

GEORGE WINNER BY A KNOCKOUT

PASSES OUT SLEEP POTION TO PERCY BROOKS IN THE THIRD ROUND, AND ACCEPTS TWO MORE CHALLENGES.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Billy George made quick work of Percy Brooks, of Walla Walla, in the Labor Day smoker yesterday afternoon, in the Hippodrome, for in the middle of the third round he scored a clean knockout with a right hook to the neck, followed up by a lightning left uppercut to the heart.

George paved the way for his victory in the second round, when he landed a right on Brooks' neck with sufficient force to leave him half groggy for the remainder of the fight.

"Lucky Strike" Davis handled the job of referee satisfactorily in the main bout, Bill Hensley occupying the third man position in the preliminaries.

Immediately after the decision, George accepted a challenge from Farmer Burns for a 15-round contest in Echo, and another from Sallor Evans, of Burns. The Farmer's challenge was delivered in a wire sent to The Bulletin, and offered $100 if his opponent should last the entire length of the bout.

In the afternoon's preliminaries, Kid Bosco won in three rounds when Happy Sidel threw up the sponge. Ben Garsky, of Bend, and Vernon McNew, of Nebraska, went three rounds to a draw, and Dutch Lang of Sisters, and Ray Golden, of Bend, fought a four-round draw.

E. W. Carlton was announcer of events.

RANCHER ACQUITTED OF STEER STEALING

(From Friday's Daily)

Charged with stealing a steer belonging to Ernest Frank, Jens Scott, a rancher of Deschutes, appeared in Justice court yesterday before Judge J. A. Ejastes for preliminary hearing. The case was dismissed, the court holding that there was no evidence on which to hold the defendant. Scott testified that the steer had come onto his place, and that he had penned up the animal until the owner could claim it.

District Attorney H. H. De Armond represented the state, while A. J. Wilcox, of Redmond, appeared for the defendant.

TIMBER MEN VISIT

(From Friday's Daily Bulletin)

F. W. Mueller, of Davenport, Iowa, and D. L. McKay, of Portland, celebrated the anniversary of their sale of 26,000 acres of timber to The Shevlin Hixon Company, by visiting Bend last night. It was Mr. Mueller's first trip to this city. The big timber sale was made last summer.

Fire Limits Sought

A bill for an ordinance creating a fire limit for part of Deschutes addition near the Brooks-Scanlon mill, and specifying more strict building regulations than those now in use, was read for the first time and continued until the next meeting.

Chief of Police L. A. W. Nixon's report for the month was accepted, and his statement that $92 in licenses had been taken during the month gave rise to criticism by Councilman Bennett, who declared that the dog pound was becoming a nuisance to the residents in the immediate neighborhood. No action was taken in the matter, however.

The council issued an order asking for a complete report on the city's financial condition, to be submitted as quickly as possible.

Nixon Made Timekeeper

Making for economy in city work, it was voted that Chief of Police Nixon should act as timekeeper for all day labor.

City officials who were present at last night's session were Mayor S. C. Caldwell, Recorder H. C. Ellis, Chief of Police Nixon, City Engineer Robert B. Gould, City Attorney C. S. Benson, and Councilmen E. P. Brosterhouse, A. Edwards, Clyde M. McKay, John Steidl, Louis Bennett and C. V. Silvis.

The following bills were approved:

of your company in the past?" McCulloch asked Stearns.

Petitions Nearly Ready

McCulloch stated that petitions for an irrigation district would be filed the latter part of this week or early next week, and intimated that the district plan was good enough for re-organization.

"What objection to the irrigation district plan have you?" State Engineer Lewis asked Stearns.

"I have objection to the district on the grounds that it can come in as a nuisance and put us out of business," responded Stearns. "Besides, I assume that the settlers want to deal unjustly with us."

The plan of Stearns was put up Attorney General Brown, State Engineer Lewis and Assistant Secretary Copper, of the board, to examine and report on later to the fall board.

Bond Retained

The company also lost a point today when it attempted to have its $25,000 bond returned, which was given in 1912 for the enlargement of the Central Oregon canal and the repair or reconstruction of the Pilot Butte dam.

Attorney McCulloch registered a protest for the settlers against the board surrendering the bond. It expired in June this year, but the attorney general ruled for the board that the state could recover at any time for any failure to live up to the contract under the bond during the life of the bond.

Forbes Asks Change

The Irrigation Securities commission today also heard Vernon A. Forbes, of Bend, and representative of the Suttle Lake project ask for a new ruling on the valuation of districts in issuing bonds.

H. H. De Armond, local attorney, who with Mr. McCulloch, represents the settlers on the C. O. I. segregation, characterized the plan for a water users' corporation as "an attempt to thwart the will of the land holders."

"It is a scheme to retain control by the company after the land has been turned back to the government," he said. "The irrigation district is being organized in lieu of just such a thing. The settlers will pay no attention to the proposed corporation plan, but will go right ahead with their organization."
