REDMOND MISSTATEMENTS.

It is difficult to discuss division with The Redmond Spokesman, because that paper so continually misstates the facts on which its argument is based. We prefer to look on these misstatements as unintentional because we do not like to believe that our friend in Redmond would distort the truth to gain a political advantage. And yet, if they are unintentional, it is almost worse for The Spokesman, because if it owes any duty to its readers and community it is to know what it is talking about before it begins to talk.

On August 17 The Spokesman, in an effort to avoid responsibility for its town for the division movement fathered there six years ago, said that "six years ago it was the law that the legislature created new counties." As an effort to explain it was a poor one because the Redmond division movement of six years ago was carried out under the initiative, the petition being fathered by the Redmond Commercial club. The legislature had nothing to do with it.

Now comes The Spokesman and says that two years ago, "with all of Jefferson county to help a vote of little more than 50 per cent was cast for county division." That statement is as incorrect as the one about the legislature. The vote of two years ago, which was actually about 62 1/2 per cent out of the necessary 65, was all cast within the boundaries of the proposed Deschutes county, as is pointed out in a communication from a Sisters resident in a letter printed elsewhere in this paper.

This being so and with the local registration in excess of what it was two years ago by several hundred votes, does The Spokesman wish to modify its assertion that "This time, with that end eliminated, we can find no one to set the vote for the new county at anything like 50 per cent." And while we are asking questions, does the "new Spokesman," mentioned in the latest issue of the "old," expect to undertake a fight to make Pineville pay the road tax from which it is exempt in the same manner as Bend is?

REGISTRATION IS OVER

Local Precincts Show Total of Over 1500—Republicans Lead.

Registration for the coming general election closed on Saturday night following a rush on Friday and Saturday of electors who wanted to get their names on the books and avoid the necessity of swearing in their votes on election day. Although an exact record has not been kept of the registrations since the primaries by estimates and collected figures that the local officers, it is apparent from the number registered here since the last figures were announced is over 500.

In May the total registrations in the five local precincts, Bend 3, 4, 5, Kenwood and Deschutes, was 1922. The figures now collected make the total 1534. The Republicans lead in the figures having more voters on the lists than all the other parties combined. Besides Republicans and Democrats, there are represented Prohibitionists, Independents and Socialists.

BEND TO HAVE NEW HOSPITAL

Henry Linster Puts Up Building for Drs. Vandever and Edwards.

The Bend Surgical, under the supervision of Drs. J. C. Vandever and R. L. Edwards, will be opened to receive patients about November 29, according to Dr. Vandever. The building for the hospital is being erected by Henry Linster on his property on Wall Street, across from the Catholic church.

The hospital will have nine patient rooms and two wards and a modern operating room. A wide sun porch, a part of which will be enclosed, will be used for convalescing patients. The hospital will be opened to the general public, and will be equipped with the most modern surgical equipment.

BULLETIN ISSUES EXTRA.

This week, for the fourth successive year, The Bulletin, with the cooperation of local advertisers, is issuing every afternoon an extra giving the score of the World's Series base ball games and a condensed account of the play. This is distributed free on the street late in the afternoon. The teams playing this year are the Boston Americans and the Brooklyn Nationals. The first two games were won by Boston by scores of 6 to 5 and 2 to 1, and yesterday's game, by Brooklyn by a score of 4 to 3.

MERCURY GOES UP.

The "mercury" in the gymnasium thermometers at the corners of Wall and Oregon and Oregon and Bond Streets was boosted yesterday from $3,400 to $3,700 with the addition of $300 to the fund. Sketches of the proposed structure will be drawn sometime within the new week by architect Lee A. Thomas and as soon as they are completed the sketches will be sent to Fred Horstkotte, of Dion & Horstkotte, at Spokane, where definite plans will be drawn.

LUMBER PRICES RAISED.

At a meeting of the Oregon branch of the Western Pine Manufacturers Association in Portland recently the fact was brought out that the stocks of shop lumber in the various yards were very low. Prices have been advanced $1.00 per thousand. The general sentiment of those in attendance at the meeting was that conditions were very good.

CRITICIZES SPOKESMAN.

SISTERS, Ore., Oct. 7.—To the Editor: Will you kindly allow me space to reply to a recent editorial in the Redmond Spokesman. In its last issue the Redmond Spokesman make the absurd statement that two years ago with Jefferson county to help us, the question of dividing the county did not receive the 55 per cent necessary to carry the measure. He proceeds to draw the conclusion that now without Jefferson county to help us, we are doomed to defeat. The fact remains that over 60 per cent of the people of the present proposed Deschutes County voted for division, signifying their desire for a county seat more centrally located on the railroad and if the editor of the Spokesman thinks that Jefferson county in any way helped us to poll this majority, he is misinformed.

By publishing interviews from time to time with some of our local citizens, he has tried to throw broadcast the impression that nobody in Sisters wants county division. I would call the editor's attention to the fact that two years ago when this measure was before the people for their approval or rejection, there were 49 votes in this precinct cast in favor of it. There is every indication that these 49 votes are still here and I am sure that when the votes are counted, November 7, it will be found that they have multiplied.

The Spokesman editor writes as if he really believed the reckless statements he has been making. I attribute his errors to no desire to misrepresent and deceive, but to the fact that he is but newly arrived in the county and has been misinformed. Some of us are amused at the absurd somewhat nervous attempts on the part of the little town of Redmond and the Spokesman to run the whole country to suit their own selfish interests without any regard for the convenience or interest of any other community. We laugh at the frequent and foolish assertions that Bend is a hot air, selfish town, while they seem to think Redmond is the center and eternal abode of virtue. These intemperate ravings all go to prove the desperation of our opponents and the hopelessness of their fight against division. They are born of a false and foolish pride and I would respectfully call their attention to the fact that such "pride goeth before a fall."

which you cannot see from this point. This is another evidence of Bend's growth. This addition was made at a cost of $2,000. Further up the street you will see the R. M. Smith store which has been doubled in size by the removal of partitions and other re-arrangement. E. A. Sather, across the street, is also enlarging with a new warehouse.

Going further up Wall Street the arrival's attention was called to the addition recently made to the Bend Steam Laundry, which is now occupied by new and modern machinery. J. Edward Larson, the proprietor of the laundry has invested $2,000 in this addition to his outlay together with a large amount of equipment.

Bend is Growing Market.

"I did not know that Bend was a market for grain and flour manufacturing center, but judging from your fine flour mill, I take it I have had a mistaken impression," said the arrival.

"Quite true, you have a mistaken impression," the visitor was told. "Bend is steadily becoming a market for a wide range of products of Central region and not the least of the products is wheat. The Bend Flour Mill Company, whose buildings you see near the river, has just recently completed the erection of a modern brick tile warehouse, mixed rations mill and is now erecting an alfalfa mill and feed barn. These additions have been made at a cost of $7,000.
