ITALY'S NATIONAL GAME.

Morra Is Played With the Fingers and Is Older Than Chess.

We are apt to look on marbles as the most economical of games, but "morra" is perhaps the most economical game in the world, for it demands nothing but a pair of bands.

The players each throw out the right hand, with a number of fingers extend ed. Then each has to call "five. "three," "eight," or any number that he considers equal to the number of un gers extended by himself and his opponent added together. In this lies the test, for an old hand can divine by the very turn of his opponent's fingers how many he is going to extend Whenever a player guesses the right total in any throw he counts it on his left hand by folding in a finger of that band. It takes nine such correct guesses by one player to make a game

This game is proscribed by mw if practiced in public; bence the devotees betake themselves to alleys and by ways. From the stleare of these regions there comes the tell tale bowling of the raucous players. As game suc seeds game, and the wine they play for is consumed, the play becomes more intense, the cries more boarse and loud, so that one would imagine they were dogs barking.

No game is older than this even must yield the paim for antiquity-and yet it is as popular and as primitive today as when first played on the banks of the Nile.-Strand Mag-
