

WESTERN PINE IS IMPORTANT

FEDERAL COMMISSION SEES DEVELOPMENT.

Bend Will Get Share of After War Trade With Europe—Rail Communication With San Francisco Is Emphasized.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Western lumber will play a most important part in the export trade after the war, and the western lumber industry will benefit most greatly by the work of the Federal Lumber Trade commission in Europe. Such was the declaration of members of the commission, who last night, after a day spent in the inspection of the various phases of the local lumber business, were guests at a dinner given by the Bend Commercial club at the Pilot Butte Inn. The commissioners' party took the train from Bend immediately after dinner, and will leave for Europe early in July to pave the way for a great trans-Atlantic lumber business of the future.

Introduced by Vernon A. Forbes, treasurer, John R. Walker, chairman of the commission, outlined the work which he and his colleagues will endeavor to accomplish, emphasized the importance of the European market, and declared the attitude of the government in encouraging organization, and in acting with the industries of the nation to make possible more efficient trade management to be a most encouraging feature of conditions brought about by the war.

Western Men Ready.
"The lumber of the Pacific coast states is to play a large part in the trade which we shall endeavor to open up," he pointed out, "for not only are your resources tremendous, and practically untapped, but the men in this country are big, they are accustomed to reaching across the continent for a market, and it is but another step to cross the seas."

"Hitherto our lumber trade with Europe has been merely casual, but it will become a part of our regular business. The war will sweep away our insular attitude. It will be accompanied by great sacrifices, greater perhaps than we now imagine, but the recompense will also be great."

Mr. Walker asserted that a uniform national standard for white pine will be necessary in entering the European field, and that the most efficient method of marketing the products of the American forests will be through a large central organization.

Local Plants Praised.
"My trip to Bend," the speaker concluded, has been more than satisfactory. I have seen wonderful timber, wonderful lumber, and wonderful methods of manufacture. I have seen large plants before, but I have never seen lumber manufacturing more complete than those in Bend. As to the lumber itself, I find that western white pine is just like Michigan white pine, only more so."

A. A. Oxholm, the next speaker, emphasized the fact that western lumber will be most greatly benefited by the work of the commission, because there has been less exploitation. "Vast supplies lie here, while in other sections of the country exhaustion is rapidly approaching. The future of the lumber industry, beyond a doubt, is in the west."

The spirit of true democracy, and the straightforwardness and kindness of the westerners as a class, Mr. Oxholm cited as highly important factors in the development of all lines of endeavor.

Tribute Paid Shevlin.
Nelson C. Brown, a team mate and personal friend of the late Tom Shevlin, declared that Bend had always held more than a usual attraction for him because of the activities of his friend. From a tribute to the man so closely connected with the history of Bend as a center of the lumber industry, he turned to the situation at the present time in Europe, comparing the lack of quality and variety of European timber with the high grade and great variety of the American product.

"The work of the commission does not now include Germany and Austria," he said, "although when the organization of this body was first authorized these countries had been included. However, we hope that before we return we shall be able to follow America's victorious armies to Berlin, and aid in reopening trade relations."

Bright Future Seen.
A. W. Cooper, secretary of the Western Pine Manufacturers' association, expressed the thanks of the party for the entertainment given them in Bend, and declared that lumbermen throughout the west would await anxiously news of the commission's work.

George M. Cornwall, of Portland, editor of The Timberman, summed up the lumber situation in regard to Europe, as revealed in the earlier addresses of the evening, predicted a marvelous development for the pine industry in the west, through the connection of Bend with California points by rail, and sketched the possibilities which would open to the western coast with the increased use of the Pacific ocean as a world trade channel.

"The Federal Lumber Trade Commission," he said, "is the vanguard of American commerce."

SLASHINGS FIRE MAY SPREAD, FEAR

(From Thursday's Daily.)

That a slashings fire on the Chas. Carmichael place in the La Pine district is in danger of spreading to the surrounding timber is the fear expressed today by Forest Supervisor W. G. Hastings. A crew of men is on the ground, but with the high wind prevailing the blaze in the slashings may be easily fanned until it becomes a serious menace, Mr. Hastings says.

