STRAHORN WILL BUILD IN SPRING

RIGHT OF WAY MUST ALL BE IN

Railroad Builder Here on Beginning of Tour—Bend Bonds Will Be Advertised for Sale at Once—Lines Run Into California.

If all right-of-way, terminal and subscription requirements are met, construction of the Strahorn railroads will begin in the spring, according to a statement made by Mr. Strahorn when here last week. The railroad builder arrived on Friday on the beginning of a tour over the proposed lines of the O., C. & E., made for the purpose of closing up all pending details.

On Saturday afternoon, after meeting with Mr. Strahorn, the city council decided to advertise for sale the bonds voted in August for the purchase of the local terminals. As a result of this action it is expected that Bend will be the first city to turn over to Mr. Strahorn the property desired by him.

Portland Action Pleases. Mr. Strahorn was greatly pleased when here to learn of the action of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, taken last week, by which it offered him its support and requested a statement from him as to what he expected from Portland. It is understood that as soon as he has completed his present trip, Mr. Strahorn will take the matter up with the Portland Chamber.

In addition to the statements concerning local construction, Mr. Strahorn stated definitely, for the first time, that it was expected to extend the lines into California by way of the Surprise Valley. If the necessary arrangements could be completed with the people of the valley, this line would extend to Flanigan, Nev., where connection would be made with the Southern-Pacific and the Western Pacific.

Leaving on Monday with W. D. Cheney, Mr. Strahorn planned to make his first stop at Fort Rock, where a basket luncheon was planned for Monday noon, giving him his first opportunity to meet the people of that section.

MULKEY COMING

The Republican campaign will be closed here on Monday night with a speech by B. F. Mulkey, of Portland, at the Hippodrome. Mr. Mulkey is one of the best speakers in the state and is expected to draw a crowd even larger than that which heard Mrs. Hanley on Monday.

SOFIE HAMMER TO APPEAR

Well Known Concert Singer to Be Heard in Bend Sunday.

Great interest is centered on the concert to be given here by Sofie Hammer, the distinguished Norwegian soprano, who is touring this country in concert, assisted by Florence Yorkheimer, pianist, late of New York City.

Sofie Hammer possesses a charming personality which adds wonderfully to the brilliant concert of Norwegian classic and folk songs. Her interpretation of dainty folk songs is the admiration of America's most famous critics, and it is rare that she is not recalled four or five times to respond to encores.

Miss Hammer will sing here under the auspices of the Sons of Norway, and the concert will be given in the Hippodrome at 2 p. m., on Sunday.

Reserved seats are on sale at Owl Drug Store and Reed P. Horton's. The program will be as follows: Polonaise (Mignon), Thomas; (a) Barndomsminde (Fraa Nordland), Th. Thomsen; (b) Gyngevise, Alnas; (c) Et Haab, Grieg; (a) How Many a Lonely Caravan (Lover in Damascus), Finden; (b) Cradle Song (1915), Kreisler; (c) My Lover He Comes on the Skee, Clough Leightner; Piano—(a) Scherzo, Martucci; (b) Prelude, G. Minor, Rachmaninoff; Florence Yorkheimer.

(a) Blaabar-Li, Grieg; (b) Killingdiana, Grieg; (c) Norsk Ekko Sang, Thraue; Voce di Primavera, Johann Strauss.

TO SPEAK ON PROHIBITION. At 7:30 p. m. next Sunday evening, there will be held a mass meeting in the Hippodrome for the purpose of discussing the Brewers' and the Absolute Prohibition Amendments. The address will be delivered by Rev. H. C. Hartranft, who was present at the Hofer-Hartranft debate, two years ago, know that Mr. Hartranft is not only a fluent speaker, but that on that occasion he was "loaded" with an array of indisputable facts, and that he can handle this question in a manner that few men can. Mr. Hartranft has collected a set of figures comparing conditions in various industries before and since the Dry Law, which he will use in his speech.

COUNTY DIVISION AND TAXES

Voters who studied the question two years ago are satisfied that division will not raise taxes.

Opponents of division in other sections are satisfied that it will not increase taxes. They say that it will, but their real reason for opposition is the location of the lines.

IF THIS IS NOT SO, WHY DID REDMOND MEN COME TO BEND LAST SUMMER AND SAY THAT THEY WOULD SUPPORT DIVISION THIS YEAR IF THE LINES WERE PLACED WHERE THEY WANTED THEM?

