TUMALO.

(Special to The Bulletin.)
TUMALO, Jan. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Gorking, who have been visiting relatives and friends at Athena for the past three weeks, have returned home.

Grover Gorking delivered 40 head of fine steers in Redmond last week. Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Riggs, of Prineville, were visitors of C. P. Becker's last Sunday.

Ruth Bagley, of Tumalo, holds second place in The Bend Bulletin contest.

Several auto loads of Tumalo people were in Bend last Wednesday night, some attending the K. of P. lodge, some the wrestling match, while others attended the Parent-Teacher association meeting, at the Emblem club hall.

Mrs. L. A. Holloway and daughters are leaving Tumalo to open in Bend a Lyric school for kindergarten work and musical education. According to Mrs. Holloway's new grade books upon the musical hypothesis of orthoepy and orthography her pupils will become perfect spellers, musical readers, speakers and singers. As a university graduate, Mrs. Holloway should receive a warm welcome in Bend. Later a notice will appear of her promised lecture upon India, to be interspersed with original violin and pianoforte music by her little daughters. As a world-wide traveller and resident in various parts of India for eight or more years, Mrs. Holloway is familiar with native life in India, as casual travelers can never be. Particulars as to time and place will appear in due time.

The Bulletin office this morning, a whole sack full of them, sent by Representative N. J. Sinnott. They are now ready for distribution, and as inquiries during the past two weeks have been growing more and more numerous, it is expected that the supply on hand will not last long. It will be a case of "first come, first served."

Five varieties of vegetables, carrots, lettuce, radishes, muskmelon and turnips, may be grown from the seeds contained in each packet.

MILLICAN VALLEY

A man from Canada began to roam here and there in search of a home; The land of promise he did not miss When he wended his into this—

The Millican Valley.

He found a claim where sagebrush grew, Jackrabbits and sage rats grew there, too;

Neighbors were scarce—that did not matter, For soon he knew all would be better—

In Millican Valley.

He at once began a home to plan, But only a home for a single man; To do this he often had to rush, To boil his spuds and make his mush,

In Millican Valley.

Although a single life he now may hate, In all these years he has found no mate—

For men there are, but women are few, But the girls there are, are good and true—

In Millican Valley.

If some good friend a bunch would send, Of girls, into our life to blend, The boys no longer alone would plod, But all would wed, yes, even—

Of Millican Valley.

TOWORKTOWARD C. O. I. DISTRICT

COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY WATER USERS AT REDMOND—C. C. MCCOLLOCH IS SPEAKER AT LARGE GATHERING.

(From Monday's Daily.)

REDMOND, Jan. 15.—(Special.)—As the result of the meeting of C. O. I. water users held here last Saturday night, a committee has been appointed which will work with representatives from other parts of the subregion in working out the details for the organization of an irrigation district. A majority of the water users are thought to be in favor of this method of handling affairs when control passes from the hands of the company in June.

Claude C. McColloch, who spoke in the afternoon at Bend, was present at the gathering here, explaining the provisions of the district law, and telling how by availing themselves of it, the water users would be able to secure financial aid, and make much needed improvements and repairs. A large attendance was on hand, and the question was thoroughly discussed from all angles.

Mr. McColloch, while favoring the district law for the C. O. I. segregation, urged his hearers not to rush into an organization of the kind without careful investigation of every phase of the matter.
