

HILL TO INVADE CALIFORNIA?

RUMORS ARISE FROM GRANTS PASS

Likelihood That Road From Bend May Be Continued Southward By Way of Southwestern Oregon—Hill and Harriman in Fight?

According to an account in the Portland Oregonian, activity in Hill railroad building is a thing to be expected. This time the road, it is rumored, will pass through southwestern Oregon, enroute from Bend to California. Grants Pass people own a railroad survey south to Crescent City in California, and report has it that this property is now sought by the Harriman and Hill interests. The Oregonian says, in part: Southern Oregon residents are convinced that J. J. Hill is seeking invasion of that district. The presence of Judge Burke, of Seattle, there last week and negotiations started by him for the purchase of the line between Medford and Jacksonville are considered the initial steps of Hill to construct an extension of the Oregon Trunk line through Southern Oregon, west to the coast, thence down the coast to San Francisco the ultimate objective point of Hill's invasion of California.

That Hill plans to enter California there is no doubt and the question is between two routes from the present terminus of the Oregon Trunk at Bend. The tier of counties in the southern part of the state west of Lake county, vastly rich in resources, including timber, fruitgrowing, stockraising, farming and mining possibilities of almost unlimited proportions, have favorably impressed the Hill interests. That route probably will be selected instead of the route through the eastern part of California to San Francisco.

Battle for Road Pending.

Dr. Reddy, promoter of the Grants Pass-Crescent City line, now is in San Francisco. It is reported that the Southern Pacific is quietly carrying on negotiations with Dr. Reddy and that they are forced to show their hand in order to forestall the apparent activity of the Hill interests.

church in the evening to everyone. Goldie Cannon of Portland has started to school in the eighth grade. Other new pupils are Robert and Donald Cannon, and Lester Carden.

FREIGHT BUSINESS HEAVY.

Unusually heavy freight business has been the rule of the Bend station for some time past but all recent records were broken on Monday when 17 cars came in. Two of these contained emigrant's movables and the others merchandise, hay, grain and other supplies. The passenger business has also been heavy, due doubtless to the incoming flow of settlers for the recently eliminated forest lands.

SPRINKLING CONTRACT LET.

Three bids for the street sprinkling contract were opened at the meeting of the council last night, the Wendland Livery Company offering to supply a man and teams to do the work for 49 7-8 cents per hour, Anton Aune for 48 cents and J. M. Judd for 45 cents. After considerable discussion as to the equipment and experience of the different bidders the contract was let to Aune. The council committee was instructed to take action at once to improve conditions at the cemetery, a petition having been received asking for this. The only other business related to the payment of bills.

"WITH HAIR TO MATCH."

The latest thing in hair arrangements has recently arrived in town and is being shown in Mrs. McInish's Wall street window. It is a wig. It is not, however, the ordinary sort that is used to cover a head devoid of hair. This new one, instead of going over the hair you haven't got goes over what you have and the reason for being is to enable the wearer to carry out a complete color scheme. For years the matter of hair has been a cause of great difficulty among those who took thought as to their dress. You might get a complete outfit of hat, suit and shoes in, say blue, and then suddenly realize that your red hair spoiled the whole effect. The new style saves the situation for all you need do is get some blue hair and the color arrangement is complete. The wig in the window is green but it is understood that all colors are available. In the foregoing "you" refers to the ladies.

GUN CLUB SHOOT.

The score in the Sunday shoot was as follows: Frank Dibble, 23; C. R. Kurrie, 23; C. S. Roberts, 20; H. W. Skuse, 20; M. D. Knutsen, 20.

CREAMERY WILL BE IN ICE PLANT

Company" was adopted as a tentative name for the organization, it being impossible under a recent state law to use the word "co-operative."

La Pine Farmers to Enter.

On Saturday Mr. Roberts and J. A. Eastes are going to La Pine in the latter's car to sign up the farmers in that region who are coming into the organization. A committee of La Pine men are busy this week getting in touch with the cow owners around there and simplifying as much as possible the work to be done Saturday.

This committee was appointed at the meeting of the La Pine Commercial Club on Friday night attended by over 20 Bend business men at which the plan was explained in detail by J. P. Keyes. As a whole the meeting favored the idea as a means of developing the country on dairying lines and providing a good market for the farmer's cream, the only apparent objection coming from Mr.

Alphonse Aya, who while disclaiming any thought of objections to a creamery in Bend, was somewhat insistent on being shown why it would not be better for the La Pine farmers to market their cream in Redmond. So far as the actual ranchers and cow owners were concerned the answer to this seemed to be that they were not so marketing their cream at present and were practically unable to do so because of the difficulties of transportation and expense.

The meeting ended, as already indicated, with the appointment of a committee to work with a representative from here procuring subscribers to the company, and pledges of cream from ranchers who did not wish to subscribe at the present time.

The Bend delegation at the meeting consisted of: J. P. Keyes, R. Ferrel, J. A. Eastes, W. W. Faulkner, J. E. Engstrom, H. C. Ellis, H. Latham, C. W. Erskine, H. A. Miller, H. W. Skuse, C. I. Rosell, J. C. Rhodes, H. H. De Armond, R. H. Gould, C. V. Silvers, Ward Colby, H. M. Smith, C. L. Mansheimer, H. W. Sawyer, T. H. Foley, P. Domett.

The Saturday Luncheon.

The luncheon last Saturday at the Wright Hotel was attended by about 60. Little occurred beyond a general discussion of the creamery and a report of the La Pine meeting. The luncheon next Saturday will be held at the Bend Hotel.

GARRISON GIVES BOOKS.

Indicating his interest in the creamery project, P. C. Garrison recently offered to pay for any six books on the subject of co-operative creameries, and after consultation with the librarian of the Portland Public Library, six titles have been chosen by Robert H. Gould and Mr. Garrison and the books sent for.
