

THE DESCHUTES RANGER

FOR JULY

The frontispiece of the Deschutes Ranger for July, just issued from the local supervisor's office, is a view of the Paulina Peak lookout station taken in 1914. At that time the station was a rough shelter, while a stunted tree whose top was reached by a ladder, formed the look out point. The peak is now provided with a house and a stationary and accurately oriented Osborne Fire Finder. The lookout according to the Ranger, can be said to have reached the second stage of development. Ultimately such primary lookout points will be provided with glassed in lookout towers and the tower itself will be the living quarters of the observer.

Extracts from The Ranger follow: A new policy is being established by the Forest Service in bringing action against trespassers in range matters. The old policy was to bring action against the owner of the stock when trespass occurred, but under the present policy action will be brought against the man directly responsible for the handling of the stock. A case has recently been closed where Barney Parks of Harney, Oregon, a camp tender in charge of a band of sheep, was arrested and fined $50 for willful violation of his sheep grazing permit.

Within the present exterior boundaries of the National Forests, the service favors the acquisition of lands now privately owned but suitable and desirable for National Forest purposes. Also, where the lands are immediately adjacent to a Forest and their inclusion within the Forest would make as good or better boundary line and increase our area of timber producing land without adding to the cost of protection and administration, the acquisition of such lands is desirable. In no case will the Service approve the acquisition of lands chiefly valuable for agriculture, whether timbered or cut over.

In acquiring such privately owned lands it is preferable to secure them in exchange for unreserved unprotected areas. It may be possible to acquire scattered cut over timber lands within a National Forest in exchange for solid blocks of unreserved grazing lands, the consolidation of such grazing lands outside the Forest making them more desirable for private use than the cut over timber lands in their scattered condition inside the Forest. In this way a lumber company may exchange its holdings for lands which will find a ready sale to stockmen.

One of the established policies of the Forest Service is the development of unused range and following the lead of the Washington and District offices, this forest is sparing no effort in endeavoring to develop the dry range in the Fort Rock country. The fruit of our efforts so far will insure the use of the range along the extreme eastern edge of the Forest in the Hemstad valley region. J. E. Hinton of Shaniko will run 1920 head of dry ewes on what can probably best be designated as the "Fox Butte" range. This experiment on the part of Mr. Hinton to utilize the dry range will be watched with considerable interest on the part of several other interested sheep owners.

Supervision. Forest officers of the Deschutes are once more requested to consider fire prevention, detection and suppression work their chief activity. No other class of forest service work will be permitted to interfere in the least degree with the work of forest protection.

During the early part of July some six or seven train loads of sheep were counted from the stockyards in Bend. This is a departure from the usual custom of counting the sheep after they have entered the Forest and will save the rangers considerable time in traveling to and from counting corrals and save the herders and packers considerable extra trouble in presenting their stock for counting.

The Forest Service is having no little trouble in securing range for the sheepmen who find it necessary to hold their bands on the east side of the mountains until the snow has sufficiently disappeared from the mountain passes to permit the sheep to cross to their allotments on the west side of the Cascades. The snow is unprecedentedly deep and it is believed that considerable range will be lost to sheepmen this season through the failure of the snow to recede from the higher portions of their habitual allotments.

Owing to the lack of sufficient travel funds which will enable Ranger Ed Mahn and Guard C. C. Mahn to work on the proposed west side Davis Lake road and Davis Creek Bridge the protective force in the Davis Lake district is engaged in extensive station improvements. A division fence has been placed across the pasture; some time has been spent in slashing the encroaching Jack Pine, which threatens to reduce the carrying capacity of the pasture. Also, Mr. Mahn is getting out material for a tool house and wagon shed. The past results accomplished by Mr. Mahn in such lines of work insure that the present structure will present an exceedingly neat and attractive appearance and will be built in a thoroughly workmanlike manner.

Not to exceed $20 from the improvement fund will be diverted for this purpose.

"That National Forests contain 1200 watersheds which supply cities and towns with drinking water. Forty per cent of the population of Oregon and Washington derive their water from this same source."

"Fourteen million head of cattle and sheep of all ages are pastured on the National Forests annually."

"That wild burros in the Grand Canyon of the Colorado are increasing rapidly" is the report from a ranger on the Tusayan National Forest, who says that the little animals, in their search for forage, are finding their way to the top in such numbers as to constitute a nuisance. According to the Forest ranger, there are thousands of the animals in the Grand Canyon."

A Woman's Kindly Act. Mrs. G. H. Eveland, Duncey Mills, Ill., writes: "I was stricken with lumbago, brought Foley Kidney Pills. She had been similarly afflicted and they cured her. I was cured by three bottles." If the kidneys do not function, lumbago, rheumatism, aches, pains, are apt to result. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

LOVETT'S SUCCESSOR NAMED.

(Spokesman.) M. O. Evans, assistant county agent leader, was here yesterday and informed us that R. A. Blanchard, now at Great Falls, Montana, had been engaged for Crook county to succeed A. E. Lovett. We have known of Mr. Blanchard and his work for several years and often thought he would be one man who could make good as successor to Mr. Lovett. He is an Oregon man and wants to return to the state.
