WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1915.

A LAW IGNORED.

Under the above title The Oregonian comments on a recent editorial in this column as follows:

"The Bend Bulletin calls attention to a law (Section 6317, Lord's Oregon Laws) making mandatory the erection of plainly-lettered guide posts at every crossing of the public roads in the state. The law further provides that until such signs are properly placed the supervisor can draw no pay from the County Treasurer for any services rendered. Such signs must have upon them the distance to the next town or place on such public highway, with such other information as is necessary. The Bulletin says:

"Under these provisions we believe there probably is not a single road supervisor in Crook County who is entitled to his pay from the County Court. And with our road situation as it is we believe that the court would be doing a real service to the public if it hereafter enforces to the letter this section."

"Crook county officials are not alone in dereliction as to this law. Every road traveler can point to places in other counties where such signs are badly needed, but are not in evidence. In fact some road supervisors ignore the law entirely, much to the inconvenience and annoyance of travelers. Yet these supervisors have their bills audited and paid regularly by the County Court. Hence these officials are as guilty as the supervisors."

TREE PLANTING.

Activity in tree planting which has been noticeable around town recently should be kept up. Nature has been lavish in her tree planting here but we can supplement the work, to the beautification of the city and the pleasure of our residence.

Here is what Professor Beck of the O. A. C. says about what another Oregon town is doing in this direction:

"Standfield is one of the progressive towns of Oregon. The town is planned on progressive lines, all streets being planted with trees of uniform type and at equal distances apart. The town owns and operates a nursery in which thousands of young trees are being grown to use in plantings along the roads leading into the surrounding country. A wooded park is being planned for an area near the railway station and another park of native trees will probably be established on the school grounds. The authorities are working along a definite program progress being made each year. The results are carefully protected by city ordinances and public sentiment, and a man is employed continuously to care for the trees—and incidentally to act as city marshal."

RABBITS AGAIN.

The effort to get rid of coyotes is becoming more far reaching. Now the State Health authorities are enlisting the co-operation of the Federal experts, who appear to have plenty of money to spend for this sort of good work.

Let us hope they do co-operate and that the coyotes, mice and rats, get exterminated. But by all means remember that as the coyotes go the rabbits may be expected to increase. That already has been pointed out, and, as The Bulletin has stated before, there is a good law whereby the county may obtain financial aid from the State in combatting the rabbit pest. If Crook county will put up $250, the State will match the amount. It seems to us most desirable that this small contribution to an important work be made. And we believe that if one county takes it up others will fall in line, so that a lot of first class rabbit destruction will be accomplished.

Good work was accomplished in getting the fish hatchery. Not only for the town but for all Central Oregon it will be a most desirable asset. Now that we are assured of having continued good fishing in the Deschutes by all means let us co-operate in preserving it by aiding in the enforcement of the game laws, and also in spreading the reputation of our sport, so that more and more visitors will come to enjoy what we have to offer.

The "spring drive" of the Allies against Germany is commencing. If the driving proves easy it seems probable that Italy will decide to join the drivers. After the others have pretty nearly pulled the chestnuts out of the fire it is a good time to get on the band wagon and claim some of the fruits of victory.

The business men of Bend and the farmers of the adjacent country are to be congratulated on the continued interest in the Saturday luncheons of the Commercial Club. The get-together meeting is an admirable institution, and will be even more important in the future as the town grows.

We have a salmon day, an orange day, an olive day, an apple day, a raisin day and a corn day. Doubtless there are others too. But while we are at it why not declare a prosperity day and then try to make it stick?

That suggestion, Gentlemen of the County Court, about adequate signs at cross roads is worth hearing. It will cost you nothing to enforce the law, and it will accomplish a lot of real good for all the country.

The optimist thinks times are ripe when the pessimist calls them rotten. Just at present conditions are "rotten" enough all over the country, but we firmly believe that never before were they so ripe for Bend.

Governor Withycombe's advice, as per his recent speech at Salem, is to "stay on the farm." It's good counsel, but if the Governor had followed it to the letter, how could he be in the Executive Office now?

Governor Withycombe still believes in horse flesh, despite the gasoline rage. And he chose a Central Oregon product when he selected his saddle animal.

Republican victories are becoming the order of the day throughout the country. Signs of the times.

Newport has nothing on Bend when it comes to tennis matches; at least anyone near the courts Saturday will agree to that.

Oregon's National Guard is showing signs of increased "efficiency," which is most desirable.

"To mill or not to mill;" that's not the question, but "How soon."

"Bend, the place in the sun."

DAVIS VS. GOLIATH, JR.

Hard Fought Tennis Match Settles Dispute as to Skill.

Differences of opinion, it is said, make horse races. They also cause tennis matches to be played, as was evidenced on one of the local courts Saturday afternoon when an embryonic banker and the city "park commissioner" met to settle a slight dispute as to their relative skill. That their skill was only relative was apparent early in the match, being all when compared with that of the Crook county champion.

In defense of the contestants it should be stated that the match was arranged by friends, being in no wise based on what each one thought of the playing of the other. During the three sets necessary to settle the affair victory hovered first over one side and then the other, finally settling down all out of breath next the park expert. It was the Bible story all over again with Davis the conqueror and Goliath, Jr., biting the dust.

Following the big show a short concert match was played by A. M. Pringle and V. A. Forbes.

WILL MAKE ICE CREAM.

Having received all the machinery the Central Oregon Farmers Creamery will begin the manufacture of ice cream in the next few days. Local subscriptions for the assistance of the creamery in taking up this new line amounted to $250 and are now being paid in.

A CORRECTION.

P. Lehman states that he has not given up his blacksmith shop and rented the Riley ranch for stock raising as reported in the local columns of The Bulletin last week. The item was written on good authority but without verification from Mr. Lehman.
