RED CROSS CHRISTMAS CHEER.

The people of the United States are approaching the Christmas holidays under conditions this country never has seen before; and, moreover, it is probable that this year we shall not experience our most sorrowful Christmas while this world war rages.

With the thought of the nation dwelling largely on the infinite suffering abroad, on the certainty that our own flesh and blood will soon be enduring its full share of that suffering, and on the absence from home of hundreds of thousands of dear ones, Christmas, 1917, will be a war Christmas.

Into this somber outlook the Red Cross is seeking to bring something of cheer. In a campaign lasting from December 16 till Christmas eve it will ask for 10,000,000 new members. It will urge these 10,000,000 to become Red Cross Christmas recruits, that they may enable the Red Cross to lighten the burden our army and navy and those of our allies are called upon to bear.

This cooperation with the Red Cross is real service of which we may all be proud. And that this service, when rendered by one, may be known to his neighbor, the Red Cross will urge each old and each new member to display at his home a Red Cross service flag on which each Red Cross stands for a member.

The hundreds of thousands of these flags already shown by old members will swell into millions before Christmas, each flag and each little cross bearing testimony that some one's Christmas has been made happier for himself or herself, happier for our own boys and happier for the soldiers of our allies.

Let us all help to make this a Red Cross Christmas—which is another way of saying: Let us make it the happiest Christmas possible with the war clouds hanging low.
