

Stupendous Palace of Horticulture, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, 1915

THE Palace of Horticulture of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is the most striking architectural triumph ever created for any Exposition. Whether the sweep of the Exposition's 635 acres is viewed from the distant hills or from a nearer view, this commanding edifice attracts early attention and admiration. The great dome is the largest hemispherical glass dome in the world. It is 185 feet high and has a diameter of 152 feet. It is crowned by a mammoth basket. Surrounding this dome are the spires that give the Saracenic influence, and these are of a marble whiteness and surrounded by beautiful sculptured figures of young women. In a general way the palace follows the ideas incorporated in the mosque of Sultan Ahmed I. The decorations and rich ornamentation have the French renaissance feeling. The numerous smaller domes that surround the building have latticed work, where rare vines and flowers will bloom to give added beauty to this building typical of plants and flowers. The extreme length of the palace is 600 feet and the width 300 feet.

Lofty Colonnades of the Superb Court of the Four Seasons, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, 1915

THIS photograph faintly portrays the beauty of the arches that stand between the Court of the Four Seasons and the Western Venetian Court. While it truly presents the attractiveness of the architecture, it cannot even hint at the beauty of color tones. The pillars shown in this photograph are of verd antique bronze, the background of imitation Travertine is of ochre hue more than half the height of the arch, and the upper portion is of Pompeian red, with touches of orange and copper green in the ornamentation. Inside the arches the ceilings are of cerulean blue, and bas-relief in white shows scenes typical of the seasons. The square wall surface at the left of the picture shows where one of many mural paintings will be placed. Looking through the arch, a part of the Court of the Four Seasons may be seen. Closer inspection shows a verse from Spenser and below it the signs of the Zodiac. The world is to be given something new in the system of courts at the 1915 Exposition, and each one is to be a revelation in modern construction. The Exposition will open at San Francisco on Feb. 20, 1915.

Yes, Williams, I'll Tell You Why I Won't Invest in Your Enterprise

YOU'RE located in the wrong town. Closed seventeen saloons last Spring, the first institutions to come across with their taxes. You voted yourselves out of those good funds, and what has it got you? Practically a dead town.

You tried to deprive men of their personal rights. You told 'em they couldn't drink beer, even moderately as they had been doing. Men who couldn't even get beer in respectable beer saloons, got unlimited quantities of cheap, stronger drinks in the countless blind pigs that your blue laws created.

Those orderly saloons were the Liberty Hall of many workmen who sought an hour's relaxation, amusement, fellowship. To them, they were what a club is to you and me. Naturally, denied the privilege of drinking an occasional glass, they skulked to the convenient speak-easies and became law breakers.

There you are, Williams. None of my money for a town that clamps down the lid—not on intemperance, but on business and sobriety.