BUILDINGS STRIPPED OF UNSIGHTLY SIGNS

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Acting on orders from Municipal Judge Ellis, acting Police Earl Houston was kept busy during the greater part of the morning tearing down advertising signs, chiefly for various brands of tobacco, which had been placed on buildings facing city streets and alleys. The ordinance covering this is to be rigidly enforced in the future, Judge Ellis states.

TUMALO.

(Special to The Bulletin.)
TUMALO, July 2.—Miss Jennie Burt, a niece of Mrs. J. W. Brown, arrived the evening of June 19 for a short visit. She has been teaching near Salem for the past three years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Harper started in their car June 29 for Los Angeles, to be gone a few weeks. They took as passengers Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Pinkstaff and children, who are going to Oakland, Cal., to live.

Her neighbors are all glad to see Mrs. C. P. Becker in their midst again, after a somewhat lengthy visit to her parents and friends in Prineville.

Albert Pierce, of Tacoma, Wash., arrived June 22 to assist his brother with the ranch work.

Irrigation is the order of the day, every man using all the water possible.

The picnic last Friday on the island at Tumalo was well attended. Everyone enjoyed the talks made and felt themselves well repaid. Mr. Blanchard's efforts are appreciated by the Tumalo people.

A reception to the new settlers was given last Saturday night by the Development league. An interesting program of music and reading was given and the men served "good eats," much to the enjoyment of the Tumalo ladies, who, as a rule, are the ones who serve.

Melba Baker, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, was taken to the hospital in Bend Friday evening.

Mrs. Caruso and her brother, Roger Edstrom, from Pittsburgh, in the San Joaquin valley, California, came the 13th to visit their cousins, Charles Anderson and his sisters, Misses Mannie and Esther.

C. P. Becker lost a valuable horse a few days ago.

Mrs. Gerking and Mrs. Dayton entertained with a tea at the latter's home on Friday afternoon, June 29, in honor of the ladies visiting at the different homes in the neighborhood. Mrs. Becker, Miss Burt and Mrs. Caruso gave the assembled guests much pleasure by singing several solos.

A community dance was given at the hall in Tumalo Friday night, June 29, that was well attended and, as usual, much enjoyed by the dancers. Good music was furnished by the Dickinsons.

Mrs. R. U. Flickinger is on the sick list.

John Park was so unfortunate as to lose a highly prized young mare last week.

J. A. Marsh returned Sunday from a trip to different points in Washington, in a car he purchased while up there.

Miss Georgia Skinner spent the week end as the guest of Miss Carol Dayton.

Mrs. J. W. Brown invited a few friends in Sunday evening and a good community sing was enjoyed.

MEASLES APPEARS ONCE MORE IN CITY

(From Friday's Daily.)

Although a number of cases of measles have been reported in Bend, Dr. Dwight F. Miller, city health officer, is of the opinion that no danger of an epidemic such as swept over Central Oregon last winter, is to be feared. "The cases are none of them serious, as far as I can ascertain," he said yesterday afternoon, "and I think there is little chance of the disease spreading to any extent."

Dr. Miller mentioned that to the best of his knowledge there had never been a case of measles in Bend resulting fatally.

WILL ASK BIDS FOR STREET IMPROVEMENT

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Steps toward the improvement of Newport avenue from the Deschutes river to the city limits on the west side, were taken late yesterday afternoon at a brief meeting of the city council, when Recorder H. C. Ellis was authorized to advertise for bids.

"The Five Tires"

Today—tires cost less than ever

Your tires actually cost you less per mile today than they did a few years ago, —provided you buy the right kind of tires.

In the first place, don't buy a nondescript tire that some dealer has a selfish price motive in selling to you.

Buy a tire with a name behind it—a tire, the quality of which must be so good that the reputation of a great Company is protected.

United States Tires, with the name of the largest rubber manufacturer in the world behind them, are safe tires to buy.

United States Tires are constructed under an exclusive time-tried vulcanizing process that is patented.

They are honestly built with the best materials that the markets of the world afford.
