ENFORCE THE LAW.

There is a provision of Oregon law making the erection of guide posts mandatory at every crossing of public roads.

Here is exactly what is said in Section 6317 of the Oregon Laws:

Every supervisor shall erect and keep up at the forks of every highway and every crossing of public roads within his road district a guide or finger board, containing an inscription, in legible letters, directing the way and specifying the distance to the next town or public place situated on each road, respectively; provided, that the road supervisors shall not be paid after submitting their report to the county court until they have shown to the satisfaction of the court that the provisions of this section have been complied with.

Under those provisions we believe there probably is not a single road supervisor in Crook county who is entitled to his pay from the county court. And with our road situation as it is we believe that the court would be doing a real service to the public if it hereafter refuses to the letter this section.

There are many signs and sections of laws which are supposed to lapse and pass unenforced because they are patently obsolete or intentionally superseded or obsolete. For here is no such case. This is a workable and wise provision, and its enforcement would accomplish much for the good of the county.

We have a great number of crossings and forks, and it is safe to say that not half of them are adequately marked. Even residents are sorely puzzled when they wander far from home, and all of us who have traveled many miles of Crook county highways remember times when we have wasted hours through taking the wrong turning, because there were no directions given. For the stranger, our roads, for the most part, are a puzzle and a nuisance.

Such a condition is bad business. Aside from our own inconvenience and loss of time, it is folly to discourage auto tourists by such stupid inattention to their requirements. Instead of making travel here a hardship why not do all we can to keep them satisfied and send them on their way with pleasant impressions?

Legible, accurate sign posts at every fork and cross road would be a boon to the tourist and a satisfaction to the resident. They would cost a very few dollars. Further, they are required by law. The power is given the County Court to enforce that law very simply. Let us hope that the Court in its wisdom will notify all supervisors that hereafter the rule will be "No Signs, No Pay."

BRING THEM HERE.

The news report of the coming to Oregon of members of the House committee on appropriations should arouse the Commercial Club, and especially its Irrigation Committee, to activity. The purpose of their visit is to see the government projects which have been receiving funds and are now well along to completion.

Undoubtedly the projects which will be actively seeking assistance are those in Central Oregon which were so prominent last winter. It would be a good thing to get the committee here to see these projects for themselves.

Two real estate men whose specialty is fruit land were overboard talking in Portland. They were discussing religion. Said one: "I believe in Heaven, but I don't think there is any such place as Hell. I didn't think so until lately," said the other, "and now I do. If there isn't a Hell where has business gone to?"

Incidentally there is plenty of unoccupied room in the Oregon building at the San Francisco exposition. Why not have a representative exhibit from Central Oregon?

Southwestern Oregon is to have a new railroad. Cheer up! That shows there is some money loose, anyway. Central Oregon will be in the swim again soon enough.

Jack Johnson is down and out, so one phase of the race problem is solved. Now it remains to be seen what the Japs and Hindoos do to the Germans.

L.H. Arthur got $50,000 for being knocked out by Jess Willard. Most of us would be glad of the privilege at that price, no matter who the knocker.

It's tough to be poor, but there are compensating features. For instance, how many folks hereabout have been bothered by the income tax collectors?

Some pessimistic people are beginning to wonder if that pipe line to take the product of the salt lakes to the railroad is after all a pipe dream.

Baseball fans got busy again in Portland yesterday. Its time to begin figuring out whether Connie Mack can come back again.

In view of the company's activities along certain lines why not rename it the C. O. R. & N. Co.

Why not make that slogan, "The whole world needs the Portland rooster?"

There are, at least, no "pronounced" victories in Russian Poland.

BOARD APPOINTS REPRESENTATIVES.

SALEM, April 12.—(Special).—The State Land Board today appointed its representatives as follows: Jefferson county, O. A. Flores, of Madras; Harney county, A. W. Gowan, of Burns.

Try True Blue flour. Ask your grocer for it.—Adv. 30 ff.

WILL FURNISH SIGNS.

At the Commercial Club luncheon on Saturday the automobile road committee reported that it expected to receive road signs from an auto tire company soon. Those will be placed at all cross roads in this section. Mrs. Aristene Falls, president of the state parent teacher association was present and made a few remarks. The luncheon next Saturday will be at the Cozy restaurant.