This question was asked three weeks ago and is still unanswered. The fact is, they are not afraid of taxes being raised.

The only voters, then, who may still believe that division will increase taxes are among the many newcomers who have not been able to give the question the study it deserves.

We ask that they consider the following: The county has paid its salaries, done considerable road work, bought general county purposes.

Every other tax, city, school district, state, is unaffected. If anything increases it must be the county tax.

Now, the argument is that the county tax must be higher because it costs a certain amount to run one county and it will cost about twice that to run two.

You say that now this section is paying about half the expense of running a county and if the county divides it will be paying the full expense, and "old" Crook will be paying the full expense for her county.

Stop right there and get this: If the county divides, the new county need not be run for the same figure that the present one is.

That is why taxes need not be higher, why they will not necessarily increase.

Here is proof: Jefferson county was formed from a part of Crook two years ago.

It has an assessed valuation of about five million dollars. It ran its affairs this year for 18½ mills. That was the general county tax, the only tax possible to be affected by division.

The county has paid its salaries, done considerable road work, bought necessary supplies, all out of that 18½ mills, and it has money in the treasury.

The Crook county general county tax this year was 26 mills. THAT SHOWS THAT DIVISION HAS SAVED MONEY FOR THE JEFFERSON TAXPAYERS.

But, someone will say, the reason why they could make a low levy in Jefferson county is because they increased their valuations.

That is not the reason. The reason is because they kept expenses down.

But even if it were the reason, see the situation.

The increase in valuations brought their total to only five millions, and an 18½ mill levy on five millions valuation is enough to run the county.

DESCHUTES COUNTY WILL START WITH ALMOST FIVE MILLIONS VALUATION.

So that no increase is necessary in order to give us enough to get along with.

But we will have more from the many thousands of new values being created by the building here at Bend.

In other words, valuations need not be increased, and with proper economy we can run the new county for less than the old costs.

THAT IS, DIVISION WILL NOT INCREASE TAXES.

Read the foregoing over again and next Tuesday mark your ballot X FOR NEW COUNTY.

BEND ELEVEN VICTORS 13-7

PRINEVILLE SCORES ON FUMBLE

County Seaters, Playing Scrappy Game, Unable to Stand Attack of Heavy Line; Ketcham to Groom Men for Game Here Nov. 12.

Clearly outplaying their opponents in almost every quarter, Bend defeated Prineville last Sunday afternoon on the Prineville gridiron by a score of 13 to 7. Prineville's only score and kick came in the second period on Bend's fumble on Prineville's 10-yard line.

Outweighing their opponents several pounds to the man on the line, Bend repeatedly advanced the ball within striking distance of Prineville's goal, once to lose it on a fumble and again on failure to make the needed yardage. Although outplayed and outweighed, Prineville was not outgamed, fighting the heavy Bend line every inch, until the fourth period, when the left side of the Bend line opened powerful attack, puncturing holes and enabling long consistent gains to be made.

Bend Scores First. The game opened with Prineville receiving the ball, making one first down and kicking. Bend received the ball and advanced it to Prineville's goal by a series of quick line plunges, an end run by Boland, and a long, clean pass to Steidl, which brought the ball to Prineville's seven yard line. Steidl was sent through Prineville's left side of the line for the first touchdown, four minutes after the whistle blew. Ketcham kicked goal. Score, Bend 7, Prineville 0.

Bend again kicked and Estes was down on about the 25-yard line. Unable to make yardage, Bend received the ball and marched to Prineville's 10-yard line again. Here Bend fumbled and Charlton grabbed the ball, in a clear field, running for a touchdown. Estes kicked goal. Score, Bend 7, Prineville 7.

Prineville Opens Up. The second half opened with Bend opening up on forward passes and fake end runs. The ball was marched down the field to Prineville's three-yard line. Prineville held and Estes kicked out of danger from behind his goal. Prineville likewise opened with a series of spectacular plays and gave Bend backs considerable worry until Erskine and Ketcham intercepted two and broke up the streak. Bend again came into possession of the ball and took steady strides to Prineville's goal.

In the fourth period, on the 10-yard line, Boland was sent off right tackle for Bend's second touchdown. No goal was kicked. Score, Bend 13, Prineville 7.

