

UNION MEN RETURN TO BEND MILLS

AGREEMENT RATIFIED
WITHOUT QUESTION.

MANAGERS SATISFIED

All Squabbles to Be Forgotten. That War May Be Won, Declares T. A. McCann—J. P. Keyes Commends Conduct of Men.

(From Friday's Daily.)

After formally organizing into a local under the International Timber Workers Union, in turn affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, employees of the Bend mills last night formally ratified the tentative agreement entered into in the afternoon between their committee and the mill managers. This morning, as if there had never been a strike, in the neighborhood of 300 men went back to work, resuming their places quietly and without demonstration. The agreement was so satisfactory to the men that not even a motion to amend was made.

Union officers elected were: Ray Canterbury, president; W. T. Shoults, vice-president; E. Johnson, recording secretary, and G. Paddock, secretary-treasurer.

Little else of importance transpired at the meeting, organization of the union following routine procedure. The charter for the organization has been granted, but has not yet arrived, it was announced. The membership list for the local already contains approximately 700 names.

In commenting on the new understanding between employers and employees, T. A. McCann, general manager of the Shovel-Hixon Company, declared last night that he has entered into the transaction to carry it out both as to the letter and the spirit.

Agreement Pleases.

"As far as the eight hour question goes," he said, "the American Federation of Labor has been working with the enlightened lumbermen of the country to get a national eight hour day, but because of abnormal conditions, brought about by the war, and including the heavy demand for boats and railroad transportation, a change at this time is not deemed to be the best interest of the government, which should be our paramount consideration in any change of schedules.

"All we have got to do now, is dig in and win the war, to forget our squabbles and to make it mighty uncomfortable for the man who is trying to get something for nothing, whether he be employer or laborer. Of course the agreement with the men is satisfactory. It would not have been made otherwise."

J. P. Keyes, general manager of the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Co., stated this morning that he considered the agreement a very fair and equitable one. "It has cleared up a number of misunderstandings and suspicions, and gives us a better basis to work on than before," he said.

"On the whole, we think that our employees have acted with greater moderation, and shown better feeling toward the company than is usual in such cases."

FINAL AGREEMENT REACHED AT MILL

Union Leader and Lumber Company Come to Understanding— Union Holds Meeting.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Any lingering difficulties which may have been still unsettled between employees and employers at the Brooks-Scanlon mill were brought to a close Saturday evening, the essence of the arrangement arrived at being given in a statement signed by J. P. Keyes, general manager of the company, and Ray Canterbury, whose discharge was partly responsible for the strike of last week. The statement is dated October 27, and is as follows:

"The final step in closing up the differences of the past week between the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Co. and its employees was taken today after a conference between Mr. Keyes and Mr. Canterbury.

"It was decided that it would be for the best interests of both, for Mr. Canterbury to withdraw from the services of the company, and for Mr. Keyes to withdraw the charges of incompetency which had been made.

"J. P. KEYES,
"RAY CANTERBURY."

A special meeting of the newly organized local of the International Timber Workers' Union was held last night for the purpose of completing organization details.