SISTERS TO ENTERTAIN.

A country side meeting in the interests of the Sisters Fair Association is planned for Saturday, May 1, according to Robert Z. Davis, of Gist, president of the association, who was in town on Monday. The plan is to hold the affair on Squaw Creek near the town of Sisters, and the members of the Bend and Redmond Commercial clubs and the Tumalo Development League are to be invited. Lunch will be provided by the Sisters people and there will be speaking by representatives of the Bend, Tumalo and Redmond delegations.

COYOTES ARE DYING.

The rabies epidemic is having its expected result among the coyotes in the homestead country, according to reports brought in by travelers, and a noticeable lessening of their number is already apparent. As an example of the effect of the disease Charles K. Haines of Imperial reports that while on a two day surveying trip recently, during which some nine miles were covered, 11 dead coyotes were found on the line. This was in the section south of Imperial and not far from where Elmer Douglas was recently bitten by a rabid coyote.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Pine Forest Irrigation Co. will be held at the Arnold school house, Township 18 S., R. 12 E., W. 4 E., at 7 p. m., Friday, April 23, 1915, for the purpose of providing for the diversion of water from the company's canal at other points than those now provided for in the company's by-laws and to provide for the measurement and apportionment of water. W. F. McNaught, President. —Adv. 6c.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD.

The Oregon Journal quotes a Portland salesman as follows: "In the Deschutes county the outlook is good. This section looks better than I have ever seen it. There has been a big increase in the acreage sown and the grain is in fine shape. Everyone is looking forward to this being their most prosperous season."

TUMALO DANCE.

The Tumalo Irrigation dance will be given in the Agricultural hall at Laidlaw, Friday evening, April 16. Ladies of the West Side will serve refreshments. Music by Mrs. McLaurin and Joe McKay. Tickets for dance 75 cents.—adv.

BENNETT ASSIGNS.

F. A. Bennett has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors to S. T. Hill of Seattle. H. D. Rushong, of Seattle, representing the assignee, arrived in town on Saturday. According to Mr. Rushong creditors will probably be paid in full.

STRAYED.

STATE ORDERS DOGS MUZZLED

CROOK IS INCLUDED IN QUARANTINE

Spread of Rabies in 11 Counties to be Checked—State Livestock Sanitation Board Takes Precautions—Sheep Dogs Go Unmuzzled.

(The Oregonian.)

SALEM, April 13.—To prevent the spreading of rabies, the State Livestock Sanitary Board, at a meeting held here today, issued an order placing 11 counties under quarantine. It was announced that the disease had been communicated by coyotes to horses, dogs, cats and other animals in eight counties in the eastern part of the quarantine area. The counties included in the quarantine are Lake, Harney, Crook, Baker, Umatilla, Malheur, Wheeler and Union, where rabies prevails, and Multnomah, Clackamas and Jackson, to which it is feared the disease may be spread.

The order requires that all dogs, unmuzzled, used in herding livestock be muzzled. State Veterinarian Lytle, who attended the meeting, said that all violators of the quarantine would be punished to the fullest extent of the law, the penalties being fines from $50 to $100 for each offense. Mr. Lytle announced that all peace officers would be called upon for assistance in enforcing the order. The veterinarian declared that conditions were especially alarming in Lake county, rabid coyotes and dogs running the range in large numbers. He said that many cattle and a number of persons had been bitten there.

We shall try to get the city authorities of Portland to enforce the order there," continued Dr. Lytle. "It will require that dogs be muzzled, and, when on the street, in leashes. The board will see that it is enforced in Multnomah county outside the city."

"Stock owners have suffered severely in eastern counties. The situation is especially hard for the poor homesteaders, where some of them have lost their only cow through being bitten by a hydrophobic coyote or dog. Even cats are becoming afflicted with the disease and are being killed by the fear-stricken owners."

This order of the Livestock Board will serve to supplement the city ordinances in force in Crook county towns. Up to the present time dogs outside of the cities have not been muzzled due to the county's inability to act.