For the remaining four minutes of play Prineville tried desperately to develop big gains by another series of wide-open forward passes, but failed to make the necessary gains before time was called.

A return game will be played here on November 12.

FOR STATE SENATOR W. LAIR THOMPSON

BROOKS-SCANLON ENLARGE. The Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Company finds that it is necessary to add 128 feet to its present dry shed, and ground was broken this morning for the addition. A third boiler for the engine room will also be added, the necessary equipment having already been ordered.

R. R. HENKLE DIES

Robert R. Henkle, who has conducted a tire repair shop here for several years past, died suddenly Thursday night of heart failure. The body was taken to Philomath Friday night for burial, both parents of the deceased being residents of that place. Mr. Henkle was born in Benton county, Oregon, 37 years ago, and is survived by his parents, a sister, Mrs. Beulah Hunter, of Corvallis, and a brother, O. C. Henkle, of Bend.

HOSPITAL WILL BE CONSTRUCTED

CATHOLIC SISTERS TO BE BUILDERS

Slightly Property Purchased, and Work Will Begin Early Next Spring—Will Cost More Than Seventy-five Thousand Dollars.

The Catholic Sisters' Hospital, under contemplation for several weeks, will be located in Bend. A site for the hospital, convent and nurses' home has been purchased and construction will begin in the spring. Announcement of the fact was made this morning, following the receipt of a letter from Bishop O'Reilly, through whom the interest of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth was first attracted to this locality.

ET. REV. CHAS. J. O'REILLY

The decision, which was communicated to prominent local Catholics, came from Mother Rose, superior general of the order.

The site chosen is known as the water tower block, lying between Ohio and Oregon streets, and one block east of Bond street, the purchase being made from The Bend Company. In the transaction the Sisters have been affected largely by the advice of local Catholic laymen and priests and Louis Beezer, a prominent Seattle architect.

Property is Slightly. In making the selection of this property the Sisters and local persons interested in the development of the hospital have taken into consideration its slightly location, its proximity to the parish house and the center of the town's business activity. The lay of the land is usually adaptable for buildings such as the Sisters will build and is in thorough keeping with their policy to select the most elevated spots upon which to erect structures of the type which will be erected. The property consists of 21 lots. The consideration, it is understood, was approximately $15,000.

It has not been definitely ascertained just what the character of the structures and the type of architecture will be, but it is understood from good authority that the buildings alone, which will probably comprise the hospital proper, convent and nurses' residence, will entail an expenditure of more than $75,000.

Bishop O'Reilly Enthusiastic. One of the most enthusiastic persons connected with the consummation of this transaction and urging of the Sisters to make their recent trip to Bend with the view to looking over property sites and prospects for the institutions, has been the Right Rev. Bishop O'Reilly, of Baker. In the definite announcement of the construction of the hospital he has achieved what his parish people believe to be one of his greatest works in Eastern Oregon. When in Bend a few weeks ago, at which time he spoke at a banquet at the Epiphany Club, Bishop O'Reilly was high in his praises of Bend and its future.

Bishop O'Reilly has nurtured the idea of establishing a hospital in Bend for some time, it is understood, and negotiations with the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth were begun by Bishop O'Reilly several months ago, when he made a recent Eastern trip. The Sisters have much faith in the judgment of Bishop O'Reilly, who it is likely will take an active part in the foundation of the institutions in Bend.

The Sisters of Charity of Nazareth have been, until this time, exclusively an Eastern and Southern order, establishing hospitals in large Southern centers. These institutions are reputed to be among the finest and most modernly equipped of their kind in the country. It has been previously expressed that if the Sisters built in Bend they would maintain the same standard of efficiency and skill that they are noted for in other large centers.

The present plans provide for the opening of the institutions some time next summer.

DIVISION WILL CARRY

La Pine Paper Says No Measure Is Sure of Passage.

(La Pine Inter-Mountain.) Of all the bills and amendments to be voted upon next month, there is none more sure of being passed than the county division bill. Crook county is far too large to permit a satisfactory handling of its affairs. We who reside in the distant sections from the county seat have this proven daily.

When county division was on the ballot two years ago the Inter-Mountain made an exhaustive study of the question and presented the arguments for division to the voters. These facts are still fresh in the minds of the people, and the ensuing two years have proven the case.

County division will carry with a bigger majority, and with less electioneering than any other measure or candidate.

