Why the Widow Got Him.
The folks were talking gossip with some neighbors who were making a social call. They were discussing a certain man that everybody agreed was such a fine man and wondering how ever it was that a rather gay grass widow had succeeded in leading him to the altar. "Well, I kin tell ye," said Uncle Ebeneser, who had continued to smoke his pipe without taking part in the discussion, "he had no chance."—Exchange.

Half Truths.
Half truths are often more calamitous than whole falsehoods. Not a word may be uttered, but a half suppressed innuendo, a dropped lip, an arched eyebrow, a shrugged shoulder, a significant look, an incredulous expression of countenance—nay, even an emphatic silence—may do the injurious work.

Highly Estimable.
"Half a loaf is better than no bread," said the philosopher.
"There's no doubt about the respect to which half a loaf is entitled," replied the plain person. "It costs as much as a whole loaf used to."—Washington Star.

FILLING OUT A CHECK.

It is a Good Rule Always to Write the Stub First.

In a big store a woman was paying with a check for some goods she had just bought, and she was carefully filling in the stub of her check book first. "Oh, don't stop for that!" urged her shopping companion, who was in a hurry. "You can do that when you get home."

Unmoved, the careful woman finished the stub with special care, then wrote the check, gave it to the salesman and said to her impatient friend: "Before I was married I took care of some of my father's accounts. The first time he ever asked me to fill out a set of blank checks for him so he could sign them he told me: 'One rule you must always observe—write the stub first. Make a vow to yourself, like unto the vow of Jephthah, that you will never write a check until the stub is filled. If for any reason you should fail later to write the check it would be a simple matter to cancel the stub, but if you write a check and leave the stub blank you open the door to a hundred chances of mistake. No one's memory can be trusted on that subject. Never try to trust yours. Let the law of 'the stub first' be to you as the law of the Medes and the Persians.' I have always found it perfectly easy to follow that rule, and that is one reason I have a bank account today. My husband is never afraid I will make him any trouble when he writes it."

Making Wire.
Wire used to be made by hammering metal into sheets and cutting these into strips, which were hammered or filed into wire. Now the material is rolled into rods by grooved rollers and drawn cold through holes in a plate of harder metal, usually hardened steel, by means of powerful machinery.

Certainly Not.
Mr. Liberty—I'm going to get you a piano, dear.
Mrs. Liberty—Oh, yes, you say you are, but your gifts always have strings to them.
"Well, you wouldn't want a piano without strings, would you?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

In After Years.
He—Is Miss Willing waiting for her ideal hero? She—Oh, my, no! She's now skinning around for a man that has more dollars than sense.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Served Him Right.
"Serves me right for pretending."
"Huh?"
"I talked a lot of highbrow talk to my new girl, and now she has gone and bought me a set of Emerson's essays for a birthday present. I could have used a fancy vest."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Bad Habits.
Shun bad habits. Every evil and wasteful habit draws upon our strength and resources without making any proper return. On the other hand, every task faithfully done, every responsibility manfully borne in the path of duty, steadies us like well bestowed ballast.

Utility.
"They're going to build a sausage factory on the golf course."
"What for?"
"To make use of the links, I presume."—Exchange.

Its Nature.
"My dog can scent a storm hours off."
"Then his nose must be something of a storm scenter."—Baltimore American.

Be Sure of Authentic Shoe Style
A random selection of a pair of shoes sometimes does very well, but more often is a disappointment. Shoes should never be bought at random any more than a dress or hat, because, to-day, shoes play a most important part in the effect of a woman's attire.
Our Specialty is shoe fashions, and by consulting us before buying your shoes you will know that your selection is in harmony with the latest dictates of fashion. It costs you nothing, but may mean much to your personal appearance.
