

THE FEBRUARY WEATHER

Month Sees Back Bone of Winter Broken—Temperatures Rise.
February saw the end of one of the most severe winters experienced in Central Oregon in many years. After the first few days of the month low minimum temperatures, cold days and stormy weather were succeeded by a milder and more pleasant brand of climate. For nearly two weeks spring seemed to be here and although, toward the end of the month, winter seemed to set in again, it was not the severe sort of the earlier season.

The lowest temperature in the month was on the night of the 4th when 1 degree was reached, the highest was 64 degrees on the 14th and the 15th. The mean maximum was 47.2 degrees, the mean maximum 26.1, and the mean 36.6. The greatest daily range was 33 degrees on the 2nd and the 17th.

The precipitation for the month was .57 inches and the snow fell 8 1/2 inches. Clear days were in the majority, there being 15, as against 13 partly cloudy and 1 cloudy. There was an unusual amount of night fog during the month.

The daily temperatures and character of day were as follows:

PUBLIC ENEMIES.
By Nance Shonquest.
If you build a line of railway over hills and barren lands, Giving lucrative employment to about a million hands; If you cause a score of cities by your right of way arise, Where there formerly was nothing but some sage brush and some flies, If when bringing kale to others you acquire a little kale, Then you've surely robbed the people and you ought to be in jail.
If by planting and by toiling you have won some wealth and fame, It will make no odds how squarely you have played your little game; Your success is proof sufficient that you are a public foe, You're a soulless malefactor; to the dump you ought to go; It's a crime for you to prosper when so many others fail; You have surely robbed the people and you ought to be in jail.

Be a chronic politician, deal in super-heated air, Roast the bank and money barons, there is always safety there; But to sound the note of business is a crime so mean and base; That a fellow guilty of it ought to go and hide his face. Change the builders song triumphant for the politicians wail, Or we'll think you've robbed the people and we'll pack you off to jail.

H. J. Chenoweth announces his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner this week. Mr. Chenoweth has been a resident of this county for a number of years. Since residing in the Grandview country he has been quite active in irrigation affairs and was especially active in the organization of the Suttle Lake Irrigation District. He was elected as a member of the Board of Directors and chosen president. He takes an active interest in public affairs.—Deschutes Valley Tribune.

The Bend spirit is manifest in the manner in which that town is urging the voters to support the measure authorizing the city council to issue $30,000 in bonds to purchase terminals for the Strathorn railroads. Practically the entire business population of the town is behind the movement and with such support there is no question but the bonds will be authorized by a large majority of votes.—Crescent News.

The great amount of land opened for homestead entry in this vicinity, and that to be opened, makes the establishment of a commissioner's office necessary at this point and efforts are being made to have F. W. Tomes appointed.—La Pine Inter-Mountain.

The interest stirred up by the attorney-general on the county seat question published in a recent issue, has practically subsided, and is generally considered to have added nothing especially new to the situation. The law touching the matter is so incomplete that it has been generally conceded for some time past that a decision of the courts would be necessary to straighten out the tangle. So far as is understood locally, it
