

TUMALO WORK IN FULL BLAST

CAMPS COMMENCE A BUSY SEASON

Progress Being Made at All Camps and Reputation for Past Efficiency Will be Outdone This Summer—Steel Flume Nearly in Place

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Laidlaw, April 6.—Camp 5 is expected to be the banner camp on the work this year in that the largest crew will be located at this place and a large portion of the machinery.

A dining room with a capacity for nearly 200 men at one sitting has been erected, where the reputation made last season by the Tumalo Project for the feeding of the men will be improved upon both as to service, quality and quantity.

A 30-ton steam shovel arrived at Deschutes Thursday, the 2nd which is being taken to Camp 6 for use in connection with the construction of the dam there.

The steel flume for the feed canal has already been delivered to the work and is very nearly all in place. There still remains to be built a few minor structures on the feed canal and then it will be ready for the running of water.

Camp No. 5, though somewhat smaller than Camp 6, claims the reputation of being the best camp on the work, including the best cook, the best timekeeper, the best superintendent, best engineers and best mule team.

Mr. Laurgaard left on the evening of the 2nd for Portland for a conference in connection with the Tumalo Project matters. On March 31st and April 1st Messrs. D. C. Henry, Consulting Engineer of Portland and C. M. Redfield Chief Engineer of the Central Oregon Irrigation Co. at Deschutes, acting as consulting engineers, made a second investigation of the dam site, there having come to light some matters of great interest to the Tumalo Project which had developed since their last inspection of the work and it is expected that the supplementary report of this board will be of considerable interest.
