

BEND BLOWS UP; LOSES IN NINTH

PRINEVILLE TAKES 7-3 GAME

Bend jumped into lead in the 8th inning, but visitors start whirlwind rally in the ninth, scoring five runs and win game.

That proverbial Jinx just stuck around the diamond on Sunday and made himself as conspicuous that Prineville walked away with a 7 to 3 victory against Bend after the home team jumped into the lead in the eighth inning with some of the keenest base ball that the Bend fans ever watched on the local diamond.

The ninth inning Bend starts gave the Prinevillians an opportunity to cross the Bend border on foot. Prineville gave the home side a pellet an awful pounding just after Stover muffed and batted a fly on the second base line.

If you will bear with a little retrospection it happened like this: Yancy popped a little fly in Stover's direction. Stover insisted in playing foot ball with the spheroid, hence the error recorded against him below; Clark walked; McCall, who had undergone several embassments at the hands of Tetherow, drove a clean hit out in the Kulp-Hudson vicinity and the sun being low, the ball was eclipsed by old Sol and Kulp lost it; Howman, who in the sixth inning had pounded out a double, struck out; Estes began the one ring circus with a clean single, scoring Yancy; Horton booted Burdon's fast grounder and Clark came home; McCall scored on Johnson's overthrow to O'Donnell; Sam Ellis, who had not seen first base the entire game was thought to be of little danger, but to the contrary, he lifted a high fly to center field, scoring both Burdon and Estes. Just this little sequence of events was disastrous to Bend to the extent of five scores for Prineville on two hits, and three errors by Bend.

Play Good Ball to Ninth.

Up until the ninth inning the fans were getting a taste of good base ball from both aggregations. Prineville did not hit until the third inning and up until the seventh had not record more than one hit to the inning. Horton was the first bendite to touch Clark for a single and only three others connected sufficiently with the ball to be put in the same class. Five hits is all that Clark has against him in this game. It was not that Tetherow was not working well that the game was not won. He did work in fine shape, but the support given him as about the poorest that Bend has displayed this year. Eight errors, three of which came from Clow on third, tell much of the story and three in the ninth spelled disaster to the Bend base ball ship. Just when Bend looked as though it was coming into its own after Kulp hit a hot grounder down the center field for a two bagger scoring Horton and Tetherow, did the smashup come about. Kulp was the first to score for Bend. He was hit by a pitched ball in the seventh and was scored on Stover's drive.

Prineville is Stronger.

Prineville played better ball all the way through than Bend. Only two errors against eight for Bend, help bear out this statement. The infield work was better, and good outfielding was almost unnecessary, for Bend did not hit up to standard. Clark's 80-degree or better curve was a fooler. He has no steam to speak of, but the bendites could not connect "at the end of the rainbow." Lister, behind the bat, plays baseball just as he plays football—all the time hard and fast—and there were few steals on his peg. Estes, on short, is the best juvenile short stop that ever set his pedals in a cleated shoe on the local diamond.

Burdon, out of his position at first played good ball, getting 14 put outs. The Prineville infield plays fast ball, but it is not to be questioned that in some instances about the second bag a little white washing is needed before this opinion can be made to cover the entire infield. The tactics of Ellis, on second, are far from being above reproach, and a little polite hawl out by the umpire yesterday would have been justified. Otherwise the Prineville infield has it on Bend.

Weakness Shown Up.

Sunday's game displayed that Bend is woefully lacking in the rudiments of inside base ball. This once a week turnout certainly is not productive of a winning base ball team. Consistency is lacking, as is good team work. Prineville plays harder against Bend than any other team in Central Oregon and the weaknesses of the local organization are shown up with these two town teams contest. One fan in the stand yesterday said: "Let's get together and play a little base ball and a little action between battles will do it."

By Sunday's victory Prineville is the better team by three to one.

Notes on the Game.

Count that base ball game lost when the low descending sun was in the fielders' eyes.

A little more snap around the Bend first sack would make things look a little better in the "assist-column."

Stover was a bit surprised when he pulled his mitt in and found that he had grabbed off Lister's hot ringer liner going in the direction of the Pine with Zappelin speed.

Lister fahit all the time. He fought for every foul ball that was tipped from a Bend out.

Old Sol had lots of fun fooling the Bend outfield.

Why not start the games in Bend at 2 o'clock instead of 3 o'clock?

Quite a sum of lucre went to the Prineville itching palms.

The band selections were most appreciated and added a little zest where base ball didn't, especially in the ninth inning.

The color of the grandstand roof (red) had a fighting effect upon the Prinevillians.

One might think that one was in a hammer factory the way the knockers in the grand stand made their presence known.

There was a noticeable absence of fanettes. Base ball is a clean game and good, wholesome recreation and the ladies' presence is desired.

Ten Prineville rooters can display more spirit and make more noise when their team is in a pinch than a whole regiment of Bend supporters.

Games now stand: Prineville, 8; Bend, 6; Bend, 4; Prineville, 3; Prineville, 4; Bend, 3; Prineville, 7; Bend 2. Who's next?

MARKET REPORT.

NORTH PORTLAND, June 19.—Cattle receipts fairly heavy although not as heavy as last Monday, about 1100 head being on the market. Quality in the main was anything but choice. Good steers were steady with best selling at $8.25. Californias brought $8 on down for rather inferior offerings except for well finished cattle the market was slow. Nearly 4,000 hogs saw a higher market today. Tops were again at $8.25 with bulk going a good nickel to a dime higher than last week's close. Market closing strong. There was a very sizeable run of sheep today—nearly 3,000 head. The market was not strong. Lambs sold steady but other sheep were weak. Lambs are quoted $9 to $9.25 for best quality.

WAITING FOR TERRA COTTA.

Although work has ceased on the site of the new Central Oregon bank building at the corner of Wall and Oregon streets the preparation of material for the building is proceeding rapidly, according to J. M. Lawrence, who was here last week, and the building itself will soon be under construction. The terra cotta, which will cover the outside of the building, has to be manufactured especially from the completed plans. This manufacture has been going on for several weeks now, and as soon as completed, work on the building will begin.
