

ROAD BUILDER ON WAY SOUTH

STRAHORN TO ATTEND KLAMATH JUBILEE.

Arrives in Bend With Mrs. Strahorn and Friends—To Spend Summer in Overseeing Construction—Bend Situation Unchanged.

(From Tuesday's Daily.) On their way to Klamath Falls, where they will participate in the Railroad Day and Fourth of July celebration in connection with the beginning of work on the Strahorn line out of that city, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Strahorn arrived here yesterday afternoon from Spokane.

Later in the week, according to Mr. Strahorn, a number of others, prominent in the business and financial life of Spokane will start for Klamath, going either by auto from Bend or around through the Willamette valley by rail.

Following the celebration in Klamath, the Strahorn party will tour California before the railroad builder returns to Klamath where he will spend most of the summer overseeing construction.

When asked this morning concerning the local railroad situation Mr. Strahorn said that there had been no change since his recent letter to the Commercial club withdrawing his offer to build from Bend this summer.

The party will spend the day here, leaving for their destination by way of Lakeview tomorrow morning.

BEND PREPARES FOR BIG 4TH OF JULY CELEBRATION

PLENTY OF FUN TO BE UNCORKED.

Baseball Games, Parades, Races, Water Sports Will Give People Cause to Enjoy Visit in Bend—Cash Prizes Offered.

(From Wednesday's Daily.) "Bend's the Place." Bend extends a hearty invitation to all of Central Oregon to attend its Fourth of July celebration July 4 and 5, and its Chautauqua to be held July 2 to 7.

Next Monday begins one of the biggest, snappiest, happiest weeks Bend has seen in a long time. And, by the way, there's going to be a circus in town the Fourth.

It is a strictly sane Fourth of July that Bend will celebrate. There will be no fireworks, but there will be plenty of other features that offset the old-time shooting of Roman candles, skyrockets and firecrackers. It will be a strictly patriotic celebration for Central Oregon.

The two day program for the celebration opens the morning of the Fourth with the customary salutes at sunrise. At 9:30 a. m. promptly, the first game of a three game series between the leading teams of the Central Oregon baseball league will be pulled off between the lines of Prineville and Shevlin-Hixon. Both teams are groomed for this event and a close fast contest is expected.

Prizes Substantial. Bend will display a show at 10:20 with a big civic and historic street parade in which business houses, civic societies, fraternal orders, labor organizations, military organizations, are planning to enter marching divisions. It is hoped that there will be a large representation of decorated automobiles in the parade.

Street Events Provided. In the evening the crowds will have the moving picture shows, both of which have arranged special programs for the days on which Bend will celebrate.

Prizes to be awarded in the various contests are as follows: Street contests, 10:00 a. m., July fifth: Boys' race, under 16 years—First prize $3, second $2, third $1.

Fall in Line on the Fourth!

(From Wednesday's Daily.) Examinations for teachers who are teachers in Deschutes county, or who may teach in Bend and the vicinity, were conducted today in the high school building by County Superintendent J. Alton Thompson.

LUMBERMEN TO BE GUESTS AT DINNER

(From Wednesday's Daily.) Because members of the Lumber Trade commission who will visit in Bend tomorrow will be busy during the greater part of the day inspecting the local mills and logging camps, the Commercial club luncheon planned in their honor has been changed to a dinner, and will be given at the Pilot Butte Inn at 7 o'clock tomorrow night.

MUCH ALFALFA IS CONTRACTED

TILLAMOOK DAIRIES BUY HAY.

Thousand Tons of Deschutes Valley Growth to Feed Coast Cattle—More to Be Taken—Means Hay Shortage Here.

(From Friday's Daily.) By contracting 1000 tons of alfalfa hay, Tillamook county dairymen have given the Central Oregon hay market another tilt skyward, according to S. L. Wiggins, traveling freight agent of the O.-W. railroad, who has just returned from a trip through the Deschutes country tapped by his road.

It is Mr. Wiggins' belief that about 2000 tons more will be contracted from Central Oregon for fall delivery to the Tillamook dairymen. All the hay so far taken has been alfalfa and comes from the Redmond, Prineville, Hay Creek and Gateway farms. The alfalfa is being contracted for this fall at the prevailing price on date of delivery.

"With this amount of alfalfa taken out of Central Oregon," said Mr. Wiggins, "together with that frozen out through this same country last winter, there will be very little alfalfa left on the market for home consumption this winter. The only thing that will keep hay from going clear out of sight will be large crop of wheat hay that will be harvested and is being untouched by the dairy-men buyers. A far larger area of wheat was put in this spring than usual for Central Oregon. Then the late spring held it back, with the result that much of the wheat will not reach maturity and will be cut for hay this fall.

CROPS LOOK FINE.

J. T. Hardy, of the Oregon Trunk, reports that the hay, grain, and other crops including a large potato acreage, are looking fine throughout his territory. Considerable new acreage has been put in this year, mostly in wheat and potatoes, the potato acreage for Central Oregon being one-third or one-half greater than last year.
