

E. M. THOMPSON BUYS PROPERTY

PURCHASES REAL ESTATE AND APARTMENT HOUSE IN HASTINGS ADDITION FROM S. MURASAKI FOR $15,000.

(From Friday's Daily.)

What represents one of the largest realty deals of the winter was made public today when E. M. Thompson announced the purchase of all of the holdings of S. Murasaki in Hastings and Larch additions for a consideration of $15,000. The sale was completed on January 1, but information concerning it was withheld until both men could adjust their business to the change.

The largest single piece of property concerned in the transfer is a building containing six four-room apartments. With it also goes a modern five-room cottage, in which Mr. Murasaki has made his home, a small store building adjoining it and 23 unsold lots in the two additions. Thirteen lots being purchased under contracts are also included in the exchange.

In the spring, Mr. Thompson is contemplating the erection of several small cottages on the vacant lots and will probably dispose of the remaining ones. For the present, however, he will continue in the music business.

Mr. Murasaki will leave shortly for Portland, where he will remain a week before taking his family to Seattle for a visit. In April he expects to return and enter the live stock business as a broker, with headquarters in Bend. He will also continue to have an interest in local real estate.

In September W. P. Downing contemplated purchasing the property but later changed his plans.

BEND BANKER IS MADE CHAIRMAN

C. S. HUDSON, OF FIRST NATIONAL, APPOINTED AS HEAD OF ASSOCIATION AGRICULTURAL COMMITTEE.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Notice that he has been appointed chairman of the agricultural committee of the Oregon State Bankers' Association has just been received by C. S. Hudson, president of the First National Bank of Bend. The appointment has been made by J. W. Cusick, president of the association, and the other members of the committee are Emery Olmstead, vice-president of the Northwestern National Bank, of Portland; R. A. Blanchard, of the Livestock State Bank, of North Portland, and C. D. Roher, of the Bank of Commerce, Eugene.

In view of the unusual effort being made at the present time by governmental and other agencies to increase livestock production and to add to the food supplies of the country through the farms the agricultural committee is one of the most important of those acting for the association.

Mr. Hudson's appointment as chairman of the committee is looked upon as a recognition of the efforts he has made during the past nine years along agricultural and livestock lines. He was the first banker in Oregon to place hogs and cattle on farms on easy terms and has been of material assistance in the agricultural development of this section.

Mr. Hudson expects to call a meeting of the committee in Portland at an early date to decide on a definite program for the committee.

NOVEL PENALTY IS INTRODUCED

BOY WHO PLEADS GUILTY TO DESECRATING THE FLAG, REQUIRED TO PURCHASE THRIFT STAMPS EACH WEEK.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

So long as he buys a dollar's worth of thrift stamps weekly, Clarence Steinkopf, of Redmond, who pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon to a charge of desecrating the United States flag, will have his sentence suspended. He has promised to buy four stamps a week for the duration of the war.

Steinkopf, a 19-year-old boy, drew a German helmet with the word "Deutschland" written across, on a small American flag which hung near where he worked in the Redmond warehouse. When brought before Judge J. A. Eastes in the local court yesterday afternoon, he admitted the offense, but insisted that he did not realize its gravity, saying that he had done the thing to anger one of the men with whom he worked. After a thorough examination he satisfied the court that he was not a German sympathizer and his fine of $100 was suspended on condition that he purchase the war stamps weekly. He is also to buy a new flag for the warehouse.

The lad made his first stamp purchase before returning to Redmond last evening and will report to the court through Guy Dobson, of the Redmond Band of Commerce, weekly.

JUNIOR RED CROSS WORK IS OUTLINED

Manual of War Relief Activities For Schools Is Received Here This Morning.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

A manual of war relief activities for schools has been received by County School Superintendent J. Alton Thompson, who is chairman of the Junior Red Cross in Deschutes county. Many of the suggestions contained in the book are to be carried out here as soon as branches can be organized in each district. Some have already begun work, but never have had any assistance from an outline of a systematized plan, such as is now on hand.

In the book full directions are given for making hospital supplies, convalescent garments, pleasure devices for soldiers and garments for refugees. The children's organizations will not take up the work of manufacturing articles for wear in the trenches.

Each grade will do the kind of sewing suitable to it. The tiny tots, for instance, will wind yarn, sew buttons and help prepare trench kits while the older ones do more difficult handiwork.

You Like Tobacco; So Do The Sammies Over In France

Perhaps the appreciation of soldiers for smokes sent them from this country could be no better expressed than in the poem printed below. Have you sent in your quarter yet to purchase a tobacco kit for some Sammy somewhere in France? You send the money and The Bulletin does the rest.

