

SISTERS ACADEMY TO BE BUILT AT KLAMATH FALLS

Letter to President of Klamath Commercial Club Says Grounds Must Be Secured—Take Subscriptions.

That Klamath Falls is to secure the Sisters boarding school and day academy planned to be established in Oregon by the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, is indicated by a letter from Hugh J. Marshall, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, of Klamath Falls, to J. W. Seiman, president of the Commercial club of that city, which appeared in a recent issue of the Klamath Record.

The letter was in part as follows: "Mr. J. W. Seiman, president Commercial Club, Klamath Falls, Ore., Dear Sir—Many inquiries are being made as to whether or not the Sisters are going to establish here. I take this method of an open letter to you as president of the Commercial club, to inform the public how far we have succeeded in the effort to secure a Sister's institution.

"Mother Rose, who was here a few weeks ago to look over the field, thinks the time opportune to open a hospital but she has consented to establish a boarding house and day academy provided we secure the ground and guarantee a sufficient number of pupils.

"Bend lately became out riva and bidding fair to outstrip us unless we take care, in making every effort to induce Mother Rose to send out a number of Sisters. If I am correctly informed, a $15,000 parcel of land in the city limits was lately acquired and presented gratis to the Sisters. On their part, the Sisters will build a hospital immediately.

"In order that we may take advantage of Mother Rose's proposition at once and thus avoid any likelihood of failure, I respectfully request you to take this matter in hand and to appoint a committee to help raise the necessary money by subscription.

"Confident of the hearty support of the Commercial club and of the citizens of Klamath, I am, Very truly yours, HUGH J. MARSHALL, Pastor Sacred Heart Church."

Ancient Abyssinia. The Abyssinians are a race renowned for their courage and good looks. Of a deep brown in color, they are well formed and handsome, intelligent and fond of gaiety, too, but their needs are very simple, and they live in primitive fashion in rough circular stone huts thatched with grass. The history of Abyssinia dates very far back. Before Christ the country formed part of the ancient country of Ethiopia. The queen of Sheba was an Abyssinian queen, and the kings of Abyssinia claim descent from her.—London Spectator.

Sick Herrings. "Why," said a youngster to his elder brother, "do herrings have so many more illnesses than other fish?" "Who says they do?" asked the youth addressed.

"Why, this book says that thousands upon thousands of them are cured every year."

Not to Be Deceived. "Have you studied the plays of Sophocles?" asked the serious young woman.

"Quit jokin'," replied Mr. Lowbrow. "I know everybody in both leagues. There ain't any such player."—Washington Star.

GROWTH OF THE BODY.

It Comes in Alternate Periods of Filling and Stretching.

That men and women grow in height and weight from birth until maturity, if they live the ordinary term of years, and that, as a rule, men are taller than women are facts of common knowledge. How this growth is accomplished is not so generally known, nor is it commonly understood that the difference in length of the male and female of the species is apparent even at birth. Carefully kept records show that the average boy baby is about two-fifths of an inch longer at birth than is the average baby girl.

Another curious feature of this growth discovered by patient research is the fact that it is not a gradual and regular increase. There are periods in which the youthful body expands rapidly in length, while it seems to become thin and lean.

Then comes a time where there is little increase in height, but the body becomes plump. While there is a slight difference of opinion as to the exact number of years and ages when these alternate growths are in evidence, the general proposition is conceded by the most thorough of the investigators.

Professor Stratz tabulates this growth of the body as follows: Period of the first fullness of body, two to five years; period of first stretching, six to eight years; period of second fullness, nine to eleven years; period of second stretching, twelve to sixteen years; period of maturing, seventeen to twenty-five years.

Professor Weissenberg, however, divides the time of growth somewhat differently and makes allowance for a difference between the periods of change in girls and boys.

His tabulation is as follows: Period of first fullness, two to four years; period of first stretching, five to six years; period of retarded growth, boys eight to twelve years, girls eight to ten years; period of second stretching, boys thirteen to eighteen years, girls eleven to fifteen years; periods of retarded growth, boys nineteen to twenty-six years, girls sixteen to nineteen years; period of standing still and of the second fullness, twenty-six or twenty-nine to fifty-one years; period of decline, fifty-two to seventy-six years.

Among other interesting features of this growth, it is noted that the changes are not constant within the limits of a year, but appear to depend upon the season.

It has been found that increases in height and girth of chest are greater in summer than in winter. It would seem that the greatest gains in weight are made from August to January, the weight remaining almost constant from February to May.

Of course there are many special causes which in individual cases make exceptions to these rules, but under normal conditions this is the way our bodies grow from babyhood to maturity.—New York American.

A Lament From Japan. The opening of Japan has brought many new trades, but it has driven others out of existence. One handicraft which is making a long but a losing fight is that of making fude or writing brushes. It might have been expected to increase, seeing that education is ten times as prevalent as in the old days, but the steel pen and the lead pencil are formidable competitors and, with their vulgar efficiency, are gradually making the use of fude obsolete. In the primary schools young Japan is taught to wield the brush, but in the middle schools they care but little for the elegance of the Chinese style of writing, and the modern steel pen is much in evidence.—Japan Society Bulletin.

LIBELED THE KING.

Then He Turned Informer and Won a Substantial Reward.

