

ASKS WARRANT FOR DRUGGISTS

SHEFFIELD SEEKS TO SHARE TROUBLES.

Bootlegger Would Cause Arrest of Pharmacists Selling Bitters—De Armond Refers Case to Attorney General.

After being fined $50 for passing a bottle of Hostetter's bitters through the bars of the city jail to prisoners, Frank Sheffield declared this morning that druggists who sold the compound over the counter should be held under the law as well as himself, and demanded that warrants be issued for the arrest of local pharmacists handling the stuff. District Attorney De Armond has written to Attorney General Brown for an opinion on this phase of the case, and until an answer is received Sheffield will be given his freedom under bonds covering the amount of his fine. No action in regard to drug stores selling bitters will be taken until the attorney general's opinion has been given.

Knut Gronning, arrested last night while creating a disturbance in Mill addition, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and paid a $10 fine. When taken into custody, he gave his name as Drawing, but when Municipal Judge Ellis checked through the registration lists for army conscription, failed to find the name, and informed the prisoner that he was likely to face a government charge as a slacker. Gronning dropped the alias hurriedly.

Billy Williams appeared yesterday in Municipal court and pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness. Both he and Gronning laid their downfall to bitters.

PITCHER WINS FOR MILL TEAM

KNUTSEN LINES OUT HOMER WITH THE SCORE TIED IN LAST OF THE NINTH AND TWO MEN ON BASES.

(From Monday's Daily.)
Knutson won his own game in the last of the ninth in the game played against Prineville yesterday afternoon on the Prineville grounds, when with the score tied 6-6, he lined out a homer, scoring Merrill and Houston, and giving the victory over Prineville a three-point margin. The victory also puts Shevlin-Hixon in the lead for the Central Oregon championship, which has been tied up for the last two weeks between the mill team and the Crook county boys. It might be well to mention in addition that yesterday's game was the fourth won by Knutson in eight days.

The game was featured by hard hitting on the part of the mill team. 14 safe hits being garnered from Tetherow's offerings. Center Fielder Lind poled out the first four-base hit of the game in the first inning, driving Shoots in ahead of him as he trotted around the bases. Clifford is credited with a three-bagger.

With the withdrawal of Bend and the Jefferson county team, the mill men and Prineville will probably continue to play match games for several weeks in answer to a general demand on the part of the fans. Arrangements have been virtually made for a game to be played on the local diamond next Sunday.

USE OF QUARTERS IS GIVEN TO RED CROSS

(By United Press to the Bend Bulletin) (From Friday's Daily.)

The room in the building at the corner of Greenwood avenue and Wall street which has been used as Red Cross headquarters for the past few days, has been donated to the Bend chapter by Phillip R. Brooks, of the Pilot Butte Inn, for the duration of the war. The thanks of the chapter have been extended to Mr. Brooks for his kindness.

BEND LOSES IN CLOSE CONTEST

SHEVLIN-HIXON MEN WIN 6-5 SCORE.

Town Team Makes Strong Effort to Tie Game in Eighth Inning, but Falls by One Tally to Sew Up the Score.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Playing a pickup team, strengthened by the temporary drafting of two of Prineville's star infielders, Fox and Maison, the Bend team playing against Shevlin-Hixon yesterday afternoon, took second place in a 6-5 game on the local grounds. Although 14 of the mill men fanned, they found Clow for 12 hits, and aided by timely errors from the opposition, maintained at least a part of the lead which they gained in the first frame.

Lind won first honors for Shevlin-Hixon, singling, and scoring on Houston's three-bagger. Houston scored on Boland's hit.

Lynch came up for Bend in the third, singled, went to second on Boland's faulty throw, took third, and scored on Clow's put, Knutson to Bullock.

In the fifth, Lind again started things. Fox muffed his infield drive, and Houston scored him with a three-bagger. Houston advanced to third when Maison juggled Boland's grounder and went home when Johnson attempted to cut off Boland at second.

Bend tallied again in the sixth, Fox hitting, annexing second when Shoots sent a wild throw to first in a belated attempt to put out the runner, and crossing the plate when Houston booted Springer's rather difficult grounder.

Lind scored his third run in the seventh. On a long fly which Hollinshead dropped, he rounded first, hesitated at second, took the third lap when Lynch fooled Boland's bouncer, and came in on Houston's hit. In the next frame, Byberg doubled, and was scored by Shoots' hit.

Bend's final rally was in the eighth. Maison walked and Springer sacrificed him to second. Johnson flied out to Boland and O'Donnell's single scored Maison. Slate hit, and a two-bagger by Lynch brought in O'Donnell and Slate. The score:

REDMOND MAN IS HELD AS SUSPECT

Conrad Kattelman Brought to Bend Under Implied Charge of Being German Sympathizer.

(From Monday's Daily.)
On suspicion of being a German sympathizer, Conrad Kattelman, of Redmond, was brought to Bend Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff C. A. Adams, and is now in the Bend city jail in custody of the county authorities. Action is being delayed pending the filing of a complaint, as the Redmond deputy left Bend without preferring a formal charge.