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE T. E. J. DUFFY

AN APOLOGY

Because of an accident to the motor which operates The Bulletin's new linotype, the paper today is not the one which had been planned. A discussion of measures and candidates has necessarily been omitted, as well as a considerable quantity of news articles, for which apology is made to our readers. The motor has run for years on our old linotype, but apparently could not bear the change from the old to the new and gave out at a most inopportune time. New parts have been wired for and will be here on Friday.

Our thanks are due today to our neighbor, The Bend Press, for assistance in type setting, which has made possible the production of even this paper.

DEMOCRATS HIT BY MRS. HANLEY

WILSON RECORD IS ATTACKED

Medford Orator Slings Hot-Shot at Administration's Policies, Pleads for Election of Chas. E. Hughes—Big Crowd Attends Rally.

Thoroughly imbued with the Chas. Evans Hughes spirit, America First and Efficient, thoroughly convinced that Woodrow Wilson ought to be and will be defeated at the polls next Tuesday, thoroughly alive with the paramount issues of the presidential campaign, Mrs. E. B. Hanley of Medford, on her whirlwind campaign of Eastern Oregon, in behalf of the candidacy of Charles E. Hughes, stirred the more than 800 people who filled the Hippodrome Monday evening to its capacity, on the occasion of the big Republican rally.

Mrs. Hanley is a combination of Billy Sunday, Mother Jones and Lydia Pankhurst. She has the epigrams of Sunday, the earnestness of Mother Jones and the fire of Mrs. Pankhurst. She is a clear talker, fluent, oratorical and abounds in humor. She does not mince words, she hits hard and fast with her attacks. She has a pleasing personality, a keen eye and a purposive jaw. Her gestures lend much to the emphasis she lays upon the points she drives to her auditors.

Goes After Administration. Mrs. Hanley landed on the Democratic administration right from the start. Taking up briefly the issues in her own county—Jackson county—she lashed on "you Democrats and weak-kneed Republicans," urging the return of the latter, to whom she assigned the cause of the election of Wilson four years ago, "to rally to the reconstructed, reorganized and rejuvenated Republican party."

"Pure bunk" is the way Mrs. Hanley characterized the Adamson law, affecting railroad engineers and firemen. "The people have had something put over on them, and before the thing is over with they will find it out. The Democratic administration saw the trouble coming three months before the climax, but it did nothing. The passage of the law was purely misuse of public opinion. The Adamson law is a wage law and not an hour law, as the Democrats would have you believe. The law went through with a joker in it that entirely nullifies it and now the engineers and firemen who have studied the law are protesting.

"Now, about this 'he kept us out of war' business," said Mrs. Hanley, "I'd like to know who Wilson kept us out of war with. Kept us out of war with Europe. I should say not. Europe kept us out of war. Europe didn't want war with us. She has needed our products and ammunition too badly. Geographically, politically and commercially there has been no cause to get mixed up in that affair across the way. How about Sweden? Sweden sat out and emphatically told the belligerents, 'you keep your hands off my mail.' Holland, with fighting all around her, said, 'you observe my neutrality or I'll open the gates and let the waters in!' and Holland is not too proud to fight—Holland is ruled by a woman."

Mrs. Hanley was bitter in her attack on the Wilson administration for failure to protect American lives and property in Mexico; for its attitude toward the struggling country below the border, for the Vera Cruz and Tampico incidents and the levy and raising of embargo. She assailed the Child Labor Law of the present administration as ineffectual, and said that it affected only a small per cent of the children engaged in industrial work, and that congress provided no means for its enforcement.

"Europe has been consuming American products during the war. The men have been taken from industries to the trenches. After the war the warring countries will struggle desperately to return to manufacturing, to be as efficient as before the war?" asked Mrs. Hanley. "A dumping ground for Europe's manufactured goods. What is England doing? She is adopting a protective policy such as she has never known before. If we don't return to a protective policy in this country, we will be a country of soup kitchens and bread lines. Charles E. Hughes is the one man to execute the protection policy in this country and he will be elected November 7 by an overwhelming majority."

Praises Hughes. Mrs. Hanley was high in her praise of Mr. Hughes' accomplishments, while Governor of New York, as a man who went to the people with all things that affected their welfare. "The Democrats and the standpatters tell you," she said, "that Charles E. Hughes is a Wall Street tool. This I brand as a downright lie. He has always shown him-
