

AN ENGINEERING FEAT.

Building a Railroad Across the Ice and Against Time.

Along the Copper River valley lies a standard gauge railroad, 191 miles in length, the building of which was filled with romance. Its construction is regarded as a distinct feat in world's engineering.

The false work of the bridge was laid on the ice in winter. Men were hired to work night and day. M. J. Heney, the contractor, the man who built another "impossible" road across the mountains from Skagway, and his chief engineer, E. C. Hawkins, conceived the idea of using the river ice for the bridge scaffolding.

As the spring approached hundreds of men were kept busy every minute of the day and night, for if not completed by the time the ice burst all the work and material would have been lost.

The ice went out, carrying the false work with it, less than an hour after the spike was driven in the connecting span and the work was completed. The bridge cost $1,400,000. — "Alaska, an Empire in the Making," by John J. Underwood.

AN UNUSUAL AMOUNT OF PAINTING DONE THIS SPRING.

"Everything comes to those who hustle while they wait," seems to be the motto adopted by our energetic merchants, Bend Hardware Co., for they have certainly been hustling this spring.

In backing up their excellent advertising in the columns of The Bend Bulletin their handsome window displays have proved most effective. According to a conversation with one of our reporters there has been an unusual amount of painting done in Bend, Oregon, this spring. That's a sign of prosperity, we're glad to see.
