

News of the World in Brief

Marking the end of the third year of the world war, and the beginning of the fourth year of hostilities, the allied troops on the western front began an offensive campaign Tuesday which easily dominated the world's news of the week. At the same time, under the guiding hand of Premier Kerensky, now accorded dictatorial powers, the morale of the Russian army is improving, and the German drive in Galicia, which already has wiped out all the Russian gains on the eastern front, is being gradually checked. In the United States, the announcement of America's budget for the first year of the war, $15,000,000,000, the statement by the Senate finance committee of increases in surtaxes for corporations, personal incomes over $15,000, and liquor, to make up a deficit of $273,000,000 for the carrying on of the war, together with the announcement that the second draft call will be made some time this month, are of prime importance.

In the Senate yesterday afternoon, the prohibition amendment to the food control bill came to a vote, passing by an easy majority. As the bill now stands President Wilson has won a victory in virtually compelling the retention of the one man food dictator plan, while the prohibition amendment makes ratification by the states imperative within six years.

In Europe, the coast sector on the western front is rapidly becoming the chief seat of conflict, the French and British executing the most gigantic flank movement in history with the intention of forcing the abandonment of German submarine bases on the Belgian coast. It is estimated by war experts that Germany has used her entire army on the two western battle lines since April 16, and is now entirely without reserves excepting for youths 18 and 19 years of age. Within a territory of only 30 square miles, recently wrested from the Germans, the Allies are concentrating men and munitions in preparation for a titanic advance. Rumors of an epidemic of cholera raging in cities of the empire are persistent.

In reply to Chancellor Georg Michaelis recent defiance of America, came the announcement from Washington yesterday that the United States will make public no peace terms until Germany is thoroughly beaten. It is believed that America will favor the restoration to the French of Alsace-Lorraine.

Standing out as almost the only redeeming light in the darkness of cowardice displayed by the Russian troops in their flight from the attacking Germans, is the heroism displayed by the female soldiers, "The Legion of Death." Pledged never to be taken captive by the Germans, the new Russian unit fought with the utmost bravery, and to guard against emergencies, each of the Slavic Amazons carries a ration of poison to be used rather than to be forced to submit to imprisonment and attendant evils.

Quiet prevails on the Austro-Italian front, but it became known this week that Italy is waiting only for the United States to furnish more men and munitions. An army of 2,000,000 men is waiting to attack the weakening Austrian forces. Immediately afterward came the news of a new $10,000,000 loan made to Italy, so that a fresh offensive may be expected at an early date.

Another country, this time in the Orient, has come out against the Teutonic powers, Siam taking the first step by seizing all German ships in Siamese harbors, interned all found damaged, and closing the offices of all Teutonic business houses.

Submarine activities continued apparently unhampered, the loss of the American ships Augustus Welt and Motano being reported. The U. S. transport Saratoga was rammed by the steamer Panama, but returned safely to port without the loss of a single one of the 1400 soldiers who had taken passage.

Of general interest throughout the United States is the termination of the switchmen's strike in Chicago, which for a time threatened to cripple the freight departments of 19 of the largest railroads in the country. Another walkout, that of the street car men in Seattle and Tacoma, less far-reaching, but none the less earnest, was also settled by compromise and arbitration.

Threats of vengeance against Butte, Montana, were circulated yesterday by the I. W. W., as the result of the death of Frank Little, notorious agitator, who was hanged in the mining city as punishment for his anti-American activities.

Through the east and middle west one of the most severe heat waves in years is being felt, 300 deaths being reported, with 800 prostrations, in three days' time. In a number of cities, factories are closed out of humanity to the employees.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM GIVEN BY PYTHIANS

(From Thursday's Daily.) With a crowd of approximately 100 in attendance, the Bend Knights of Pythias were hosts last night at Sather's hall, giving a patriotic program featuring the observance of Patriotic Week, which Pythians all over the United States are keeping.

