"This is not a war loan, but a peace loan."

Such was the characterization of America's second Liberty bond loan, made last night by President L. C. Gilman of the Oregon Trunk railway, at a mass meeting of citizens of Bend held at the Hippodrome. And that Bend is no laggard in answering the country's call was clearly shown when in 10 minutes after the last speaker had concluded, pledges for $23,000 worth of bonds had been given. Twenty thousand of the amount was made up of three large sums. The Shevlin-Hixon Company giving $5000 through its local plant, the First National Bank pledging a like amount, and the Central Oregon Bank and officials asking for $10,000 worth of bonds. The total was $10,000 in excess of the amount raised in Prineville, where a meeting was held at noon on the same day.

The Liberty bond campaign has only started, according to Mr. Gilman, who believes that a total of $100,000 should be reached. Soliciting for subscriptions will be pushed during the remainder of the week by the local committee, aided by Rev. J. E. Snyder, of Pendleton.

America Must Sacrifice.

Introduced by C. S. Hudson, chairman of the local committee, Rev. Snyder appeared last night as the first speaker of the evening, declaring that America must, if necessary, carry the cross of sacrifice to insure world freedom. Rev. Snyder is himself the father of a boy now fighting in the trenches in France.

"The issue of the war is the fate of civilization," he declared. "We own one-third of the gold of the United States, and our other resources are tremendous. We are called to give the best that we have and give it cheerfully."

John H. Stevenson, former municipal judge of Portland, outlined the outrages perpetrated by the Germans during the war, declared that a history of Prussian diplomacy plainly reveals the trail of the serpent, urged the purchase of bonds as the safest investment in the world, and as a result getting method of backing up the boys who have gone to the front. Money wins wars, and this war is one of Democracy vs. Autocracy, which we must win.

Kaiser's Grammar Scored.

He was followed by Reverend Hartman, who claims that the chief objection he had against the Kaiser is that "he doesn't know enough German or English grammar to put God before his name." The speaker also urged the saving of two cents daily on food and putting it into Liberty loans. "The nation would have $2,000,000,000 worth at the end of the year if they followed this bit of advice," he said.

President Gilman, of the Oregon Trunk, urged that the only method by which peace can be accomplished is by whipping Germany and whipping her in the "good old-fashioned American way, doing it thoroughly." "Don't neglect the small man," he said. "Give him a chance with his $50 or $100. The government wants it for the good will it expresses. Three billion means only $30 apiece from each person in the nation. This is only a small tax which the people of this country shouldn't buck at."

Bonds Explained.

Mr. Etheridge was the last speaker. He explained the bonds, showing how near they are to cash. "People ask what they can do with the bonds," he said. "You can buy a home, a suit of clothes, or loan money on them. Liberty bonds are a mortgage on the whole United States."

In order to reach a majority of the people in Bend, speakers appeared at both of the moving picture theatres for brief addresses. A dinner was given at the Pilot Butte Inn earlier in the evening in honor of the Liberty bond boosters. Members of the delegation who are touring Central Oregon in the car furnished by Eric V. Hauser, of Portland, left this morning for Klamath Falls. Follow up meetings in Bend were scheduled to be held today at both of the local mills.

Practical Experience in Dentistry is Absolutely Necessary

We have always contended that a diploma merely certified that the recipient had "absorbed" such principles of dentistry as could be "taken up" by his "mental system"—and his REAL EDUCATION WAS YET TO COME.

The recent graduate, just out of college, is not fitted for oral surgery except UNDER SUPERVISION.

In my 15 years of practice I have had this truth forcibly illustrated over and over again.

I have employed a score or more dentists and have been "patronized" by some, "tolerated" by others, and "pitied" by still others—but I NEVER HAD A MAN IN MY EMPLOY TWO MONTHS BUT WHAT HE ACTUALLY KNEW MORE—AND TALKED LESS—THAN WHEN I EMPLOYED HIM.

That does not mean that I am a smarter man or a better dentist than my fellows—it does not mean I am egotistical—it simply means that I, TOO, HAD THE CONCEIT THAT I ACQUIRED IN DENTAL COLLEGE KNOCKED OUT OF ME IN THE SCHOOL OF EXPERIENCE, and was therefore better able to judge the REAL ABILITY of other dentists—and steer them around the pitfalls that beset my path. That dearly-bought experience was worth all it cost me. It has enabled me to build up a practice of Dental Specialists—

It has enabled me to systematize this practice that I can save the public half their dental bills without sacrifice of quality—of material or skill.

It taught me to experiment until I perfected the local anesthetic which enables me to eliminate unnecessary pain.

I most earnestly advise people to seek efficiency in Experience—BUT, first make sure it is the right kind of experience. Doing a thing wrong—or in the same way twenty years—is not experience—but rather the lack of it.
