GOOD POTATOES WILL BE IN GREAT DEMAND

THIS SECTION SHOULD RECOGNIZE THE BEST MARKETABLE POTATO AND PLANT ONLY THAT KIND—COUNTY AGRICULTURIST GIVES ADVICE ON IMPORTANT SUBJECT

(By County Agriculturist A. E. Lovett.)

The past three years have proved to the farmers of this section that potatoes can be successfully grown here. With even poor cultivation and attention, we have been able to produce a good yield on our lands. The great problem has been that of getting the potatoes to a good market and getting the price for them. The great mistake that we have made in this section is in not recognizing the best marketable potato and planting and growing that kind. Western Oregon is today buying their potatoes from Utah, shipping them into their towns through California simply because the farmers in Utah know what is wanted and produce and soil that kind of potatoes. The market demands a potato smooth and uniform and weighing from seven to eight ounces. The pink or blue potato may be all right for our home trade but they are not in demand on the market. In order to sell on the larger markets, we must produce the size, shape and color those markets demand. To grow potatoes that will sell, we must plant that kind of potato. To get a heavy yield, we must plant potatoes from heavy yielding hills. Save the best hills in the field for seed and don't part with them at any price. If you can buy better than you have, do it, but now is the time to save or buy your seed. If we raise the potatoes demanded, we can sell them.
