of Redmond and Edw. Williams. Exceptions were taken to numerous remarks made by Mr. Lewis by persons in the audience and remarks too personal to be pleasant were passed at short intervals.

If Mr. Lewis votes with his convictions as stated here however, the average settler can expect no more, as in his talk he plainly stated that he discouraged all further sales of new land by the C. O. I. Co. until patents are secured for lands that are actually settled. There is to be a meeting of water users at the same place Saturday morning at which time a local organization will be discussed.

Frank Hayn, the former Powell Butte pioneer, came in from Portland Sunday for a visit with his son A. W. Hayn and family.

George Hobbs went to Bend Monday to be gone several days.

Earl Saunders was a Prineville visitor Monday.

Edw. Williams, the progressive young Powell Butte rancher, is preparing to accomplish results in hog raising the coming season. Mr. Williams who has 22 fine brood sows is building as many individual houses and pens at quite an outlay of money. The Williams herd is headed by all thoroughbred animals of the Durcup Jersey type. A hay and grain chopper or grinder on the farm is used to prepare the feed. Besides the 22 brood sows Mr. Williams has a large bunch of young stock and 16 head of bred gilts. So far this spring he reports exceptionally good luck at farrowing time.