A solo by Mrs. Maxine Fish, a recitation by Mrs. Louis Bennett, a song by Louis Bennett, and addresses by J. B. Anderson, Vernon A. Forbes, H. H. De Armond, and M. S. Barnes, of Portland, were the chief numbers. A new idea in patriotism was brought to the audience, when Mr. Barnes told how Pythians in the larger cities are organizing home defense companies for the service of the community.

A social hour, with refreshments, was the closing feature of the evening.

ARTILLERY HORSES SENT FROM REDMOND

BANKS INTERESTED IN OCHOCO BONDS

(From Friday's Daily Bulletin.) That bond buyers are keenly interested in the sale of the Ochoco irrigation project bonds, is indicated in the visit of H. Fleischacker, S. O. Johnson and E. A. Pearson, of the Anglo-London-Paris Bank, of San Francisco, who arrived in Bend last night. They are among the bidders for the bond issue which is scheduled to be awarded August 6.

DEER HUNTERS MUST WAIT FOR A MONTH

Season Closed This Year Until September 1—Sage Hens Legal Game on Wednesday.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Warning to hunters was issued this afternoon by Deputy Game Warden John Cunningham, who has learned that many nimrods believe that the deer season still opens on August 15, and are prepared to bag a few the middle of next month.

"The law is changed this year naming September 1 as the opening of the season," the game warden said, "and any sportsmen who start earlier will be taking a grave chance. There is plenty of sport at hand, however, in the opening of the sage hen season Wednesday of this week."

As another step in the policy of increasing water pressure in the business section of town, the Bend Water, Light & Power Company is pushing excavation work on Franklin street to connect the mains on Wall and Bond streets. The present connection of four inch pipe is to be replaced by an eight inch tube, increasing the pressure to four times the present amount.

Replacing of the Wall and Bond street pipes with larger mains will probably not be accomplished this year, General Manager Foley states.

CROOK COMMISSIONER PAYS TRAFFIC FINE

Ernest T. Luthy First Defendant in Bend Police Court for Leaving Auto Lamps Unlit.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

To Ernest T. Luthy, commissioner of Crook county, belongs the distinction of being the first auto owner to pay a fine for violation of the traffic ordinance since the announcement was made yesterday by Judge H. C. Ellis that leniency in enforcing the law had ceased. Mr. Luthy, on leaving a local movie show last night, found his car tagged with a request to appear in police court. He reported to the judge at 10:30 o'clock, entered a plea of guilty and paid his $1 fine for failure to show tail lights.

Two other cases in which the same charge was involved, were disposed of this morning. R. J. Todd and M. Kroeger each paid a fine of $1.

LOOKOUT STATIONS ARE TO BE TESTED

Efficiency of Observation Will Be Examined by Aid of Fires Set by Forest Service Men.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

To ascertain the efficiency of fire lookout points on the Deschutes National Forest, J. A. Brinkley, of the local forestry office, will in the near future begin setting a series of test fires so that the facilities for observation from the different lookout stations may be tested. Stations showing a low degree of efficiency will be abandoned, and new points sought out.

Mr. Brinkley has just returned from a trip to the Crescent station where he has been doing preliminary work in preparation for the tests.

BEND BOYS IN NAVY SHOWN IN PICTURES

"Before and after taking" might be the title of a series of photographs just received here by City Councilman John Steidl, from his son, John, Jr., at the United States naval training camp at San Francisco. The photos, nearly 20 in number, show young Steidl, his chum, Howard Young, and other members of the Bend squad before entering the camp and afterwards in various stages of their development in the navy life.

One picture shows them just after they have been given a close-cropped navy haircut, in another they are shown cleaning their tent, while still others depict them in skirmish, drilling as a landing party, and being given a workout in calisthenics. The last picture in the series is that of the receiving ship, Rainbow, and with it is the note that it is the present home of Lloyd Kelley and Bob Innes, who shipped as yeomen.
