JEFFERY HERE LAST NIGHT

Candidate for Attorney General Discusses the Prohibition Amendment.

Following the county division meeting last night, John A. Jeffery, candidate for attorney general of Oregon on the Democratic ticket, addressed the audience. He had heard the division talk that preceded his speech and prefaced his remarks with an expression of approval of the division movement.

A large part of Mr. Jeffery's time was taken up with a discussion of the "dry" amendment to the constitution to which he turned after discussing his qualifications for the office he seeks. He frankly stated his opposition to the "dry" movement and presented the arguments against it in a forceful manner. At the close of his speech local advocates of the amendment engaged in discussion with him.

In conversation with local men after the meeting, Mr. Jeffery said that if elected he would use his influence for the settlement of local irrigation questions.

SISTERS FAIR GREAT SUCCESS

time and not allowing the time to drag for the audience.

Agricultural Exhibit County's Best.
The agricultural exhibits covering both irrigated and dry farm products were a surprise to all who saw them. Cloverdale with her general exhibit consisting of almost everything from well developed peanuts to the hardier grains and grasses is especially deserving of praise for the amount, variety and arrangement of the display. Melons, corn, tomatoes, grains and grasses from dry-land homesteads is convincing evidence that the soil of western Crook county stands high in agricultural possibilities.

The collection of needle-work placed on display by the ladies of the west side is believed to have been the best ever exhibited in Central Oregon, and proved an interesting center of attraction to all visitors to the fair. The display included many valuable articles that would prove prizes to many of the larger fairs.

Indians Add to Attractions.
About 150 Warm Springs Indians were in attendance throughout the fair and contributed much to the attractions. A number of special races were put on each day in which they took a prominent part and in which they were often winners. Their war dances held every night attracted large crowds and proved an interesting feature of the fair.

A section of the exhibit that was of more than ordinary interest, especially to those interested in education, was that devoted to the exhibit of the Crook County High School of Prineville. Education and county and district fairs are fast becoming more closely connected. The success of many of our fairs being due to a great extent to the efforts of the school children.

Band Furnishes Good Music.
The Sisters Cornet Band is especially deserving of much praise for the excellent music furnished during the three days of the fair, and the fair association as well as all lovers of music feel very grateful to the members of the Bend band who voluntarily came to Sisters and assisted with the music on Bend day.

F. L. Shaw, president of the Sisters Fair Association, is entitled to the greater part of the credit for the success of the fair. Without him it is doubtful if Sisters would have succeeded in staging such an event for many years to come. Mr. Shaw, assisted by Mrs. Shaw, during the past several months, have been untiring in their efforts to make the first annual fair held in Sisters a glowing success. When the opposition forces seemed to be gaining and defeat was staring the enterprise in the face Mr. Shaw stuck bravely to the field knowing that he was in the right and determined to prove to all that great things are possible even under the strongest of adverse conditions.

ALL NAMES NEXT WEEK.
Next week The Bulletin will print the complete list of prize winners at the Sisters Fair. In this issue only special prize winners are listed.

Blouses for Boys

LOOK for the LOOP

(Pat. Feb. 7, 1911)

THE STANDARD BLOUSE OF THE WORLD

FITS any boy at once and stays so—does away with all buttons on a band too often buttonless—no dangling drawstrings—the only practical solution of the waist adjustment ever invented. Fabrics are sun, tub and rub proof, exclusive in patterns and weaves. Styles are original, novel, practical. The LOOP device is pulled out until the hem fits the waist perfectly, tied in a tight double bow, then again tied, out of sight to remain until the blouse is worn out.

not only agreeable but profitable. "It is the purpose of some of us to have the Commercial Club give them a dinner while here and impress on them the advantages of shipping via Bend and trading and banking at this point.

"We have kept them posted for the last three weeks as to the buyers, when they would be here, etc., both by letter, telephone and through the Silver Lake merchants. As a result we have received three new, desirable accounts from the advance payments made them.

"It is hoped everyone in Bend will co-operate in this matter and that our merchants will make their prices that are right.

"This business is worth thousands of dollars to us annually and we should cultivate it."