The poem referred to reads as follows:
When the cold is making ice cream of the marrow of your bones,
When you're shaking like a jelly and your feet are dead as stones,
When your clothes and boots are blankets, and your rifle and your kit,
Are soaked from Hell to Breakfast, and the dugout where you sit
Is leaking like a basket, and upon the muddy floor
The water lies in filthy pools, six inches deep or more;
Tho' life seems cold and miserable and all the world is wet,
You'll always get thro' somehow if you've got a cigarette.

When you're lying in a listening post 'way out beyond the wire,
While a blasted Hun, behind a gun, is doing rapid fire;
When the bullets whine about your head, and sputter on the ground,
When your eyes are strained for every move, your ears on every sound;
You'd bet your life a Hun patrol is prowling somewhere near—
A shiver runs along your spine that's very much like fear;
You'll stick it to the finish—but, I'll make a little bet,
You'll feel a whole lot better if you have a cigarette.

When Fritz is starting something and his guns are on the bust,
When the parapet goes up in chunks and settles down in dust,
When the roly-poly "rum-jar" comes a-wobbling thro' the air,
'Til it lands upon a dugout—and the dugout isn't there;
When the air is full of dust and smoke, and scraps of steel and noise,
And you think you're booked for golden crown and other heavenly joys.

When your nerves are all a-tremble, and your brain is all a-fret—
It isn't half so hopeless if you've got a cigarette.

When you're waiting for the whistle and your foot is on the step,
You bluff yourself, it's lots of fun, and all the time you're 'hep'
To the fact that you may stop one 'fore you're gone a dozen feet,
And you wonder what it feels like, and you thoughts are far from sweet;
Then you think about a little grave with R. I. P. on top,
And you know you've got to go across—altho' you'd like to stop;
And your backbone's limp as water, and you're bathed in icy sweat,
Why, you'll feel a lot more cheerful if you puff your cigarette.

Then, when you stop a good one, and the stretcher bearers come
And patch you up with strings and splints, and bandages, and gums;
When you think you've got a million wounds and fifty thousand breaks,
And your body just a blasted sack packed full of pains and aches;
Then you feel you've reached the finish, and you're sure your number's up,
And you feel as weak as Belgian beer, and helpless as a pup—
But you know that you're not down and out, that life's worth living yet,
When some old war-wise Red Cross guy slips you a cigarette.

We can do without MacConachies, and Bully and hard tack,
When Fritz' curtain fire keeps the ration parties back;
We can do without our greatcoats, and our socks, and shirts, and shoes,
We might almost—tho' I doubt it—get along without our booze;
We can do without "K. R. & O." and "Military Law,"
We can beat the ancient Israelites at making bricks, sans straw;
We can do without a lot of thing and still win out, you bet,
But I'd hate to think of soldiering without a cigarette.

(From Friday's Daily.)

That the Red Cross may make a drive to raise one of two hundred million dollars in February, is the statement of C. C. Chapman to H. A. Definite announcement of the drive will be made on the return of Harvey Lindley, northwest division chairman of the Red Cross, from his present trip to Washington.

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRLS LEAVE HOME

Beulah Banister and Gertrude Winters Stopped in Portland By Sheriff.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Two Bend girls, Beulah Banister and Gertrude Winters, ran away from home last night and were stopped this morning in Portland, according to a wire received by Sheriff Roberts from Sheriff Hurlburt, of Multnomah county. The girls are but 15 years of age. No reason is given for their hasty departure.

The matter first came to the attention of the officers last night when A. E. Banister, father of one of the girls, tried to prevent them from purchasing tickets to the city. His daughter got away, however, and he requested the sheriff to take some means of stopping her. Sheriff Hurlburt was unable to get to the train in time to meet them in Portland but he later picked the girls up on the street. Mr. Banister will go down tonight after them. Mr. and Mrs. George Winters are the parents of the other runaway.

MAZOLA

The Food Administration does not ask you to stop frying foods—only to use vegetable oils in the place of butter, lard and suet.

IF the housewife had been asked to reduce the use of these products a few years ago we would have been forced to give up many of the delicious sautéed and fried dishes for which America is famous.

Today high prices of animal fats and the necessity for conservation do not worry the housewife—because she knows that she has Mazola, the pure oil from American corn, to depend on—in deep frying, sautéing and shortening.

In Mazola she has found the ideal cooking medium—it reaches cooking heat long before it smokes.

Mazola can be used over and over again as it does not transmit taste or odor from one food to another, even in the case of fish or onions—a great force for economy.

Also it makes exceptionally delicious salad dressings—there is no need to fear the rising prices or uncertain supply of olive oils.

Mazola is sold in pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon tins (the large sizes are most economical). Get a can from your grocer and ask him for a copy of the free Mazola Book of Recipes—or write us direct.

Your money refunded if Mazola does not give entire satisfaction.