Kattelman is said to have been rather free in expressing his opinion on international matters in which the United States is involved.

FIRE DEPARTMENT GETS TWO CALLS

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Two small fires in Bend late Saturday afternoon, called out the fire department, one being a brush fire in the northwestern section of the city, while the other was an unattended shack in Boulevard addition, outside of the fire protection area. Although the house itself could not be saved, no damage was done to surrounding buildings.

PRISONERS GET BITTERS THROUGH BARS; VENDOR INTERNED IN TURN

(From Friday's Daily Bulletin)

Moved by compassion for prisoners in the city jail, who were experiencing a severe drought after their alcoholic paradise of the preceding night, Frank Sheffield, jitney driver, purchased a bottle of Hostetter's bitters yesterday, visited the jail, poked the neck of the bottle through the bars, and regaled the thirsty, each in his turn. Arrested, he entered a plea of guilty to the charge of administering intoxicants. Sentence has not been passed, as Sheffield, who was convicted recently of bootlegging, was out on bail pending an appealed hearing when he played the part of good Samaritan.

Six who were arrested on the night of the Fourth charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, were fined $10 each by Police Judge Ellis last night. D. P. Rood and Jim Griffith entered unavailing pleas of not guilty, while J. D. Redding, Milt Rogers, L. B. Fullerton, of Bend, and Jess Watkins, of Prineville, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. With the exception of Redding, who had accumulated a jag on cider and near beer, all admitted that they had been drinking Hostetter's bitters. Another arrest was made by the officers Tuesday night, but the prisoner forfeited bail.

District Attorney H. H. De Armond assisted City Attorney C. S. Benson in the prosecution of the cases, in an endeavor to ascertain if whiskey had been brought into the city for the celebration. Nothing to indicate such a violation of the law, however, was brought out in the testimony.

RAW DEAL CLAIMED BY BEND FIGHT FAN

Deplores Spoiling of Bout by Referee and Demands Return Go to Restore Boxing Game Here.

(From Thursday's Daily.)
The following letter discussing the boxing go held this week in Bend, has been received by The Bulletin from a well known local fight fan:

Bend, Ore., July 3.—To the Editor: Probably it is not up to The Bulletin to discuss in its news section the merits of last night's fiasco at the Hipp. But someone surely ought to air the ring-siders' view of the performance, lest the management be left to gaze in innocent wonderment at the empty benches at its next bill, while it whistles mournfully, "Oh, Dear! What Can the Matter Be." So it is Vox Populi to the bat.

Undoubtedly a good deal of the crowd's demonstration was due to mere disappointment at the untimely end of a promising bout. But a far larger part was caused by a strong flavor of ivory in the final decision, more aggravating because it came as the finale of a session opened by a wild skirmish featuring a feather duster and a jumping-jack, and fur of the spectators, in imagining it was only too plainly a "fixed" go.

To discuss the card in the order of its infliction: Probably a boxer has to learn on somebody, and learns faster if a crowd watches his antics in the process; but it certainly is hard on the crowd, and if such bouts are staged for the fans' benefit we are willing to forego the pleasure. Enough for the first spasm. The second was fair enough as an appetizer, if it had not been left to furnish almost the whole card, as far as anything worth watching was concerned. But the third was one of the sort which periodically kill the boxing game wherever it gets a start. Nobody wants to see a man hammered up when he isn't in condition to defend himself; but the way to prevent it is for the management to refuse to allow him to go on in such shape—not to leave it to a gentleman's. (Save the mark!)—agreement between the two burglars involved. And last night's semi-final was "fixed" so brazenly and clumsily as to be an insult to the intelligence ther scrambled by a semi-final which could be put across. Whether the management was a party to the fix or not, in allowing an injured man to go on it invited either a fixed match or the butchering of a cripple, neither of which the fans will stand for, long. The management was, there, responsible; and the manager, stands a first rate chance of footing the bill.

As to the last bout, it was too good to spoil, and the referee spoiled it. My understanding of the rules of the game, confirmed by a well known authority who occupied two or three seats at the ringside, is to the effect that there is no clinch until the referee has ordered a break. It surely seems reasonable. If the men are not allowed to hit after they get close enough to reach each other without stretching their imaginations, why not give the words wars, which are the biggest part of present day boxing, a clear field?

No one liked the loser's tactics. But the referee, having warned him, was watching too anxiously for a violation of the rules by the particular man he had had to warn. He had not ordered a break when he stopped the bout; therefore there had been no clinch, could have been no hitting in a clinch, which didn't exist, and the decision was "plain foolish." Whoever was to blame, the fans were bilked. I still hold my seat check; and the only way the management can square accounts with me, and with more others than it can afford to lose as supporters, is to come forward with an announcement that we can see those two boys finish, and see them soon, without paying twice for the privilege.