A colonel in the Prussian army, who had been discharged at the close of the Seven Years' war, importuned Frederick the Great to be reinstated. Weary of the incessant solicitations of his troublesome visitor, Frederick at length gave orders that he should never be admitted to his presence. Some weeks later a most bitter libel against his majesty appeared. Frederick seldom gave himself any concern about such attacks, but the present one exasperated him so much that he offered a reward of 50 Friedrichs of gold for the discovery of the author. The day following the disgraced colonel demanded and obtained an audience.

"Sire," he began, on being admitted, "your majesty has just promised 50 Friedrichs for the discovery of the author of a recent publication. I am come to claim that recompense. Behold in me the unfortunate libeler! My life I forfeit freely, but remember your royal pledge, and while you punish me, send to my poor wife and children the reward due to the informer."

The king, although struck with the sad extremity and self sacrifice of the officer, said sternly:

"Go instantly to the fortress of Spandau and there await my judgment!"

"I obey," said the culprit. "But the money?"

"Within two hours your wife shall receive it," said the king. "Take this letter and give it to the commandant, but he must not open it until after dinner."

The colonel arrived at Spandau and gave himself up as a prisoner. At the prescribed moment the commandant opened the royal mandate. It ran:

To the bearer I give the command of Spandau. The present governor is to take the command of Berlin as a reward for past services. FREDERICK.

Musical Bruises. "That's a peculiar looking bruise you have on the back of your neck," observed the doctor.

"Yes," said the patient. "I am subject to those. You see, I'm a clarinet player in an orchestra."

"I don't see how that can produce bruises on the back of your neck."

"It doesn't produce them exactly, but it places me in a position where I am very liable to get them."

"How is that?"

"I sit directly in front of the man who plays the slide trombone."—Newark Eagle.

The Soft Answer. A certain politician seeking office was very much incensed at certain remarks which had been made about him by the leading paper of the town. He burst into the editorial room like a dynamite bomb and exclaimed:

"You are telling lies about me in your paper, and you know it!"

"You have no cause for complaint," said the editor coolly. "What in the world would you do if we told the truth about you?"—New York Globe.

Too Exacting. Lucy—Don't you just adore Clarence Joyce? My, I think he's the handsomest thing! Mabel—Well, his nose is a little flat, and his hair pretty light, and his eyes are a trifle big and pale, and his eyebrows— Lucy—Oh, I know. You always expect a man to be a regular Venus!—New York Times.

Good Advice. Mr. Woggs—Somebody wrote to the editor to ask how to eat corn off the cob. Mrs. Woggs—What does the editor say? Mr. Woggs—He says, silently.—Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

YOU W-B CUT chewers know all about tobacco satisfaction. You feel sort of sorry for users of the old kind. There is so little tobacco satisfaction in tobacco with excess of sweetening, no matter how big a chew they take. It's sort of difficult to make beginners understand how much satisfaction there is in tobacco if it's rich tobacco. They will know when they get to be regular W-B CUT users. construction of more railroads and cheaper freight rates, be allowed to come in for part of the expense. Nothing has been done in this direction as yet but no doubt it will crystallize into tangible results. With this good feeling between country and town and with the whole city working shoulder to shoulder to make this project a success it is felt that the time when dirt will be flying is now a matter of a few weeks.

Dentists Dominating

Dominance does not mean monopoly, not leadership, not control by holding a club over the people whereby combination or trust methods and high prices are demanded, control by a combination of several firms, or a society of dentists, but dominance does mean as is our method, free from society agreements or exclusive processes, and is supported by public recognition of the high class work and standing of our firm. This method is the employment of publicity that is both national and intensive. Such publicity brings us not only a volume of business, which in of course, the primary purpose, but it brings stability on account of familiarizing the public with our class of work, which is a guarantee of future patronage, and it brings security, as the public gains confidence in us. If all dentists were narrow-minded, ethical, society or trust dentists, how could the common people, with all other high-priced commodities and high cost of living, think of saving their teeth? But, having in our midst the King Bee Dentists, advertising and doing work at such reasonable prices and for the very best of work, excelled by none, even in these times you are able to save your teeth, or get new ones. We claim it is a blessing for the people at large that all dentists do not allow their society ethics to dictate and that there are some of us who are willing and capable by our experience, large practice and modern methods to do all first class work at such very low prices. Our experience and equipment enables us to do better dentistry at moderate prices and without pain. We make teeth that fit and look natural.

Our artificial teeth show "Enamel Markings" like those in natural teeth and diffuse the reflected light as natural teeth do, and when set up in our SPECIAL CONTINUOUS GUM, NATURAL COLORED PLATES, they deceive the eye, as a patient said, "Why, it is just like having my own teeth back again."

Do not put off getting yourself a good set of teeth. No misfits. We do not grind and cut them to pieces to make them articulate, but we replace your teeth as they grew or regulate the irregularities to suit you. Our plates do not fall down. We want you suited before you pay your money.

Your mother, grandmother or wife might appreciate a new set of good teeth for Xmas. The very best rubber plates $10.00—no more, no less.

We extract teeth painless and free, when other work is ordered, and do all kinds of first class, high grade work. All treatments handled with skill, dispatch and accuracy and at the lowest possible cost, consistent with first class work. Courtesy is extended to all and your work done correctly, as the doctor in charge gives his personal attention to each individual case.

I am willing to go before a notary and swear to the following statement: "The King Bee Dentists have made over teeth after EVERY DENTIST IN BEND since our arrival here and at about one-half the price demanded by them, and in each case our teeth have given perfect satisfaction."
